Big Strike at McCloud, Calif.

McCloud, Cal., May 29.—Seven hundred Italian laborers, employed by the McCloud River Lumber Company, have been on a strike for two days. About 200 of them attempted yesterday to take possession of the company's train going to the woods near Bartie, for the purpose of inducing the loggers there to join their ranks. Sheriff Howard, with 25 deputies, warned the strikers not to interfere with the train, which was carrying the mail. Thereupon they bought tickets and the company coupled onto the cars and carried them as passengers. On reaching the woods, the strikers induced all the loggers to quit work, Americans as well as Italians. The Americans stopped working through fear of violence, but did not join the strikers.

Between 1400 and 1500 men are now idle either from choice or fear. The tieup is complete, the company's two saw mills, planing mills, box factory and logging camps are all being closed. The company has been cutting half a million feet of lumber daily. No violence has occurred yet, and none is anticipated. While Sheriff Howard and his deputies remain on the ground.

The Italians demand an increase of pay of from 25 to 50 cents a day according to their positions, and the privilege of trading at any store they please. They are now receiving $1.75 and $2 a day. They also demand that they may draw their wages at any time, without discounting them at the company's bank.

The demands of the strikers will be considered at a meeting of the directors in the East.

Steamer Cowin Safe.

Seattle, Washington, May 29.—Cable advices received here last night state that the steamer Cowin, the first vessel of the Nome fleet, has reached port in safety. She left here May 10, carrying a full cargo of perishable freight, the winter's accumulation of mill and 100 passengers.

The telephone girl sits in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues, she knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, she knows every girl who chases the boys; she knows who owes money and who pay their bills. She knows all our cares and she knows all our ills. She knows of our troubles, she knows of our strife, she knows every man who is mean to his wife. She knows who is truthful, she knows who tells lies, she knows who is married and when the stork flies. She knows every time we get out with the boys, she knows every woman who has a dark past, she knows every man who's inclined to be fast; in fact there's a secret nesth each saucy curl of that quiet demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl would tell all that she knows, it would turn half our friends into bitterest foes; she would sow a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she would tell go a story (which gaining in force), would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she could get all the churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing nights; in fact she could keep the whole town in a stew if she told the tenth part of the things that she knew. Now doesn't it make your head whirl when you think what you owe the telephone girl.

The Coos Bay News

Dr. and Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. E. O'Connell arrived from Portland last week. Mrs. Richardson, nee Edna O'Connell, intends spending the summer with relatives on the bay.

Fifteen members of the engineer corps of the U. S. Artillery, under command of Lieut. Tyndall, arrived here last Thursday from Vancouver, and will prepare war and navy departments. They are camped near the race track, and will make headquarters here for the present.

Taylor Siglin's house on Isthmus slough was totally destroyed by fire last Friday. Nobody was in the house at the time the fire broke out, but it is generally supposed that a spark from the stovepipe caught on the roof. When noticed, the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be saved from the building, which, with its contents, is a total loss. The house was an old one, having been built many years ago by T. A. King, when he was owner of the place.

A portion of Commercial Avenue was filled last week by the dredge and some of the lots adjoining were also filled in. The dredge has lately been working in pure sand, which packs hard and makes excellent filling for street foundations. Work on the channel between the cold storage and Centerville will soon be commenced, and it will be dredged to a depth of 18 feet at low water, the same as the channel along the Marshfield waterfront. It is estimated that the present appropriation will keep the dredge in operation until the end of December at least, by which time a great improvement will have been effected.

The Commissioner of the General Land office has canceled the homestead entry of Claude L. Kidder, of Roseburg, who wanted to homestead 143 acres of valuable land in Eastside, owned by Henry Songstaken. Kidder should learn from this that there is nothing in kidding with property that belongs to other people.

Myrtle Point Enterprise.

Along with the other signs of awakening in Myrtle Point is talk of reorganizing the band. There is good musical talent in the city and there is no reason why the Fourth of July, ball games and other events should not be enlivened with good music.

Mr. Otto Groke, of the North Bend Cigar company, cigar manufacturer, and Miss Bonnie Whittington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whittington of the South Fork were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Thos. Barklow of this city performing the marriage ceremony. Only relatives of the contracting parties were present. Mr. and Mrs. Groke will make their home at North Bend, for which place they left on the morning train.

Mr and Mrs. Krantz welcomed a daughter to their home at Gravel Ford on Saturday, the 22nd.

The stage company is making excellent time in their trip between Roseburg and Myrtle Point. The stage arrived at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening and has been arriving at about that hour quite regularly.

Mrs. Chas. Adams and Miss Kate Farber, of Myrtle Point, were in Coquille last Friday, guests of Mrs. Elwood Barey.

Why does the being we call a "gentleman" wear around his neck a band of spotless whiteness and unbearable stiffness, at his wrists similar instruments of torture and before his chest a rigidly starched linen plate? No one outside of a madhouse would call these articles of apparel agreeable. There is for the custom no reason at all drawn from comfort, hygiene or usefulness. There is, however, the ghost of a dead reason. Once upon a time a "gentleman" was presumed to do no work, and he dressed to show this by putting on these visible signs that he never soiled his hands, sweated his neck or bent his noble back. It matters not that we no longer believe in this definition of a gentleman. We did believe once. It ghost rules on. No man is bold enough to appear in society without this impossible harness. Only a professional humorist like Mark Twain or some one who wishes to pose as a mild lunatic dares rebel. Addison said that the man who would clothe himself according to common sense would find himself in jail within a week.—Frank Crane in Atlantic.

Five hundred thousand acres of land in the Big Bend country, west of Spokane, are adapted to irrigation, according to Frederick H. Newell, director of the government reclamation service. He announced that a survey had been completed, showing it is possible to reclaim this acreage and supply it with moisture by seventy miles of canals, using water from the Spokane river. On the basis of two acres for each person this project would support a population of 250,000, making it also the largest single tract in the world, a distinction now held by Idaho with the Boise-Payette project of 200,000 acres. He said the only reason the reclamation service does not undertake the work now is that it has not the funds to complete such a large project. "But," he added, "it will be done some time and the entire West will benefit as a result of this undertaking and others contemplated by the government in other parts of the country."—Ev.

Memorial Services.

The people of this city observed Sunday as Decoration Day. A very nice and appropriate program was rendered at the Masonic Hall in the presence of a large throng, including a very interesting, forceful and patriotic oration by Dr. G. H. Fesse of the M. E. Church, after which the people repaired to the cemeteries with their loads of flowers and decked the little green mounds which mark the resting place of friends the memory of whom will never fade from them as long as they remain on this earth.

At Bandon Monday was observed as Decoration Day, and in response to an invitation a goodly number of the local Post, G. A. R. and W. R. C. went to the sea to take part with comrades and friends in the observance of the day. A very large crowd assembled. The procession was led by their brass band, and few if any larger assemblages have ever been together at that place on any occasion.

WHERE WORLD'S WORKS OF ART WILL BE HOUSED AT A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

In this building will be exhibited many priceless paintings. The display will represent the art galleries of the world, for many of these pictures will be the work of the old masters, including rare art exhibits from the Corcoran in Washington, the Art Museum in New York, the Chicago Art Institute and from a large number of private galleries of wealthy men in the United States and Europe, who have for years made the collection of famous old paintings their hobby. Paris and London have made large loans.

At the Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition the selection of pictures will be limited to the works of men who have been recognized in the great art competitions in all parts of the world. Many American artists will be represented in the display in the Fine Arts Palace at the Exposition and arrangements have already been made for the shipping of these valuable paintings from art institutes of this country to Seattle.

G. L. Berg, art director of the Exposition, has visited all of the leading galleries of the United States, collecting the pictures suitable for display at Seattle, and writes that the pictures already loaned will constitute one of the greatest art displays assembled for international exhibition.

The Fine Arts Building is a fireproof structure and was one of the first buildings completed on the Exposition grounds. It cost more than $200,000 to erect the building.
