St. Louis has started the "Times are much better" slogan, and the rest of us ought to help it along. It is a taking idea.

Many congressmen are anxious to get away from Washington, but more of them are worried about getting back next winter.

Yesterday evening "The Two Sisters" was given and enjoyed even more than first evening by an equally large and enthusiastic audience. The plays for the remaining nights are as follows: Wednesday, "The Unwritten Law" Thursday, "Flower of the Range," Friday "Camille," Saturday, "Triss or Beyond the Rockies."

To the people of the Coquille valley: Owing to the prevalence of the typhoid fever among the people living along the banks of the river last fall and the early freshets, it is my opinion that there is grave danger of a serious epidemic this summer, owing to soil infection, and would advise that when surface or shallow springs are used for drinking purposes that the water be boiled before using.

Obituary

Julia Elmore Waller was born at Oregon City May 5, 1841, and died in Coquille June 22, 1908. She was the first white child born in Oregon City, then but a mere pioneer settlement, but the chief trading point in the state at that time.

Being the daughter of Alvin Waller, one of the first honored missionaries of the Methodist church to the Indians of Oregon, she experienced all the dangers and privations incident to these advance guards of civilization. Her father's picture hangs in the great brick church in Salem which he organized. The structure itself was built later by her husband, the Rev. C. C. Stratton to whom she was married on Sept. 5, 1860. After filling the place of a faithful pastor's wife for ten years in Oregon, she moved to California where he was pastor of the First M. E. church of San Jose for five years, and president of the University of the Pacific for ten years.

In 1890 they returned to Oregon. She resided in the suburbs of Portland until last Sept. when they came to Coquille, and have made their home with their son G. H. Stratton where she died. She was never a rugged woman, and her health has been badly broken for several years.

She was a life long Methodist, and died as she lived, in the Christian faith. Another honored pioneer is gone—a faithful friend, a lover of home and devoted wife and mother. This is the first death in the family, their only children being Miss Mary and Gordon H. of this city. Her venerable helpmate still survives, patiently waiting for a happy reunion in the better world. The funeral sermon was preached at the home by Rev. W. S. Gordon assisted by Rev. E. B. Jones, and a long procession followed the remains to the Masonic cemetery.

More Accidents

As we go to press the news reaches us that Harry Kronenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kronenberg, was drowned at the boom of the Aberdeen mill, of which his father is superintendent. The young man was 19 years of age the 10th of last November. Full particulars have not been received, however, the body has been recovered and brought to Parkersburg, the home of his parents.

Henry Holverson, of this city, a donkey engineer at Aasen's camp had the misfortune to lose a couple of toes while working about his engine Monday morning. He set his foot on the engine frame, his toes projecting over into the fly-wheel pit when the throttle was accidentally opened by the fireman, and the wheel turning, a spoke struck his foot, taking off the great toe and the one next to it. He will be on crutches for a while.

Mrs. C. A. Schibrede, of Marshfield, and Mrs. Kinney, of Flat B, while out driving yesterday with a spirited team belonging to the latter, met an automobile on a short curve near Kittyville, and the horses made a dash and ran away. Sterling Way

Married, at the M. E. Church, south, in this city Wednesday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock, Miss Lillie Way, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Way of this city, and Mr. Paul Sterling of Coquille by the pastor, Rev. H. M. Branham. Miss Clara Talbot acted as bridesmaid and Mr. G. H. Dunning as groomsmen, Fred Folsom was usher.

The church had been elaborately decorated, with flowers and greenery and the aisles were strewn with roses. The ceremony took place beneath a wedding bell of white roses. As a prelude to the ceremony, Mrs. Thos. Mehl, of Coquille sang "O Promise Me," Mrs. E. M. Furman presiding at the organ, and the bridal party was ushered in to the strains of the wedding march, the bride leaning on the arm of her father who gave her away. The ring ceremony was used. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the church parsonage where a brief reception was held, after which the bride and groom proceeded to Coquille where they will make their home, the groom having a home already prepared. A number of guests from Coquille, relatives and friends of the bride, were present, having driven up in automobiles, the bride and groom returning with them. Mr. Sterling was formerly agent of the railroad company at this place, and is now agent of the same company at Coquille. The bride has for several years been manager of the telephone office at this place.—Enterprise.

E. Ferry is Badly Cut

Emmerson Ferry, one of the proprietors of Bianco hotel, was severely slashed this afternoon by "Bucksbot," the hotel porter, and bus driver. It is generally claimed that his assault upon Mr. Ferry was entirely unprovoked. Six stitches had to be taken in Mr. Ferry's arm and side. "Bucksbot" struck at him several times with the knife but only one of the blows caused serious injury. "Bucksbot" was immediately arrested and taken to the city jail. Mr. Ferry's wounds were dressed immediately, and while he is able to walk around, the injury is severe.

The assault occurred in the rear of the Bianco, Mr. Ferry having gone out to oversee the weighing of meat by "Bucksbot." "Bucksbot" is a well-known character but had never been considered dangerous despite his threats when under the influence of liquor.—Coos Bay Times.

New Record at Smith Mill

The C. A. Smith mill has established a new record for day's cut of lumber, the mill having turned out 272,245 feet and 30,500 lath last Friday. The previous record, made a few weeks ago, was a trifle over 253,000 feet.

Friday's big cut was made with spruce logs and was a surprise to everyone around the mill, some, hardly believing it until the figures were carefully computed.

General Manager J. E. Oren, the other officials and the millmen are now anxiously looking to the 300,000 mark which they hope to reach in the near future.—Times

The Thirteenth Coquille's Hoo Do.

The people who attended the ball game Sunday between Coquille and North Bend witnessed the longest extra inning game ever played in this county. For thirteen innings the two teams struggled for supremacy and it fell to North Bend's lot to win.

Collier pitched a steady game for the home team but his inability to handle bunts and lack of control coupled with some pretty bum support cost us the game. In fact Coquille had the game won and deliberately threw it away.

North Bend used three men in box, Wilson and Gaffney were both sent to the bench but Taylor met with marked success, the locals scored but one run of his delivery. Chas. Keene and Kelly excelled in batting for the visitors. Nevins, Thomas, Howell and Lorenz were the heavy hitters for Coquille. Pauls fielding and Gardner's great throw to the plate were the features.
