Death of Dr. J. W. Strange.

Dr. J. W. Strange, pioneer dentist and newspaperman, prominent in Roseburg's fraternal spheres and at one time a leading factor in local Republican politics, died at his home, in this city, early Sunday morning, Feb. 9, 1908, after a lingering illness of dropsy. He was 55 years of age. Dr. Strange had been confined to his house constantly for the past three weeks, during which time he experienced alternating periods of improvement and depression. The day before his death he was reported to be feeling considerably better, but when his bedside was visited at 4 o'clock the following morning, the dim light of life had gone out.

Born in Blount county, Tennessee, Nov. 21, 1852, Dr. Strange came to Oregon with his parents, now deceased, and settled near Wilbur, this county. He taught school and studied dentistry, and was admitted to practice the latter profession when 23 years of age. Although a highly competent dentist, he devoted a great part of his life to conducting news papers, always on Republican principles, and this brought him into prominence in his party. He was elected school superintendent of this county in 1881, serving one term, after which he served successively as reading clerk of the lower house of the Oregon legislature and chief clerk of the senate.

During his tenure of office as school superintendent, Dr. Strange acted as editor of the old Roseburg Plaindealer. Later he conducted newspapers in eastern Oregon and Washington, chief among the Pendleton (Or.) Tribune. During the taking of the government census in 1890 he acted as superintendent of that work in eastern Oregon. At the conclusion of these duties in 1891, Dr. Strange resumed the practice of dentistry in Eastern Oregon and Washington and later in Douglas and Coos counties. In 1903 he moved back to Roseburg, and two years later embarked upon his last newspaper venture by establishing the Roseburg Spokesman. He continued actively at work until January 1, of this year, when he became so severely afflicted with the malady that resulted in his death.

Dr. Strange was a charter member and the first Master Workman of Roseburg Lodge No. 16, A. O. U. W., a Past Grand of Philatelian Lodge, I. O. O. F. and Past Consul Commander of Oak Camp No. 125, of this city. He was also a charter member of the Roseburg Presbyterian church, and a member of Union Encampment I. O. O. F. No. 41.

Dr. Strange is survived by his wife and one son, Dale.—Review.

The Jumping off Place.

"Consumption had me in its grasp; and I had almost reached the jumping off place when I was advised to try Dr. King's New Discovery; and I want to say right now, it saved my life. Improvement began with the first bottle, and after taking one dozen bottles I was a well and happy man again," says George Moore of Grimesland, N. C. As a remedy for coughs and colds and healer of weak, sore lungs and for preventing pneumonia New Discovery is supreme. 50c and $1.00 at R. S. Knowlton, druggist. Trial bottle free.

Go to Meet Steamer.

Mr. C. A. Smith and Mr. Arno Meece, of the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing Co., leave tomorrow for Bay Point, on San Francisco bay where the company is building docks and extensive distributing yards and warehouses which they will inspect. Mr. Smith will remain in San Francisco until the arrival of the steamer Nan Smith which he will accompany from San Francisco to Coos Bay. Mr. Meece will not wait for the boat but expects to return to the bay in about ten days.

A telegram received yesterday from Captain Nelson, of the Nan Smith, stated that the boat put in at Punta Arenas, South America, caused by the illness of some of the crew. This will delay her arrival about two or three days but she is expected to reach San Francisco about March 10 to 15 and will leave there shortly after that for Coos Bay.—Times.

Child Burned to Death.

Lalice, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Harry of Brewster Valley was so badly burned last Monday morning to 9:30 that she died 36 hours later, Tuesday night at 11 o'clock, and the funeral was held Thursday afternoon, interment being in the cemetery at Dora.

Lalice and her little brother were left in a room of their home together while their mother was attending to duties in an adjoining house. She had not been absent long when she was attracted back by the screams of the little boy and found the baby's clothes a mass of flames. She quickly smothered the flames and hurried with the child at the home of James Laird and word of the accident was got to Walter Laird who telephoned in for a doctor. Dr. Stemmer happened to be out in that neighborhood on another call and was summoned to the aid of the little sufferer without loss of much time, but all efforts to save her life were futile, and she passed away at the hour stated.

It is supposed that the apron of the child was drawn into the stove in the room and that her clothes were thus ignited. The baby was badly burned about the face and less seriously about the body, but more than a sixth of her body was burned until the skin peeled off and there was no hope of her recovery though it is believed that the shock was the immediate cause of her death.—Enterprise

Many Sleepless Nights, Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayner, editor of the Burley, Colorado, Bulletin. Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial result. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was indeed marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since." This remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Mr. Watt Guerin and family who with his parents went to Needles, Arizona, is rapidly regaining his health in that dry climate.

Mr. Tom Guerin is having a small dwelling erected on Sixth street for the occupancy of Mr. Arthur Watt and family.

Mrs. Will McCloskey is seriously ill with neuralgia of the stomach.

The Myrtle Point Improvement Club gave an auction sale and social at Smith's Hall on the evening of February fifteenth which was largely attended. A number of donations of fancy work and useful articles were sold by Mr. Gatchell to the audience and a nice sum realized. A short program proceeded the sale consisting of songs, etc. which were well rendered and enjoyed. Supper was served later. A good round sum was received for which the ladies of the Club are very thankful.

The Centennial Band rendered some beautiful pieces both before and during the entertainment.
Mr. C. A. Bender and wife who went to Portland two weeks ago report Mr. Bender as improving nicely. He went to have his ear doctored. Clare Dement who cut his foot very badly, is still on crutches.
