E. Heuckendorff, the shipbuilder of Prosper, was in our city a day or so last week and informs us that he is laboring under difficulties in the completion of the vessel, he now has on the way. He finds it impossible to get certain materials from San Francisco. He expects to be able to launch her by the 15th of this month.

A Letter.

The following extracts from a letter recently received from Miss Lucia Sperry may prove of interest to her Coquille friends. Miss Lucia is devoting her vacation time to travel in the far east, and after a visit of two weeks with a school friend of Portland, Maine, in her summer home on an island in the Atlantic, will visit various points in Canada, returning to Illinois early in the fall to resume her college work:

Ipswich, Mass., July 9.
Was I ever so tired in my life? We have been out sight-seeing since early morning, having gone over fifty miles by trolley, but I will tell you of this later on, beginning now where I left off in my last letter.

I had such a pleasant time in Butler, (Penn.) where I spent the Fourth.

Saw a base ball game in the morning and in the evening went out to a large park to see the display of fireworks. We returned to Chautauqua (N. Y.) next day and as we were to leave for the East at eight the following morning, I was up until midnight packing, as I took only a steamer trunk to Butler. We arrived in Buffalo at eleven and as our train for Boston did not leave until seven in the evening, after luncheon started out to make the most of our time. We took a carriage and drove round the city—on Delaware Avenue, and all the most beautiful streets. * * * We reached Boston at eleven in the morning, and tho' we had traveled all night we went direct to Trinity church to service. It is a beautiful, great church, and the music was fine, but I did not care for the service, as it was very low church. In the afternoon, although it was Sunday, we thought it would not be wicked to walk about a little, as the train left for Ipswich at six in the evening. We went, first to see the wonderful Christian Science building, recently erected. Found we could not get in at that time, but the outside was well worth seeing. Then we went out to the great Boston Commons, of which one hears so much, and walked about there until three, when there was an open air concert by a celebrated band. The crowd itself was worth seeing. Thousands walking about and listening to the music. It is only an hour's ride to Ipswich from Boston. After arriving here we went directly to a house where we had engaged rooms, but not finding it what we expected, came to the hotel. Ipswich is just a little country town, and we expect to go up to Boston tonight for the rest of the week. Now, for today; early this morning we took the electric cars for Salem, twelve miles away. First we went to see what is called the Essex Institute, where there are all sorts of old relics kept. We spent most of the morning there. Went to the Cadet armory but found it closed for the day. It was the home of Colonel Francis Peabody, and, they say, has in it a wonderfully carved banquet-hall. We visited the old Charter street burial ground where lie some of the people who came over in the Mayflower. Governor Bradford and Judge Hawthorne. We saw stones with all the old names on, one being dated 1673. Right next to the burial ground is what is known as the "Old Grimshaw House," it being the place described in "Dr. Grimshaw's Secret." It was also the home of Sophia Peabody who became Nathaniel Hawthorne's wife. There we saw the funny old house in which Hawthorne was born. It was built in 1685. We went into the first church built on the continent, and in it saw the desk upon which "The Scarlet Letter" was written, afterwards going to the old custom house where the desk used to be, and seeing the room in which it was written. We saw where Hawthorne lived after his marriage, in the third story of an old building, and the house down by the sea called "The house of Seven Gables." Then we visited the site of the Witchcraft Jail and what is called "The Witch House" or the "Roger Williams House" where the trial of the witches took place. It was built in 1692. We drove round to many other places, going out to "Gallows Hill" where nineteen witches were executed. Later we went to Marblehead to see an old fort and some other historic places. In Abbot's Hall is the famous picture called "The Spirit of 1776," by Willard. From Boston we shall go to Cambridge and other points.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, there was submitted to the electors of the State at the last general election as required by law an initiative petition for,

"A law to provide additional revenue for state purposes and to levy a license on the gross earnings of certain companies and corporations, to-wit: express companies or corporations, telephone companies or corporations doing business in this state; defining the manner of ascertaining the amount of such gross earnings, providing a penalty for violating the provisions of the act, defining an express company, a telephone company and a telegraph company within the meaning of the act;" and

Whereas, on the 25th day of June, 1906, the Secretary of State in my presence as Governor of the State of Oregon did canvass the votes given for and against said law, and

Whereas, it was ascertained and determined upon such canvass that there were 70,872 votes cast for said proposed law, and 6,360 votes against the same, and that said proposed law received an affirmative majority of the total number of effective votes cast thereon and entitled to be counted under the provisions of law,

Now, therefore, I, George E. Chamberlain, as Governor of the State of Oregon, in obedience to and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by law, do hereby make and issue this proclamation to the people of the State of Oregon, and do announce and declare that the whole number of votes cast in the State of Oregon at said election for and against said proposed law was as hereinbefore stated, and that said proposed law received an affirmative majority of the total number of votes cast thereon and entitled to be counted under the provisions of law, and that said law hereinbefore mentioned shall be and is in full force and effect as the law of the State of Oregon from the date of this proclamation.

Done at the Capitol at Salem this 25th day of June A. D. 1906.

Geo. E. Chamberlain,
Governor of Oregon.

By the Governor:
F. I. Dunbar,
Secretary of State.

Public is Aroused

The public is aroused to knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic. Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Ave. Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Knowlton's drug store; price 50c.

WANTED: By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory. Salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced. Work pleasant; position permanent. No investment or experience required. Spare time valuable. Write at once for particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Superintendent, 132 Lake St. Chicago, Ill.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customers, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell and recommend this preparation." For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

THE NEW YORK WORLD

THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION

Read wherever the English Language is Spoken

The Thrice-a-Week World hopes to be in 1906 a better paper than it has ever been before, and it has made its arrangements accordingly. Its news service covers the entire globe, and it reports everything fully, promptly and accurately. It is the only paper, not a daily, which is as good as a daily, and which will keep you as completely informed of what is happening throughout the world.

The Thrice-a-Week World is fair in its political reports. You can get the truth from its columns, whether you are Republican or Democrat, and that is what you want.

A special feature of the Thrice-a-Week World has always been its serial fiction. It publishes novels by the best authors in the world, novels which in book form sell for $1.50 apiece, and its high standard in this respect will be maintained in the future as in the past.

THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the HERALD together for one year for $2.25.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

Peculiar Disappearance

J. D. Runyan, of Butteville, O., laid the peculiar disappearance of his painful symptoms, of indigestion and biliousness, to Dr. King's New Life Pills.
