Drain Road Not Stopped.

(Drain Nonpariel)
Right of Way Agent J. W. Nier informs us that notwithstanding the fact that the Southern Pacific lost its bank and other valuable property by the earthquake and fire in San Francisco, there will be no delay in the construction of the Drain-Coos Bay road. Work will commence next month and rushed to completion.

Later. After the above was put in type, F. D. Brown and his gang of surveyors came in from Gardiner and reported that orders had been received from Chief Engineer Hood of San Francisco that the great fire had destroyed a portion of the plats and field notes, and that it is necessary to retrace the line for a distance of about 25 miles—from Drain to Paradise creek. This the surveyors have started to do today and it may result in delaying the work of construction a couple of weeks or longer. But it is safe to con-mence here next month.

A party of engineers is en route for the Philippines, where they will build a railroad across the islands of Panny, Negros and Cebu. The road which will be 400 miles in length and cost approximately $12,000,000, financed by the United States Government. It will open up a wonderfully rich country, and bring to the ocean termini a vast tonnage of products for which there is a good market in this country. The road will not be completed for four years. By that time, unless the law is repealed, the American coastwise navigation laws will be extended to the Philippines and we shall witness the unpleasant spectacle of an American railroad acting as a feeder for foreign steamship lines which will take the traffic to Europe instead of America, where they would come, if we do not shut them out with the absurd navigation law.—Oregonian.

A Texas tornado yesterday wiped out one or two small towns and killed several people. In the town of Bellevue thirteen lives were lost and $200,000 worth of property destroyed. This is an insignificant disaster in comparison with the catastrophe which overwhelmed San Francisco, but to the scanty population of Bellevue, it probably means as much as the San Francisco horror meant to the dwellers in the Bay city. The lovelight gleamed just as bright in the homes in the Texas hamlet as in the palaces of Nob Hill, and the sudden severing of ties by death causes just as poignant suffering in one place as in the other. Human nature is the same the world over, and for the persons most directly concerned, the tornado which destroys thirteen lives is fully as great a calamity as the one which kills a thousand.—Oregonian.

The funeral of G. W. Leggett who died at Riverton on the 24th was held at Bandon on the 26th under the auspices of the G. A. R., he being a member of that order. W. H. H. Renfro, of Myrtle Point, took an active part in conducting the last sad rites for their deceased comrade.

The deceased was a member of Co. H, 45th Kentucky Mounted Infantry, and was a brave and loyal soldier.

Letters From Frisco

The following letter was received Monday by our townsland, Mrs. John Kronenberg:

San Francisco, April 26.
DEAR AUNT KATE: Mother, myself and the family are safe, after going through the worst ordeal of our lives. We all lost every thing we possessed in this world, and none of us ever want to experience such a dreadful earthquake and fire which destroyed about three quarters of San Francisco, again. For two long days we were running away from the fire, and not even having a mouthful of food in all that time, until we reached the Government reservation. Here the soldiers came to our assistance with food and shelter in a tent where we stopped until a pouring rain had drenched us. We then had to take shelter in vacant house which is our temporary quarters for the present, 1736 Golden Gate near Broderick st. I would have written to you a long time ago, had I not been sick ever since January with a very severe attack of rheumatism; I could not work, being as helpless as a little child. We received the invitation to the golden wedding the day after it had taken place. Mama had traveled more since the fire than she had in all her life time. I don't see how she ever stood it. We all send our love from the very bottom of our hearts that we were able to express this to you. We were thankful to escape with our lives. Any letter will reach us by addressing the Post Office San Francisco. I am sincerely yours,
Godthard Koehler.

The following is a letter received by Mr. Jacobson, our creameryman, from the firm that has been handling his output of butter in San Francisco:

J. N. JACOBSON, Coquille, Oregon,
DEAR SIR: Just regaining our senses and getting busy to rebuild a greater and finer San Francisco, which will be the finest modern city of the world, with fire and earthquake proof business blocks and a better class of dwellings. The experience of the 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st and 22nd was something terrible. The effects of the earthquake were nothing compared with those of the city which has been destroyed. The store was burned and the residence barely escaped. We have been under absolute control of the military authorities, and all supplies taken from stores and incoming steamers by the government and used for relief purposes. Could not buy anything until today. Had to stand in line, rich and poor alike, and receive bread and canned goods, etc. Had no fresh meat since the 18th until today.

Well, it is all over, and I cannot say I am sorry I went through it, but once is enough in a lifetime. Thousands are still camped out here in tents, etc. We slept two nights in the park opposite our house and two nights on the cement sidewalks in the burnt district away from danger, and slept through exhaustion while the flames kept raging in front and on two sides of us. Burnt up to rear of where I am living, and now have my office at 815 Golden Gate Avenue. It is impossible to get a store anywhere, so will fit up the basement under the house as soon as material are to had, and make that do until I can get a new store.

The butter on the Plant I have been unable to find. Went to the dock and the wharfinger said she went over to Oakland and did not discharge on this side. Cannot find office of Plant so don't know what they did with the twelve cubes. Wherever it was landed the government authorities seized it and of course will pay for it in due time on proper claims. As soon as we can get delivery of butter when steamers land it here I will wire you to resume shipping. At present all the docks are under control of the U. S. army, and I believe they will soon raise the embargo and allow coast vessels to run again, in which event the Plant will no doubt make regular trips. The Breakwater was sent to San Diego for relief supplies. Will not be able to do business through the banks for two or three weeks yet as they have to get temporary clearing houses started besides getting their premises free of debris and vaults cooled off. All the properly constructed buildings, both frame and brick, suffered little or no damage from the quake, but it played havoc with the poor and weak ones. The City Hall and dome on same is a sorry looking wreck and will have to be torn down.

Yours very truly,
G. W. KREIB.
