ARTILLERY CO., ONE OF THREE Military Organization On Coos Bay Part of War Defense Plan.

The purpose of Adjutant General Finzer's visit to Coos Bay, the latter part of the week, is to organize a coast artillery company here rather than an infantry company of the Oregon National Guards.

The adjutant general of the United States, recently authorized the formation of three coast artillery companies for Oregon. Nothing was done by General Finzer until a few weeks ago when he reminded by the authorities at Washington of the necessity of artillery companies on the Pacific coast. General Finzer at once got busy. He has visited Yaquina Bay and Astoria. On account of the small population no organization will be effected on Ya-Bay at this time. Astoria will probably get two. If the Coos bay people show sufficient interest this point will get one, which will be made the basis for coast defense at this port.

Those having an inclination towards the life militant, will hold a meeting during the presence of General Finzer on the Bay.

A telegram from General Finzer to Walter Lyon today, announces that Mr. Finzer will reach Coos Bay about Monday.—Coos Bay Times.

China and Japan May Cross Swords.

Seoul, Oct. 15.—Serious complications affecting the peace of China and Japan threaten as the result of an engagement between Chinese and Japanese troops in Kantao, Northern Corea, in which several were killed or wounded. The refusal of the Chinese war office to permit the pursuit of a detachment of soldiers who are said to have been the aggressors may result in the crossing of the frontier by Japanese troops. Chinese soldiers are reported to have opened hostilities by firing upon a police station occupied by the Japanese troops who were sent into Kantao as a guard for the residents there. The fighting that ensued lasted several hours, and while the exact number of casualties is not obtainable, there were a number killed or wounded. The commander of the Japanese garrison immediately called upon China for permission to cross the frontier into Chinese territory and pursue the assailants, who appear to have been worsted in the engagement. The request was refused by the war office.

The Japanese Foreign Office has made representation to the government at Peking and the situation is beginning to assume a serious aspect. It is intimated that unless China takes prompt action satisfactory to the Japanese government, the latter may take the initiative and cross the frontier in order to afford protection to the Coreans.

The Oregon Apple Man.

Reading horticultural commission literature pertaining to the state of Oregon, or having even a passing knowledge of the facts of which this literature treats, there is no escape from the conviction that the Oregon apple man has every reason to be satisfied with what he has done and with what he expects to do. Take the statement of Horticultural Commissioner Carson of the third horticultural district, and we have a comprehensible summary of the Oregon apple man's felicitation. Mr. Carson asks: If there is any competition between Oregon fruit and the fruit of the East, why is it that the Eastern fruitgrowers sell a barrel of their best quality apples, containing two and one-half bushels for less than Oregon growers sell a single box containing one bushel?

The Oregon apple men has been aware for some time that there is no possible competition between the fruit of the two sections. The fancy prices he has received for his apples in London and European markets, to say nothing of New York, has been the assurance of the superiority of Oregon fruits. This one fact, more pronouncedly perhaps than any other, has established Oregon's reputation as the land of the apple. The Oregon apple man has profited by it beyond any other apple man in the country, as his bank account will show. And there is opportunity in the state for a multiplication of his tribe.

We may safely say that the cultivation of this one staple fruit will always be one of the chief industries of the state. In its future there is an almost inconceivable warpage of wealth to the state, and of profit and content to the individual. The Oregon apple if properly presented is one of the strongest inducements for emigration among the Western homeseeking people of the East.—Evening Telegram.

The Tactful Wife is a Precious Gift to Her Husband.

The average maid of to-day takes unto herself a husband, one who is to share her joys and sorrows, her doubts and perplexities, who is to become the intimate companion of her existence; how much time, I wonder does she give to the contemplation of his individual traits, to the lights and shadows of his masculinity, to the harmonies and discords of daily intercourse? asks Diana Huneker in the New Idea Womens Magazine for November. Instead, she coolly and dispassionately weighs the wage-winning capacity of the chosen one, and if he fills the bill of her anticipations at once appropriates him with the sole idea that he will feed, house and clothe her. Not one thought does she give to his expectations of a sympathetic companion, his dream of a home-maker or the ideal almoner of his perhaps limited income.

Not so with the woman who marries for love of husband and not of pocketbook. The way may be thorny and rough, with many hardships, but hand in hand the wedding pair go bravely along, making light of misfortune, if they may share it together. Tact is a powerful weapon in the hands of the wise woman who understands a man may be gently led, but violently balks when driven; she gains her way by methods totally unknown to the sledgehammer sisterhood. Neither does the normal man care to feel insignificant beneath his own vine and while it is true that woman can rule no better kingdom than home, yet it is well to remember that a royal consort may with perfect propriety claim a few inches of the throne.

The bond of combining interest is one that holds fast; that makes man and wife partners as well as lovers. Love is the thing we all crave, yet it receives scant consideration at our hands. We neglect it, we insult it, but break our heart when it flies from our dwelling place. Grief and lamentation fail to bring it back. We smother the flame with our tears and there are no ashes quite so dead as those of a dead love.

Decrease In Sheep.

Estimates made by the sheepmen of Lake county show there has been a big decrease in the number of sheep in the county in the past two years. It is estimated that in 1906 not less than 500,000 sheep were run on the range of that county, but this year there are not more than 300,000. This decrease has cut down the revenue of the county and has forced many of the former wool-growers out of the business. The things that have contributed to the reduction are that the range has been scarce since the creation of the forest reserves, that the price of wool has gone down, the high prices of carcasses last year, and the fact that many of the lands of the county that have been heretofore open to the sheepmen have been leased and closed to the wool growers, adding to the scarcity of the range caused by the reserves, on which the number of sheep is limited so that the range is protected. The chief wealth of Lane county has heretofore been in the wool and mutton industry, but there will be a big decrease in the income from this line this year.—The North Pacific Rural Spirit.

To Slaughter Horses.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The Department of Agriculture has made an appeal to the military authorities for the extermination of wild horses in Nevada. David Bennett, supervisor of forestry in the Toyabe National Forest in Nevada, has sent much correspondence setting forth the destructive nature of these animals, and asking that the troops of the United States army be allowed to kill them. He has recommended that sixty days of each year be set apart for the purpose, and that the horses might be exterminated under the skirmish conditions of general warfare. There are 15,000 of these wild animals about the park, and their capture and training have proved to be impracticable. The request of Mr. Bennett has the endorsement of Gifford Pinchot, chief of the Forestry Bureau at Washington.

Why Colds are Dangerous

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases, Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Where Bullets Flew

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me more good than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well."
