New Lines Are Now Under Way.

Surveyors are busy making final locations for many of the projected Harriman lines in the state, and within a reasonable time construction of the various branches of the system in this state will be started. The delay in beginning building operations in different parts of the state is only that occasioned by accomplishing the preliminaries to construction, say Harriman officials, and actual work on several of the projects under way will be started during the present season.

The Coos Bay extension, tapping the main line of the Southern Pacific at Drain, the Natron extension and the line to the Klamath country are handled by Chief Engineer Hood of the Southern Pacific, with offices at San Francisco. The local officials of the Harriman system are not in such close touch with these projects as with those in the northern part of the state. However, reports from the South indicate that those mentioned are going ahead with as much speed as is possible.

"The contracts for the first 40 miles of the Coos Bay line are expected to be let at almost any time now," said General Manager J. P. O'Brien, of the lines in Oregon. "Local contractors have placed bids on the work, and expect to hear almost any day the result of their tenders."

"Surveyors are now out making final locations for the Natron and Klamath lines, while crews are also busy on the Central Oregon projects as well as the O. R. & N. feeders."

Local officials expect work will be begun on many of the different new lines within the coming season. Scarcity of railroad laborers is undoubtedly one of the factors that has worked against the early beginning of work on new lines, as it has been difficult to procure men to do improvement work on the lines already built and accomplish the usual annual construction work.

Probably the managers of the Harriman lines in this state have never had so much construction work to accomplish as this season. Large stretches of old track have been vastly improved by the laying of new and heavier rails, and the placing of a large number of new ties. A treating plant to apply preserving fluid to the ties before laying them has been put in operation, but it has taxed the railroad company to secure enough men to man this plant. In fact, at every point where work is carried on, the railroad has been embarrassed by lack of help.

The prospect of accomplishing as much as was hoped during the present season is dubious on this account.

Construction has been made more expensive than ever before, because of the condition of the labor market. However, this fact will not cause any unnecessary delay in starting of the lines already announced, say Harriman officials.—Oregonian.

A Telephone Meeting.

On Friday a meeting of the owners and patrons of our rural telephone system was held at Myrtle Point with a view to securing a better service and that at a rate reduced from the one they have been paying since its establishment. The company has seen fit to voluntarily reduce the general fee from $6 to $5, which, took effect April first, and at this meeting, their representative, L. R. Robertson, made an offer to these people to sell them all parts of their instruments, except the receiver and transmitter at a reasonable price, after which their fee will be but $1 per year, which is certainly highly satisfactory, and which was voted acceptable by the meeting.

Mr. Robertson was then instructed to ascertain on what terms the company would connect all the local exchanges in the valley, and report the same at a meeting to be held on July 31st. A vote of thanks was extended to those papers in the valley having representatives at the meeting.

It was suggested that all exchanges have meetings and send delegates to the meeting to be held July 31st at Myrtle Point.

Graduation at Arago.

The evening of June 30th will long be remembered by the people of Arago, as it marks an occasion, the first of the kind to be held in rural districts, the graduation exercises of 8th and 9th grades.

The school house was artistically decorated with the class colors, pink and green, and upon a festoon of this we read the class motto "Finished to Begin Again."

In the background the nation's flag, made the picture complete. The class numbered eight, five girls and three boys.

The school board, Co. Supt. Bunch, and the singers, all wore class colors and were given seats of honor on the rostrum. The program was well rendered, and if applause is a sign of appreciation, the event was a success. The opening was an instrumental piece, Mr. W. B. Smith offered prayer, the class gave recitations, essays, class history etc. County Supt. Bunch presented the diplomas and gave the class sound advice, for some their school days are finished and they would now enter life's school.

Mr. Bunch also gave a talk to the people of the district in which he referred to the fact that he was busy to attend the graduation exercises in all the city schools but had come to this, the first to be held in rural districts and he hoped these exercises would be an inspiration to the young people, and why not have such exercises in our country schools and make them equally as good as the city schools, when from the rural districts come 80 per cent of the talent of our land. He urged the patrons to co-operate with the teacher, but have neighborhood affairs out of the school.

Little flower girls presented the tokens and emblems of love, the flowers. The class was almost hidden from view by the many bouquets, our Oregon is a land of flowers.

Blushing the class received the well earned congratulations of their many friends, altogether the event is a beautiful picture, which we will hang in memory's hall.

Miss Minnie McCloskey, the teacher, saw on this occasion some of the fruits of her labor, and may well be proud of the class. The program consisted of the following: Instrumental solo, Lenna Woodward; prayer, Rev. W. B. Smith; Salutatory, Maude Lindebeck; Quartet, "Alone in the Moonlight," Mrs. May Yates, Miss May Schroeder, Messrs. J. H. Barklow, J. B. Lamb; Class History, Della Clinton; Duet, "Oh! Tell Us Merry Birds," Mrs. Yates and J. B. Lamb; Essay, "Liquid Air," Claude Randleman; Instrumental duet, Miss Woodward and Mr. Miller; Glass poem, Helen Woodward; Quartet, "Song of the Whippoorwill"; Recitation, "A Yankee Lover," Nettie Belloni; Essay, Sankie Rickman; Duet, Sam and Tildy's Courtship, May Schroeder and J. B. Lamb; Vaudeiety, Jennie Lindebeck; Class song; Presentation of Diplomas and address, Supt. W. H. Bunch; Quartet, "The Night Birds Whisper Soft and Light."

Graduates from Eighth Grade: George Kribs, Jennie Lindebeck, Helen Woodward, Maude Lindebeck, Claude Randleman. From Ninth Grade: Della Clinton, Sankie Rickman. Motto, "Finished to Begin Again." Colors, pink and green.

AN EYE WITNESS.

Dr. Wetmore is now located in his new hospital, on second street, opposite the Masonic Hall. A personal visit and inspection by us confirmed the statement made by him February last. There are accommodations for twenty patients and eight private rooms, electric lights, with toilets and bath rooms, new Institution iron beds. The Doctor's reception, operator and office rooms are models of neatness and convenience. The Doctor since locating here one year ago has by his success won the confidence of all who have had any business dealings with him since opening the hospital in the Collier building eight months ago, treating numerous patients, and has not lost a case, which speaks for itself. Dr. W. H. Booth and son, of Lebanon, Oregon, looking for a location last week, were favorably impressed with Coquille and its people. They made a very flattering proposition to the Doctor for the new hospital. The new institution will be named the Coquille City Hospital, and Miss Maud Miller will act as matron. Phone No. 136. Big one long, one short.

Why Join The Grange?

Because it is inexpensive. Because it is the farmers' only organization national in character. Because it has stood the test for thirty-two years, and has never been found wanting in any respect.

Because it has exerted greater influence in securing state and national legislation in the interest of agriculture than any agency in the country.

Because it is officered by those engaged in agriculture, who know from experience the needs of farmers, and are sincere in their desire to aid them in every possible way.

Because it is the duty of farmers to cooperate with one another, if they would successfully meet the influence of organization in every direction, and secure for wife and home a fair share of what the harvest yields.

Because it has secured national legislation in the oleomargarine law, the establishment of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the establishment of rural free mail delivery, and state legislation in every state in the interest of the farming population.

Because it has exerted the greatest influence known in breaking up the isolation of farm life, and in making farm life attractive to the boys and girls, bringing sunshine and happiness into the farm home to such an extent as has never before existed.

Fatal Accident.

A boy named Goodwin, about 15 years old, whose parents are living on the McKnight ranch, met his death yesterday from gas suffocation on the launch Adel, and Elton son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Metlin had a very close call from the same fate.

The sad affair occurred up Coos river, and but meager particulars could be obtained last evening over that line, which, when not "busy" was working very badly. It seems that the boys went up on the Adel. In the upper part of the river they were missed by the captain, and on searching he found them in the toilet, lying unconscious. Efforts to bring them to were successful in the case of the Metlin boy, but the other could not be revived. The only explanation is that they were overcome in the close closet by the fumes of the gasoline.—Coast Mail.
