J. T. Bridges, the new Myrtle Point merchant, who is now proprietor of the 'big Hermann store, was in our city yesterday and looked over places which were the scenes of his childhood, his father having taken up a donation chain within four miles of this city where he resided for some time. He was accompanied by Mr. Fenton, the Myrtle Point-Roseburg stage man, who tells us the roads are beginning to be pretty muddy.

The Margarita Fischer Co.
Our city was given a rare treat on Monday and Tuesday evenings by having the opportunity of attending a performance each evening by the Margarita Fischer Company. This company now possesses the strongest aggregation of actors it has ever enjoyed on former visits to Coos county. "The Great Blue Grass Derby" which was presented the first evening was certainly a hit. It gave each and every player a chance to show his or her ability, and none of them were found wanting. Each member of the cast gave strong portrayals of their respective parts, and the Southern atmosphere was preserved throughout the evening. As Nell, the mountain lass, Miss Fischer gave one of her most delightful performances. In the lighter scenes of the play her work was very pleasing, and in the heavier ones was most effective.
On Tuesday evening "A New M.gadalen," an emotional drama, was presented, and proved to be one of Miss Fischer's strongest roles, and again displaying her great versatility. In this as in the preceding bill the members of the company showed up to special advantage. The house was crowded both nights with a highly delighted audience, whose appreciation was marked by frequent applause. We are pleased to note that the health of Miss Fischer is much improved over what it was on their last trip, and her work is everything that could be desired.
Both plays were handsomely mounted, the stage settings being very pretty in both plays. The pony of our townsman, Claud Fox, the Kentucky thoroughbred, Queen Mab, did her part nicely and provoked the heartiest cheers from the boys.
