M. J. Hartson, manager of the Coquille Creamery near town, tells the Herald that his institution is running steadily, notwithstanding the destruction of San Francisco, and large quantities of fine gilt-edge butter are being turned out daily. The output simply goes to the Oakland house of the creamery's owners, the Hilmer-Harris Co. of San Francisco, and thence finds its way into the homes and caravansaries of the coast. It is a No. 1 article of butter.

The cash customer has the advantage at T. H. Mehl & Co's. They are now giving 5 per cent off of the regular prices to all who pay cash on the spot.

The Dean & Co. railroad, now in course of construction up Cunningham Creek, is progressing nicely. The large cut near the Sanford farm house will be done in a few days, and by the time that is finished the roadbed will be ready for the ties and steel up to the Build place, and near where the first timber is to be reached. This will be a good, substantial standard-gauge road with easy grades and curves, and will be capable of bringing out immense quantities of timber when completed. Mr. Yoakam's men began falling trees last Monday, and there will be logs to haul by the time the road is in readiness to transport them.
