Our Salmon Industry.

We hear many ideas expressed by fishermen and others in regard to our new fish laws, some taking a stand against such restrictions, which is certainly against our views. It will be remembered that in pioneer days when salmon by the millions were allowed to go at will up the streams to spawn that all our bays and rivers were a living mass of fish. It will be remembered by a few how Capt. Backus, who was the chief workman on the old Panther mill, got vexed at a hand ax with which he was working one day and threw it from the roof of the building into the river, and so thick were the salmon that three were killed by the single blow. In later years when all fished at will, with all kinds of nets and seines, they were reduced to that extent that they were thought almost destroyed, they being so scarce that it did not justify running the canneries. Since then with certain restrictions as to the size of mesh allowed in seines, giving one day off in each week, etc., there was in due time a remarkable increase in the run each year. And now, since the government has taken the matter in hand and well-regulated hatcheries are being established and maintained, still greater will this increase prove. Deputy Warden Smith who was over from the bay lately informed us that the bay was getting a large run and that the prospects were good for a profitable season for all engaging in the business, the boats at that time were averaging 2000 pounds per night. This, however, has dropped off greatly on account of the rains ceasing. There is no question but if we should get some heavy rains that would swell the streams, the runs in the bay and river both would soon be up to their former notch.

Mr. Smith also informed us that since the hatchery on the bay was established, that but two former seasons would have been effected by the artificially hatched fish, and these two seasons were comparatively experiments, and that but a few thousand young fish were successfully and properly "planted," but that since those seasons the numbers have run into the millions and that in future seasons the increase should be more marked.

Riverton Pick-ups.

Wm. Floyd is putting up a dwelling house on his lots.

Jos. Ferry has given his house a new coat—of lumber. It makes a great improvement in that part of town.

The show came off last Saturday evening with great success, and there was a good audience considering the fact that there was a dance at Prosper. We were surprised at the talent shown by Mrs. Reta Gardner as an actress. The song "Its a Lovely Day For a Walk," as rendered by Mildred and Vernon Valentine, two small children, was a decided hit. The song "Hero" and also the Irish song "The Mick That Threw the Brick" by Reta Gardner were excellent and called for encores. The dancing alone was well worth the admission price, yet the effect would have been far the better had the musicians and actors spent a few hours in rehearsal together, as some of the music was quite difficult. After the show all that wished to, remained and took part in a social dance. Mr. Clyde Gage of Coquille and Mrs. Mamie Peterson of Riverton furnished the music for the show, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gage furnished the music for the dance.

Cures Winter Coughs.

J. E. Grover, 101 N. Main Str. Ottawa, Kans., writes, "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c and 1.00. Sold by R. S. Knowlton.

The Raymond Show.

Coquille theatre goers were treated to a pleasant surprise Wednesday and Thursday nights of last week in the appearance of the Great Raymond Company. Without exception it was the best company that has showed here in years. The performance opened with some of the most mystifying feats in ledger-domin imaginable. Raymond produced all manner of birds and animals apparently from the atmosphere. He lighted a cigar from his wife's red hair, and then blew the smoke through a solid glass vase. He hatched two eggs into doves in sight of the audience, but when he took a pig from a bottle that he used in serving all manner of drinks to the audience, the crowd screamed with delight, much to the discomfort of those who had partaken of the beverages. Raymond is a great magician.

A beautifully gowned woman with a rich baritone voice followed Mr. Raymond. Miss O'Neal is possessed of a remarkable voice, and her ballads and coon songs were very good. It was next announced that the contortionist, Gonzolas, was injured and would be unable to appear. An old farmer who had been more or less talkative all evening, objected to the excuse for the non-appearance of Gonzolas and got into a heated argument over the matter. He said that he could beat any actor the "Gosh-blamed troupe had. He was told that he could have fifty cents if he would do a trick on the stage. He took the offer and climbed upon the stage. After nearly breaking his neck in a pair of Roman rings he commenced removing his clothing piece by piece. Before the audience realized what he would do next he turned around and he was no longer the farmer but instead was a well built young man clad in a spangled suit of tights. It was Gonzolas the contortionist and he certainly was a marvel. He tied himself into all kinds of knots. Gonzolas is credited with being the closest back bender in the world. To say the least Gonzolas has an exceedingly novel turn.

Next came Van the left-handed cartoonist. He drew a picture of Happy Hooligan in record time, making it from the letters H-O-O-L-I-G-A-N. His other cartoons were excellent and his gags kept the audience in an uproar. Luella Cross, the clever mimic, is one of the best members of the company. She has a sweet voice and is a remarkable impersonator. Her gowns were beautiful. Al Martella, the tramp acrobat, is another feature of the Raymond show. He is about the funniest fellow in line ever seen. Then his acrobatic work shows that he is possessed of remarkable physical strength. The illustrated songs were heartily received. The pictures were very pretty. Raymond's cabinet manifestations are so seemingly supernatural that the audience left the house in a state of grave doubt. How he managed to decorate a man with tin cans, sleigh bells and the like with his hands and feet tied is more than mysterious. Mr. Raymond removed all the handcuffs and leg irons that were locked on him. He dumbfounded the local officers by taking off two Oregon boots. He was locked with his hands fastened to his feet but he got all the irons off just the same. Raymond would be a hard man to keep in the calaboose. The trunk trick was also somewhat perplexing. His wife was sealed in a sack, handcuffed, locked in a trunk with the trunk securely roped, and in one second she was out and Raymond was found in the trunk handcuffed, inside the sack with seal unbroken. It was a great trick.

If the Raymond Company return to Coquille again they will certainly have big crowds.
