Charles H. Merchant Passes Away.

(From Friday's Coos Bay Times)
Charles H. Merchant, Marshfield's leading citizen, and one of the pioneers of the state of Oregon, died of heart disease at seven o'clock last evening at his home in this city, after a lingering illness of several months. Mr. Merchant returned to Marshfield in the month of February, from a trip to Southern California and northern Mexico. He was taken ill during the month of April, and has been confined to his bed practically every since that time. For the past several weeks the end has been almost hourly expected. He was about sixty seven years of age.

He located on Coos Bay in the early sixties, as manager of the Simpson Milling Co. at North Bend, and a number of years later became associated with the E. B. Dean Lumber Co., in whose business he was active until the year 1892. Since that time he has been engaged chiefly in the management of his own private affairs.

Mr. Merchant has always been foremost among the public spirited, broad viewed, and benevolent citizens of Coos Bay. His death will be universally mourned, not only by the people of Coos Bay, but by those of the state at large, with whose interests he has been deeply concerned.

He is survived by his wife, and a large family of children, among whom are Will, John, Charles, Frank, Albert, James, Robert and Benjamin Merchant, Mrs. Lydia Lang, Mrs. Lillie Battisford and Mrs. Mary Desmond, all of whom are now in Marshfield. Besides these he is deeply mourned by scores of life-long friends, and hardly less deeply by the entire community. The date of the funeral services has not been learned but will be announced later.

Mrs. Dr. Leep of Myrtle Point, went to the Bay Saturday.

DIED.—At the County Infirmary July 30, at 9 p. m., John G. Marquis, of old age. Mr. Marquis was born in Washington county Pennsylvania, in 1812, and crossed the plains in 1849. He came to live at the Infirmary about two years ago and was an inmate of the Douglas county poor farm before he came here.
