Editor HERALD.—Reports have been circulated to the detriment of the coal at the Maxwell mine, Isthmus inlet, and evidently with the intention of damaging that industry.

In opening a coal mine, the output near the croppings is invariably soft; but, as the mining proceeds into the interior of the earth, the coal becomes harder and of a better quality.

No attention should be paid to the insane mouthings of those who have axes to grind, and whose insignificant interests always depend upon the depreciation of other people's property.

In conclusion I make the assertion that the best quality of coal in Coos county lies at the head of the Isthmus inlet, and from that on to the summit of the mountain, sixteen miles from Roseburg.

are these lines from J. H. Simons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest."

Alameda Ashore at Fort Point.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—The Oceanic liner Alameda, owned by Claus Spreckels & Sons and commanded by Captain Dodwell, sailing at 11 this morning for Honolulu with 75 cabin passengers and 30 steerage passengers and a valuable cargo, ran fast ashore today on the ragged rocks near Fort Point in a thick fog.

On the decks of the steamer, despite all the attempts of the crew to preserve order, the wildest kind of a panic ensued. The Fort Point life saving crew responded to the Alameda's signals of distress quickly and aided in the work of taking off the passengers.
