A prominent farmer of the lower river, who was in town yesterday, gave us for the benefit of our rancher readers a good plan for destroying gophers. His plan is to go to the mound of fresh dirt thrown up by the animal and clear that away, exposing the run-way, into which pour a quantity of soft pitch, after which place a small board over the hole and cover this up with dirt.

When the gopher comes along and gets into the pitch, he comes to the surface as soon as possible and will not attempt to enter the ground again.

A San Francisco dispatch says: Capt. R. J. Dunham of the steamer Roanoke has been presented by the Marine Underwriters with a gold watch in recognition of his good work in saving the steamer from serious damage during her recent trip from Astoria. It will be remembered that the Roanoke was damaged and lost her rudder in attempting to put into Eureka and later, during a great gale, lay helpless in a heavy sea off the California coast. Capt Dunham allayed the fears of the three score passengers, rigged up a jury rudder and finally succeeded in making port.—Ferndale Enterprise.

Mrs. Perrott has just received a lot of new dress goods.

Harriman's Plans Not all Divulged.

That the Harriman system is seriously considering the construction of more mileage than has been announced, is evident from the tenor of the annual report of the Southern Pacific. Probably no portion of the territory covered by the system has undergone so many changes in the past year, through the projection of lines by outside railroads, as in Oregon, and every outlet is being closely watched to protect it from the interlopers.

With reference to what has been accomplished in the state, the yearly statement contains the following: "In order to develop and protect the territory tributary to its lines, the company, since the close of the fiscal year, has authorized and provided for the construction of a line from a connection with the Oregon & California Railroad at Natron eastwardly into Central Oregon, also several branch lines in the same state and in California and Nevada. The new lines thus authorized, of which a part are now under construction, aggregate about 400 miles, and including equipment, are estimated to cost about $14,000,000. In addition to the lines already authorized further important extensions are under consideration. In view of the large expenditures required for the construction of these new lines, and in order that the work may be carried on advantageously and eventually financed on a favorable basis, as well as to strengthen the company pending the effect of the aggressive building by competing lines which are being projected into the territory served by these lines, it is important to hold in reserve and carefully husband the resources of the company."

With the word outlined in the way of improvements on the main line and its branches, together with the building of the Drain-Coos Bay line, the Natron-Klamath extension, and later the belt line across the state to Natron; the Springfield-Henderson cutoff and the completed St. Joseph-Lafayette cutoff, the company has expended or authorized more funds than ever before in Oregon. In addition to the projects in the Valley, the contemplated connection from the Jefferson street depot to the terminal yards is in prospect. It is stated that if no great obstacle is placed in the way of that work and it is recommended as now contemplated, an enormous expenditure will have been made.

At the same time that the Czar of Russia is granting freedom of the press the President of the United States is putting a gag on his Cabinet, and refusing for the first time to gossip with reporters.

The Socialists of Coos county met in mass convention yesterday at the court house with 125 delegates in attendance. E. J. Coffelt of Coos river, was elected chairman, and D. E. Stitt, of Bandon, was elected secretary. A county central committee was elected and other matters connected with the primary election law were considered. The delegates kept Clerk Watson busy registering them under the new system. The convention concluded its labors yesterday afternoon and in the evening at the Masonic opera house they entertained the visiting delegates by music, recitations and addresses by prominent members and ended with an elaborate banquet.

A Pioneer Passed Off

Benjamin Figg, a well-known pioneer citizen of this city, passed away at his residence on Sunday morning at half past three. He had been in feeble health for some years, but the end came rather unexpectedly to his family and friends, having been confined to his room since Thursday, and not thought to be in immediate danger.

The deceased was born at Cuddington Lough, Buckinghamshire, England, Oct. 10th, 1830. And died at his home in Coquille, Oregon, Dec. 31st, 1905, age 75 years 2 months 21 days; he lived in England 24 years and crossed the Atlantic ocean coming to America in 1854 he resided in Rhode Island and Massachusetts two years, from here he came to Coos Co., Oregon in 1856 and has resided here ever since he was married to Catherine Doyle, Jan. 3, 1869, to this union was born seven children, Mr. and Mrs. Figg was among the first settlers of Coos Co., and were members of the Pioneer association of Oregon. A walk over the old home place which is known as Mr. Figg's farm will give one an idea of the hardships they endured in opening up a farm like this. Mr. Figg was an honest, hard working man, he made on enemies and was a good father and an honorable citizen; he was a member of the Methodist church in England, and during the past 8 years he suffered a great deal, and often expressed a desire to depart this life, and when the end came he was resigned to go and fell asleep. He leaves a companion; one son and two daughters ten grand children and two great grand children to mourn. May God bless the bereaved family and bring them all to praise him in heaven.

The funeral services was held at their residence conducted by Rev. H. M. Branham and the body was laid to rest in the Masonic cemetery to await the final resurrection.

Aaron Wilson, the Bridge creamery man, is in town.

Mrs. G. S. Davis, of Norway, visited her sister, Mrs. W. L. Kistner on New Year's day.
