Reincarnation.

The report that the old idea of "reincarnation" has been chosen for the theme of a play by a Chicago writer, is interesting. It shows among other things how abiding is the interest of the general public in the things of the soul. These mysteries, deep as they are and forever baffling, never fail to attract and often to charm one is a little puzzle to understand how the author imparts dramatic movement to the metaphysical theories of Pythagoras and the Hindus, but it seems from the report that she has succeeded.

Rider Haggard used the idea of reincarnation to good purpose in his famous tale of "She." Wordsworth alluded to it, if nothing more, in the greatest ode in the English language, borrowing Plato's doctrine that "our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting," and that the soul comes to earth from a state of preexistence. "Not in entire forgetfulness and not in utter nakedness, but training clouds of glory." The glory fades, according to Wordsworth, as we grow older, but Plato held, or at least Socrates did, as Plato reports him, that it gets brighter and brighter all through life.

He taught that the process of "learning" is but a remembering of things which we have known in a previous state of existence and partially forgotten. Hence to Socrates teaching was but the art of making pupils search their minds for these dim recollections. He believed that the teacher could by skillful questions bring out the most abstruse knowledge from the dullest mind. He therefore called himself and by implication, all teachers, "midwives," because they assist at the birth of knowledge from the soul.

The idea of reincarnation is one of the most abiding and vital in the history of religion. Shakespeare did not disdain to allude to it in Twelfth Night. "What is the opinion of Pythagoras concerning wild-fowl?" inquires the clown; to which unhappy Malvolio correctly replies that the great philosopher believed "the soul of our grandma might happily inhabit a bird." There is an allurements, one must confess, in the belief that the souls of men go after death into beastly or human bodies, which express their ruling passions in life; one into a hog, another into an ass. No other creed seems quite so consonant with the demands of exact justice.—Oregonian

Many Killed in Wreck.

La Porte, Ind., Nov. 12.—An express train on the Baltimore & Ohio, eastbound, was wrecked with 140 passengers. Five were killed and 20 injured. The trains met head-on at a curve near Suman. Some of the 20 will probably die. The first reports said 100 were dead. Every surgeon within a radius of 50 miles was rushed to the scene.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kans., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said that he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since that we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by R. S. Knowlton.

Bad Chinaman is Captured.

Yesterday morning Marshal J. W. Carter, accompanied by George Farrin, made a trip to the Chinese quarters in this city in answer to a complaint made by Chinaman Sing, in which he stated that he had been robbed of quite a bunch of wash money.

Suspicion was at once directed against Yee Ming, another Celestial, who proclaimed his innocence of the crime. A search of Ming's person resulted in the finding of $164 in United States legal tender. This he claimed was his own. Sing claimed he had been robbed of it, and also of a certificate of deposit on the National Bank of Coquille. Search was made for the check, and it was finally found in the bottom of a sack of rice. Ming claimed that a conspiracy had been formed to ruin him, and that he knew nothing of the certificate.

Other Chinamen, state that a number of their countrymen had been hitting the pipe, and while Sing's back was turned Ming relieved him of his money. Ming is said to have rushed out of the room in which they were smoking, and upon returning some few minutes later he exclaimed: "If you think I stole your money, search me."

The preliminary trial took place yesterday afternoon, Ming being bound over to the circuit court on a bond of $500.—Coos Bay Times.

When Congress resumes its sessions next month, it will doubtless be surprised to learn that during the recess period, a non-political, but business meaning, organization has been formed, and which is even now encamped in offices almost under the dome of the Capitol, to watch its every movement as a legislative body and to spy upon the public acts of each individual member. This newly formed organization, known as the People's Lobby, is composed of prominent journalists, lawyers, bankers and a few former government officials, all residing in different large cities of the country. At the first meeting held in Washington last week, the scope of the work to be performed was outlined thus:

First—The collection and dissemination of information regarding pending national legislation and the attitude of members thereon.

Second—The keeping of an accurate record of the official acts and votes of members of Congress together with other information pertinent to their official records, and from time to time the making public of these records and securing for them the widest possible publicity in order that the people may have the real inside information regarding public questions and how their Representative or Senator are voting on those questions.

As far as can be learned, the public questions and how their Representative or Senator are voting on those questions.

As far as can be learned, the publicity is to take the form of pamphlets and circulars which are to be mailed to names of persons secured from county tax sheets, but just how and from where the money is to come for all this "watching of Congress" has not been divulged and whether Congress will sit up and take notice of its self appointed guardians, or what effect if any, the Lobby will have, are questions that time only can answer.

Can't Have Equal Rights.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Secretary Metcalf, before leaving for Washington today, confided to a few intimate friends that the sentiment of the people of San Francisco, if not of the whole state, was opposed to allowing the Japanese or Chinese children to mingle freely with the Caucasian children in the public schools, and that it is likely that the statute providing that the Asiatic children be taught in separate schools would be strengthened at the coming session of the legislature. As a lawyer, the secretary told the call his opinion was that the treaty with Japan that guaranteed Japanese children equal rights with children of the most favored nation, and that the provisions in the California statute is unconstitutional.

Officers of the War and Navy departments are becoming alarmed over the deficiency in the country's coast defense and are looking about for means to remedy the existing conditions.

Attention is drawn to the fact that when it became necessary to send a few troops to Cuba several weeks ago, the greatest difficulty was experienced in finding ships to transport the soldiers and vessels flying the flags of many nations were chartered before an adequate number were secured.

Forty thousand men are needed to properly man the guns at coast forts and torpedo stations, yet only fourteen thousand men are available. To fill the vacancies caused by those whose terms of enlistment expire, it requires constant advertising with posters, space in newspapers and a resort to every other means to bring the army and navy service before the public, but even with all this the number of enlistments fall far short of the necessary number.

In the navy conditions are not much better. At present, almost the required number of men are enlisted but as soon as the ships now building are completed, the naval authorities will be at a loss to properly man them all. Officers are now at work upon several schemes which they hope will have a pulling power to attach able bodied men into both branches of the service and with the granting of increased pay for the men, already asked of Congress, it is likely that conditions at coast defense points will change for the better.

The sensational newspapers of the country recently made elaborate comment on the fact that Mr. Howard Gould, of New York, had a chinaman for a brother-in-law. News now coming to hand from Paris would indicate that he also has a good deal of an "Indian" for a brother-in-law. Comparison, according to Mrs. Partington, are "odorous," but, ignoring any racial favoritism, it would seem that Mr. Gould has much more cause for being proud of Brother-in-law Ah Sin, the heathen Chinese, than of Brother-in-law Boni, the heathen Castellane. Brother-in-law Ah Sin runs a laundry. Brother-in-law Boni should be run through one—and then emptied into the sewer.—Oregonian.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Drain Notes.

The first train was run upon the Drain-Coos Bay Monday. The work of construction will be pushed by means of steam shovels. The C. E. Loss Co. have more than 1000 men at work on tunnels Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5.

The logging for the tunnels will be driven down Elk creek as the expense by teams is prohibitive. Costing $19 per thousand.

The normal foot ball team defeated the Eugene High school at this place last Saturday by a score of 10 to nothing—the game was interesting and clean sport from start to finish. The High School team could make no impression on the Normal boys.

The work on the water system is progressing very favorably and the water will soon be turned on. It is to be hoped an electric light system will soon be installed.

A recital by Miss Johnson and Miss Hewett on Saturday was well received and appreciated by a large audience at Normal Hall. This is the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the departments of music and reading.

The commercial club is awakening to activity, and will place the advantages of Drain and vicinity before the people coming to the Great Northwest.

The Normal is growing rapidly and still has the largest enrollment of any of the Normal Schools. Standing as follows, Drain, Ashland, Weston, and Monmouth.

Mr. Olsen of Cottage Grove lectured before the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Harry Moon '06 was visiting the Normal the first of the week.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a cough or cold, I have taken Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Mr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at R. S. Knowlton's drug store. Trial bottle free.
