Output of Coos County Mills.

The following letters are from the January number of the Timberman, and will prove of interest to all.
The article speaks well for all the mills on the river and at the bay side:

Marshfield, Ore., Dec. 31, 1905.
The Timberman: The mills here have been closed for the holidays for the past week, but will start again January 2nd. Orders are plentiful, but the log supply on the Coos Bay side of this district has been short for the past month, owing to the lack of the usual Fall raius. About forty million feet of logs are in the water, above tide, in Coos and Coquille rivers, awaiting a freshet to bring them down to the mills.

The camps of the Cody Lumber Company, Aasen Bros., and Chas.
Bradbury, on the Coquille river, have been in operation during the Winter and have all done good work, and their output has done much to relieve the shortage.

The mills of the Simpson Lumber Company, at North Bend, have been running nearly to their capacity and have made large shipments coastwise.

The Coos Bay Furniture, Veneer & Box Company has sold its plant to Ed Niehaus & Company, of San Francisco, who have made many improvements and all departments are now running. They manufacture their own lumber, with a complete sawmill, as well as veneer of all kinds of foreign and domestic woods.
The whole business is under the management of Peter Loggie, who has a life time of experience in this class of work.

The North Bend Shingle Company is running its mill to full capacity, and they find a ready sale for their shingles in California markets. They make a specialty of clears, and their output has become so well known that orders pour in faster than they can be filled.

The Dean Lumber Company, of Marshfield, has felt the log shortage for the past three weeks, but are improving the time of the shut down by making various improvements to their plant. They will start up about January 10th, and W. S.
Squires, the manager, may well pride himself as having one of the good mills on the Coast.

The Myrtle Point Mill Company, Myrtle Point, is running its mill full blast and ship to San Francisco, via Coos Bay. They have a good, small mill and make good lumber and do it cheaply. They report orders plentiful and the log supply good.

The Johnson Lumber Company, Coquille, has also had a good year's business and enter the new year with even better prospects. They are always ready to furnish fir, spruce and Port Orford cedar in any quantity desired and have a planing mill equipped with up-to-date machinery, ample to handle the output of the sawmill.

The Coquille Mill & Mercantile Company, Coquille, is running steadily and average 40,000 feet p r day. It is said the mill will run on night shift before long, as they have orders on hand far ahead of the present capacity.

The Riverton Lumber Company's mill, Riverton, has been idle for several months, but rumor says it will start again as soon as logs can be procured.

The Cody Lumber Company, Coquille, is having the output of their big camp at Lampa cut by Carmen & Crites, of Prosper, who have a good 50,000 band mill, and are now installing a set of live rolls, with other improvements contemplated.

The Prosper Mill Company, Prosper, has been running its mill to full capacity during the past year, and while they have cut all kinds of lumber, their specialty has been Port Orford cedar. Lately they filled an order for this wood 24 to 36 inches wide, 12 to 24 feet long, all clear, and can at any time fill orders for clear cedar of any size and quantity desired. At the present time they have in the ways building a new steam schooner of light draft and large carrying capacity to be used in connection with their coast lumber trade.

The Coquille Mill & Tug Company has also turned out a large amount of lumber during the past season, and have built a new three-masted schooner, the "Oregon," which carries 400,000 and combines good sailing qualities with light draft.

The Bandon Manufacturing Company has just completed and has in operation one of the best Oregon shingle mills containing two Sumner upright machines, with steam splitter, drag saw and combination, knee bolts and cut-off saws, boilers equipped with Dutch ovens, ample for the economical consumption of water. This firm makes a specialty of Port Orford cedar clears and ends a ready sale for the output in the California markets.

The Osburn & Elliott mill, south of Bandon, has been moved to a location north of the Coquille river, in the cedar belt near Rocky Point.
Mr. Elliott has sold his interest to J. O. Langworth, and the new firm has the plant about ready to operate.

R. N. Rosa, of Bandon, has closed his mill until Spring and will resume operations about April, cutting Port Orford exclusively.

The Bandon Commercial Company is operating its shingle mill south of Bandon, as well as a large broom handle factory at Bandon.

White Cedar Slow Seller

Coquille, Ore., Jan. 3, 1906.

The Timberman: Replying to your favor of the 20th ult. concerning the conditions which prevailed in this section during the past year, will say: White cedar has been off for a considerable time and is still in bad shape, in fact it has not recovered from the over-production of two years ago. There will not be much of this lumber placed on the market this year, and if this plan is adhered to until such time as our present markets shall recover from the glut of two years ago, or until other branches cannot be expected to have the technical knowledge required in the management of the complicated and intricate machinery of a modern ship. Either the engineer corps must be revived or officers of the line must be specially trained and assigned to the engine rooms.

The year 1905 has proved to be one of unexampled abundance.
Never before have the farms yielded such rich harvests and never before have the factories shown such an enormous output. Prosperity is universal. No section is without it.
The cotton and tobacco planters of the south and east and the grain growers of the west are rewarded as they have never been before.
The county banks are heavy with deposits and capital is ready to promote legitimate enterprises. Smiling prosperity is abroad in the land and whether right or not, or logical or not, it will inure in some way to the benefit of the party in power.

Our local trade has been exceptionally good during the past year, in fact, it more than doubled any previous year's business. Prices were also fair. The prospects for this year are excellent. We are booked as much business now as we did in the busy building season.

Summing up the whole situation, we can't find much to kick about, and that of course is saying considerably for we common mortals. I am sincerely,
ALFRED JOHNSON.

By E. E. Johnson.

A Grim Tragedy.

is daily inacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F.
G. Huntly, of Oakland, Ind., writes:
"My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up.
Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds, which cured her, and to-day she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases.
One dose relieves. Guaranteed at

Railroad Lands for Sale

Lands of the Oregon and California Railroad Company, in Oregon, will be leased for the year 1906 subject to cancellation of lease in the event of the sale of the land during the term of the lease.

Owners of farms and ranches adjoining railroad lands should file their applications not later than February 1, 1906, after which date applications from others will also be considered. Address:
CHARLES W. EBERLEIN,
Acting Land Agent,

Note and Comment.

"A Year in Hell" is the title of a book written by a man in St. Louis, but there appears no reason why he should remain in that city unless perhaps he is in jail.

The United States may not know what to do with its ex-presidents but each state has an institution where it believes its life insurance ex-presidents could be fittingly entertained.

It is said that the Maltese goat that Secretary Wilson desires to introduce in this country is not such a butter as the old time variety but that he has an odor that will knock you down.

Baron Rosen, the new ambassador from Russia who succeeded Count Cassini, has declared that he could not remain one day in the house vacated by his predecessor. The condition in which he found the former embassy he describes as one of filth and delapidation, and the room once beautified by the presence of the exquisite Countess, the daughter of the ambassador, are reported to have been used as kennels for her many beloved dogs. All of which sounds just like the things Mrs. Smith says of the flat formerly occupied by the Joneses.

The best definition of friend that has yet been produced is the work of a Missouri school boy: "A friend is a person who knows all about you and likes you just the same." Every body recognizes the truth of the definition and happy is the man who has friends that come up to it.
Lincoln's definition, "A friend is a person who would rather do you good than have you like him" has to take second place in the presence of this school boy's flash of wisdom.

The question of obtaining skilled engineers for the navy is one that is absorbing attention at present.
Officers who keep their place in other branches cannot be expected
ery of a modern ship. Either the
rooms.

Mr. Sato, secretary of the Japanese Peace Commission has published a paper on what he thinks about our journalists, and his thoughts make about as good reading as anything our journalists have said in a long time. He likes the American journalist but one may read between the lines that he could live without him. Speaking of that profession in his own country he says: "Our journalists will never own our country in fee simple. We need it for other purposes" which doesn't need any elucidation to see who he believes owns the United States.
He likes the American journalist's candor though he admits that "courtesy" which he describes as a clog upon the wheels of Japanese journalism is not so marked here as to be in the way. He contracts with no apparent leaning to either side the courtesy and self effacement of the Japanese interviewer with the smiling cigar smoking American newspaper man who invades his bed room and says "Hello, Sato. How's she heading?" When a man is mild mannered and so genuinely friendly attempts to help us see ourselves as others see us, it is a good time for us to sit up and take notice.

Three Lose Lives in the Opp Mine.

Jacksonville, Oregon, Jan. 17.— Three men were blown to pieces by an explosion of giant powder tonight shortly before 6 o'clock in the Opp mine, a mile and a half from this city. The dead are: Bill Broad, Bert Coffman, Fred Johnson.

So far the officials of the mine are unable to determine just what caused the explosion, but it is believed that the men killed had either dropped a box containing 50 pounds of giant powder, or that the explosion followed an attempt by some of the three men who were torn into shreds by the explosion to break open the box containing the explosive.

With all its defects, the direct primary law has its meritorious features. Since candidates must appear directly to the people for votes and in the most effective way, they are making explicit promises in their platforms concerning the policies they will pursue. This is particularly important so far as state and county offices are concerned.
Each aspirant strives to make better pledges than any of his rivals, and by this competition the people may well expect to profit. The man nominated will be on record in no uncertain tones, and the people will have every opportunity to hold him closely to his promises. If the people cannot shut off the grafts of the fee system now, they never can.

Illinois has a larger rural free delivery system than any state in the Union. Any state furnishing a speaker for the House of Representatives might expect that.

Cured Lumbago

A B Canman, Chicago, writes March 4, 1905. "Having been troubled with Lumbago, at different times and tried one physician after another, then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of sufferers."

Rev. Carlisle P. B. Martin L L D

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Hore-it, and the trouble is over. I know pleasant to take. I can most cordially
