The People are Coming.

Portland, Oregon, March 8th, 1909.—They are coming. People from every part of the United States and Canada are pouring into Oregon at the present time at a rate never before equalled, and there is evidence that the travel during the entire colonist period will be enormous. Many communities are busy sending out leaflets giving the low rate from twenty or twenty-five points, others have the information printed at the top of their stationery and on their envelopes. Every reader of this paper should see that such a leaflet goes in each letter he sends to people at a distance. School boys and girls all over Oregon are doing their part. Remember this rate is good until the last day of April.

A most interesting acknowledgment of the apples sent by the Portland Commercial Club to King Edward comes in a letter from Buckingham Palace, written by General D. M. Brobyn, Keeper of the Privy Purse to His Majesty, King Edward, to one of Oregon's best known and most respected citizens, R. E. Brerton. A little extract from General Brobyn's letter is interesting: "The five boxes of apples which were sent to His Majesty arrived quite safely and were thought very highly of by King and others who tasted them. I write to convey His Majesty's thanks for the fruit. Should we all live for another Christmas, and if you will kindly send directly to me at Sandringham a small supply of these apples, writing me a few lines of warning of their dispatch, I promise to bring them to the notice of the King and His Majesty's guests assembled at Sandringham at that season of the year, and will give you a full report of them."

Ontario is determined that the great Malheur project shall be realized. The people of Vale are co-operating with them—in fact all the citizenship of Malheur County is a unit, and there was never better evidence of their progressive spirit than the fact that they raised one evening last week the sum of $2500.00 in twenty-five minutes—or at the rate of $100.00 a minute—with which to advertise their resources. When one considers that Ontario has only 1500 population, this is one of the records.

Comparatively few people of the "Beaver State" realize that Forest Grove is nationally known as the source of America's most perfect archery bows, Pacific Yew, which grows to perfection in Oregon, is the material used, and Captain F. S. Barnes fashions it with skilled hand into bows sought by experts all over this continent and even abroad. Though almost seventy years of age, the Captain is himself a splendid archer, and such an enthusiast in his chosen craft that he makes personal trips to the mountains each year to select Yew of just the proper grade and grain—the altitude at which the tree grows is an important factor. Occasionally a bow of rare accuracy and highest speed is created, and these are dignified with names, "Cyclone" and "Whirlwind" are famous among archers.

Verdict Against Sugar Trust.

New York, March 5.—A verdict awarding the United States Government $134,116 damages in unpaid customs duties from the American Sugar Refining Company, was rendered today by a jury which heard charges of mis-weighing sugar imports.

The verdict rendered was for the full amount sued for by the Government on the contention that this sum was due through underweighing by the company's employees of sugar imports on the company's Brooklyn docks.

A motion for a new trial was denied, and counsel for the defendant was given 60 days in which to prepare the case on appeal, which, it was announced, would be taken.

Victims of Head Hunters.

Chicago, March 5.—The Tribune today prints the following special cable: "Manilla, March 4.—There is a rumor that Lieutenant Harry L. King, of the First Cavalry, and a detachment of that regiment who have been mapping the interior of Northern Luzon, have become the victims of head hunters."

J. M. Olderman Pardoned.

One of the last official acts of George E. Chamberlain as governor was to pardon J. M. Olderman, serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of Jasper M. Casteel, on Lees Creek, nine miles east of Myrtle Creek, about 11 years ago. The influences which secured his pardon are not learned. Olderman is about 50 years of age. His crime was one of the most cold-blooded and cowardly ever committed in Douglas County or anywhere else.

Casteel and Olderman were partners in the operation of a mine on Lees Creek and lived together. There was a third member of the household, Casteel's daughter, Mrs. Stewart, who was living apart from her husband, though not divorced. The two men got into a quarrel, which it was rumored, was caused by Olderman's attentions to Mrs. Stewart, and this was followed by Olderman filing a suit for money against Casteel in the Justice court at Myrtle Creek. A few days later the murder occurred at the Lees Creek home. As Casteel lay asleep on a sofa, Olderman slipped from his room, revolver in hand, and coolly shot Casteel through the head, killing him instantly. The murderer then walked to Myrtle Creek and surrendered himself.

At his trial Olderman said he killed Casteel because Casteel had threatened to kill him. He was unable to substantiate this statement to the satisfaction of the jury and he was found guilty of murder in the first degree. Judge J. C. Fullerton, then occupying the circuit bench, sentenced Olderman to be hanged, and the murderer's attorney, C. A. Sehlbrede, now a resident of Marshfield, appealed to the supreme court for a new trial. The appeal was turned down, but on the day before the one on which the hanging was to take place, Governor T. T. Geer commuted Olderman's sentence to life imprisonment.

The popular belief that Mrs. Stewart was indirectly the cause of the murder of her father was not supported by any evidence at the trial, but the consideration which she showed for Olderman after the deed was committed was regarded as significant. She visited her father's slayer on two different occasions while he was in jail, and each time asked him if there was anything she could do for him. She had some of Olderman's money in her possession and he told her in the presence of Sheriff R. L. Stephens that she could keep this. On the day of Casteel's funeral at Myrtle Creek, Mrs. Stewart invited Olderman to accompany her to the cemetery, but the man was then in the custody of Sheriff Stephens and could not go.

Riverton Pick-Ups.

Imogene Alexson, of Coquille, has been visiting Mrs. O. A. Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Rouse went to San Francisco in the interests of his coal mine.

Another transfer of real estate here, O. A. Kelly to A. E. Martin. Lot one in block one.

Judge L. Harlocker, Assessor T. J. Thrift and R. Mast were appraising the mill and other mill property here. There will soon be another residence in our town. Mrs. Helen Moore will build on lot 6 in block 2, adjoining W. A. Bean's store. There has been considerable sickness in our town of late, including Mrs. M. J. Nosler, Miss Jennie Price, Mrs. Bumgartner, Wm. Rohm and Mrs. Edwards' little boy. Mrs. Etta White will make her home with her parents for a few months. Mr. S. Danielson, her father, is very sick and great danger of his not recovering.

DONA ANNA.

Mrs. Tupper Wins Case.

A suit in Judge Holden's court was brought against Mrs. M. A. Tupper, manager of Hotel Coquille Monday by G. W. Shelly, representing a San Francisco tobacco firm, for a lot of cigars, the bill for which Mrs. Tupper disputed, claiming she had never ordered nor received the goods. It was claimed by the plaintiff that the cigars were ordered on the 13th day of last June, which his order books showed, but Mrs. Tupper proved an alibi, as she left for Portland the 30th of the previous month and was absent till June the 20th. The Judge gave the defendant the decision.

Goodman-Weedman.

There was a quiet wedding at the residence of T. D. Felt, No. 6 West Park street, Sunday morning, when Rev. John Stephens united Miss Pearl Weedman and Mr. Earl Goodman of Coquille City, Ore., by the simple and beautiful ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride is the niece of Mrs. Felt and has made her home with her aunt during the last three years, during which time she was graduated from the high school and made many warm friends among her fellow students. During a visit to an aunt in Coquille last summer the young people whose lives were united on Sunday, met for the first time and the acquaintance then formed found its culmination on Sunday. Mr. Goodman is a book-keeper in a Coquille business house and the young people departed for their home immediately after the ceremony.

The bride had planned to have the announcement of her wedding take her friends by surprise. For that reason none but relatives of the Felt family were present, but when the young couple arrived at the station to take the train for the north, the members of the Alpha Zeta Club, of which Miss Weedman is a member, were gathered in good numbers to give her and her bridegroom a loving farewell.

There was neither bridesmaid nor best man, no display, and the only concession to conventionality was the wedding march from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," on the piano by Eden Killmer. Miss Kate Felt, cousin of the bride, came up from the University of California to attend the wedding.

LATER.—The young couple have decided to remain a short time with an uncle of the groom's, B. C. Jones of Bakersfield, California.

Roosevelt Sails.

Oyster Bay, March 5.—Ex-President Roosevelt announced today for the first time that he sails from New York for Africa on March 23 at noon. He will take passage on the steamer Hamburg.

Final preparations are now being made at the Smithsonian Institution for Mr. Roosevelt's scientific expedition to Africa. The work of preparing and packing the collecting apparatus is now well advanced, superintended by Major Edgar A. Mearns, who is to manage the expedition for the Smithsonian Institution.

J. Alden Loring and Edmund Heller, the other two naturalists of the expedition, have been in Washington several weeks, assisting Major Mearns with the final preparations.

Well Pleased With Coos.

A. W. Wedon arrived here Friday from New York state, and is greatly enjoying a visit with his aged mother and his two brothers, George and J. C. Wedon, who came here from Minnesota last September. Mr. Wedon is very much surprised at the general appearance of our country. Where he came from is only a little north of us, and the ground was covered with two feet of snow, and everything frozen solid, while he finds grass a foot high here in the gardens and fields, the flowers and shrubbery leaving out and in bloom, with no visible sign of there having been any cold weather, while our people complain of the past two months being the worse they ever experienced, and that there is the greatest suffering among range stock that has ever been known in the valley. He is very much pleased, and may conclude to locate.
