Harriman at Coos Bay.

Purchase by the Harriman interests of the Spreckels holdings at Coos Bay removes the last vestige of doubt about the early construction by the Southern Pacific of a railroad to the rich but long-isolated region which for so many years has paid tribute almost exclusively to California. This purchase also explains the seeming indifference of the Harriman representatives in securing terminal facilities at Coos Bay. It was this apparent neglect that has tended to weaken the faith of the people in the projected Drain extension. The purchase of the Spreckels coal mines and railroad is undoubtedly of less importance to the Southern Pacific at this time than it would have been several years ago.

Prior to the discovery of oil in California all of the fuel used on the Southern Pacific was wood or coal, the latter being hauled great distances at a heavy expense. At that time access to the Coos Bay mines would have effected an enormous saving in the operating expenses of the road. It would also have given Portland an opportunity to secure Oregon coal at a price approximately as low as that paid for the Washington product. The fuel feature of the situation has undergone a radical change since the discovery and general use of oil, but railroad connection with these mines would still admit of a large business in Coos Bay coal in this city.

But, aside from its value to the operating department of the railroads, coal is by no means the most important factor in the trade of Coos Bay. Orchard, dairy and field products of that region are unexcelled, and both land and climate are admirably adapted for them. These products, for which Coos Bay has long enjoyed an enviable reputation, have never brought to the shippers the net returns which their merits warranted and which would have been possible had there been facilities for placing them on the market more expeditiously than by means of a long sea trip.

The forest resources lying adjacent to Coos Bay are wonderful in extent and richness, and will supply an enormous tonnage of freight for the railroad. This industry is an old one in that part of the state, but the manufacturers of lumber, in spite of plentiful supply of raw material, have been under a continued handicap, through their inability to reach the rich markets of the country. Mr. Harriman's newly acquired terminal facilities, of course, will require remodeling on an extensive scale, when his branch line shall reach tidewater at the Bay, but his purchase will greatly facilitate in the building of a new seaport in the southern part of the state. It also offers positive assurance that Portland is at last to have access to a rich trade field, from which this city has long been barred.

So long as California was the only market sought for the coal, lumber, butter, fruit and other products of the Coos Bay region, practically all of the goods used in that country were bought in San Francisco. All of this will be changed as soon as the Southern Pacific closes up the gap between its main line in Oregon and its late purchases on Coos Bay. Of all the new lines and branches projected in Oregon, none will offer such quick returns in trade as that which will join Portland with the prosperous cities of the Southern Oregon coast.—Oregonian.

Will Arbitrate Strike.

San Francisco, California, July 7.—It is learned this morning that the shipowners have at last decided to arbitrate the sailors' strike, and that a meeting towards this end will be called next Monday by the Mayor. According to this report the shipowners have asked the Mayor to present to the sailors a third letter seeking to arbitrate the differences existing between the two factions.

It is reported that a prisoner in the Oregon penitentiary has a volume of poems about ready for publication and the penitentiary is supposed to be a reformatory institution.—Oregonian.

Bancroft Items.

The weather which has been very warm for a few days moderated a little on the 4th and was quite pleasant.

Miss Georgia Leep is spending her vacation abroad.

Miss Joyce Fish is visiting her brothers at the ranch.

Messrs. Billings, Milberry and Westbrook of Eden Valley spent the 4th at Bridge.

Ole Samuelson goes to Myrtle Point today for the purpose of buying a new mowing machine.

The picnic at Bridge passed off pleasantly and rather quietly. The program was not so complete as it might have been had not everyone been rather delayed with their work and unusually busy. The entertainment in the afternoon consisted mainly of foot races, sack races, shoe races, etc. There was a good interest displayed in the baby show, so many pretty specimens on exhibition, made the task of choosing the prettiest rather a hard one for the judges. The prize was awarded to little Miss Jeannette Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brown. The closing act was a contest in log rolling between James and Ira Houser. Both of them showed great skill in handling a log in the water.

Washington, July 5.—A detailed statement of the work of the House of Representatives during the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress, just closed, as given out tonight by Winthrop C. Jones, tally clerk, shows that there were 4501 bills passed by the House and 262 left undeposited.

"The bills" is inclusive of bills, simple, joint and concurrent resolutions. The total number of laws enacted by this Congress is given officially as 3393, while the Fifty-eighth Congress, in both its first and second sessions, enacted a total of 2160 laws. These are exclusive of public and private resolutions, of which there were 54 enacted at the session just closed and 39 in the two sessions of the preceding Congress.

Salisbury, England, July 1.—The American line special carrying forty-five passengers, mostly wealthy Americans, who had debarked Saturday night at Plymouth from the steamship New York, was wrecked at Salisbury, eight miles from London, England, early yesterday morning. Twenty-three passengers and one trainman were killed and a dozen persons seriously injured. The engine mounted the girders of a railway bridge and turned turtle. Sir Thomas Lipton and J. P. Morgan assisted in the work of rescue. Mayor McClellan of New York had taken a compartment on the train, but at the last moment decided to remain on the ship. The high rate of speed threw the train from the rails.

New Star For Oklahoma.

Washington, July 5.—After consultation between Quartermaster General Humphreys and Admiral Cowles, the chief of the Equipment Bureau of the Navy Department, the two officers who are charged with the making and issuing of the National flags to the Army and Navy respectively, it has been decided that the admission into the Union of the State of Oklahoma shall be recorded by the addition of a star in the blue field of the flag, placed at the lower right hand corner. But as several things remain to be done before the new state is actually admitted, and as the law provides that the additional star shall only be set in the field at the beginning of the next fiscal year after the state is one in fact, the Oklahoma star will not be seen on an ensign until July 1, 1907, and therefore the salutes which have been given are premature.

About the Grange.

Why a Grange should be organized in Coquille City:

Because it is surrounded by a beautiful agricultural country.

Because the people ought to be enjoying the social benefits to be derived from it.

Because it is a place where farmers can meet and discuss their successes and failures, and thereby be of mutual benefit to each other.

Because the Grange is nonpolitical, nonsectarian, therefore it has a tendency to broaden the mind.

Because of the benefit it is to the young, teaching them parliamentary measures.

Because the Grange is the only institution of its kind in which the father, mother, son and daughter can enter upon an equality that is absolute.

Because a Grange in Coquille would bring the people there in touch with the legislative committee of the State Grange, thereby giving them a working basis.

The maximum penalty for the offense committed by Puter is imprisonment for two years and a fine of $10,000. Puter, therefore, got very nearly the full limit.
