Will Omit July Assessment!

In addition to skipping the May assessment, at their April session, the Board of Directors went carefully over the conditions; found there was on hand practically four million dollars; and with the estimated number of deaths to occur, it was decided that it would be safe to also omit the July assessment and give extra time to official paper to report proceedings of the Head Camp in the July Woodman. This gives positive assurance of not more nine assessments for the year, continuing the record which has made Modern Woodmen of America famous for the prompt payment of all claims at low cost to the members.—Modern Woodman.
