Celebration at Myrtle Point.

A representative of the HERALD attended the celebration at Myrtle Point last Saturday, and without hesitation he must say that the affair was a complete success in every particular. The parade was magnificent, the arrangements were perfect, the program was fine, the vocal music was simply grand, and as to the band music it is too well known that Myrtle Point is always efficient in that line when the boys get together and make an effort, hence it is not necessary to say they did well. The first band in Coos county was organized at Myrtle Point, and the musical talent of the Schroeder, Herman, Volkmar and Dietz families of that section are yet in evidence, though the heads of those families have passed away.

The flag drill by a dozen or more little girls was a very interesting event, and Miss Hall's address in the guise of a "Colored Lady" was very interesting. And he noted Miss Hermann who presided at the piano fully carried out the idea that all the old settlers of that German element above referred to as having formed the first band in the county, were musicians of the first order.

The oration by Rev. Pearson was one of the best that was ever delivered in Coos county, was the verdict of all who heard him. It was replete in the description of the present conditions of the affairs of our nation and its possibilities, full of patriotism and inspiring. Mr. Pearson is a young man of culture, and any one can see that he has a brilliant career before him. His address deserves a place among the classes, and if published we believe that it will find its way to the records of the masterful orations. The dinner with barbecue was splendid, as every one knows this prolific country can give. The ball game was interesting, and the trials of speed were of a better class than could be expected. There were about two thousand persons present, the largest gathering that was ever held at Myrtle Point. As we were obliged to return on the three o'clock train we are not able to report the evening program, but we have no doubt but that the festivities continued to a late hour.

A Pleasant Visit.

While at Myrtle Point at the festival of the national day, the HERALD representative visited the home of Orvil Dodge, the well known writer and journalist, and found that he has one of the cosiest studies that possibly can be found in the county. The walls were decorated with choice engravings and photographs of great merit. There was evidence of his late labors in compiling a pamphlet of describing Coos county lying around his type machine, and we were glad to learn that he had recovered from his illness that had hovered over him the last two weeks. We noticed some of the classics stowed away in his library, and historical works that should adorn every book case in the land. Myself and a friend enjoyed a rest for a time from the excitement of the day, and were loath to leave the author and journalist, but parties were waiting for us to join them and we were obliged to meet them.

Stirring Up The Dairyman.

Speaking before a farmers' institute a prominent eastern dairyman is reported as saying: "Weighing a cow's milk may not make her give more, but it may cause you to put a better one in her place and so put more money in your pocket. Get a set of scales, weigh each cow's milk and keep a record of it the year through."

This is the plan being urged, with prizes running high in the thousands offered in one of the corn belt states to the cows which show the best butter fat yield at the end of a year. Confession being good for the soul, it must be admitted the plan is not original, but is borrowed from Danish dairymen. The first dairy testing associating in Denmark was founded in 1895 for the purpose of ascertaining and, if possible, increasing the productiveness of herds. A tester was employed and regular monthly and yearly reports made of the productiveness of each cow. Good results were not slow in coming. It was found, for instance that one cow gave 10,183 pounds of milk at a cost of $63, while another gave only 4098 pounds at a cost of $50. The moral was obvious and the lesson quickly learned. In the thirteen years since that first association was formed the average yearly yield per cow in Denmark has been raised from 5452 pounds of milk, averaging 3.3 per cent butter fat, to 7776 pounds of milk, averaging 3.52 per cent butter fat. Today instead of one association, with its few cows there are over 450 associations, with over 170,000 cows.

American dairymen need not be ashamed to imitate in so good a cause. Already the dairy industry stands second among departments of farm work, the dairy output being more valuable than any crop except corn and equal to one-third of all the cereals grown in all the states and territories. Every twelve months American cows add approximately $800,000,000 to the wealth of the nation. Double the production and the value of the nation's corn crop will be left far behind. And that it is possible to double the butter fat average few can doubt, in view of the report by Prof. Wilber J. Fraser, chief of dairy husbandry of the University of Illinois, that while the average of all the cows tested in Illinois produced 216 pounds of butter fat, still "the poorest fourth of the cows in Illinois made a profit of only 77 cents a cow per year and we have tested four herds where the average of all the cows was below the average for the poorest fourth in the state."

The fact is, the dairying industry has long needed just such a stirring up as this offering of prizes and introduction of Danish methods seems likely to produce. New York leads the nation in the dairy industry, with an annual yield of approximately 775,000,000 gallons of milk, with Iowa second with approximately 550,000,000 gallons, while the annual value of dairy products in each of the six states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio exceeds $25,000,000,000. Each year the dairies of the nation produce a billion and a half pounds of butter; but these totals, immense as they are, might have been far larger. Cow culture clubs, dairy demonstration trains, dairy days at farmers' institutes and Chautauqua assemblies and prizes honestly offered and justly awarded are confidently relied on to show results which will mean the cutting out of nonproductive animals and the formation of herds which will make the profit reported by Professor Fraser sink into insignificance—Iowa Homestead.

Ellingsen-Sweet.

Last Tuesday, June 29, an ideal wedding took place at the old home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sweet near Lampa, when their eldest daughter, Miss Pearl was united in marriage to our popular young townsman, Mr. Edwin Ellingsen. Extensive decorations were made and the sacred ceremony was appropriately solemnized under the beautiful maple trees in front of the country home.

Enclosing the two rows of seats, arranged under the trees for the fifty invited guests, was a wall of fir shrubbery, intertwined with roses and ferns, and through the center of this enclosure an aisle decorated on either side with brake and white roses, led to the wedding arch. Along this path and just preceding the bride little Berdian Feese scattered rose petals. Mr. Sweet gave his daughter away and Rev. G. H. Feese of the M. E. church of this city performed the official duties at exactly 12:00 o'clock.

After the ceremony and the usual congratulations, the guests were seated to a bounteous wedding repast, the married and the single guests being served at different tables.

The young people were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ellingsen are well known and highly respected here. The groom is the second son of Captain and Mrs. O. P. Ellingsen, pioneer residents of the lower river, and enjoys the esteem of all who know him, while the bride is the accomplished daughter of our townspeople Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sweet. Although this is her home Miss Sweet has spent most of the past three years attending school at Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellingsen departed for Myrtle Point by private conveyance and later will visit the fair at Seattle. The young couple will move into their modern and very cozy home which has just been completed on Spurgeon hill, and we understand Mr. Ellingsen will continue his work of boat building in this city.

To these excellent young people the HERALD with a host of friends extend, the best of wishes.

Celebration Accidents.

While none of the Coos county accidents which occurred during our late celebrating seem to be of a very serious nature, we have not escaped entirely free. On the afternoon of the 3rd Walter Robison, Miss Dell Clinton and Miss Opal Sanders, of Norway, started for the ball at Sumner and near Rinck creek their horses shied at some sacks of cement which lay near the road and became unmanageable and in making a short turn on rough ground, threw the occupants from the vehicle. Mr. Robison was thrown on his back, but hung onto the lines with indomitable grit till the horses slowed up, though the whole back of his coat was cut into shreds by the gravel in the road, and he was otherwise considerably bruised. Miss Dell Clinton was thrown forward between the horses and the rig, and her feet and clothing caught in the doubletree and she was dragged in a precarious position, one wheel of the vehicle running so close to her head that it took great effort on her part to keep it from striking her. She was severely bruised from head to foot, one ankle being sprained, necessitating a pair of crutches. Miss Sanders came off more luckily, being very little hurt.

At Sumner, Deputy Sheriff Gage took part in a little shooting at the gallery, and the bullet from the 22 he was using found its way through the back-stop and lodged in the leg of a young son of S. B. Cutlips. The boy was taken to Marshfield where Dr. Straw examined the limb and found that the missile had not even entered the flesh.

On the evening of the second Pearly Lund, of Marshfield, was fired upon by Crow Kieth in a mock hold-up and severely burned about the face by a blank cartridge.

Everyone would be benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative for constipation, stomach and liver trouble, as it sweetens the stomach and breath, gently stimulates the liver and regulates the bowels and is much superior to pills and ordinary laxatives. Why not try Foley's Orino Laxatives today? C. J. Fuhrman.

Base Ball.

Marshfield lost both games Saturday and Sunday. One to Coquille and one to North Bend. The scores were nine to one and seven to five respectively.

In Saturday's game Kelley was in the box for Coquille, while Gardiner, the regular twirler, played first base. Had Monahan not struck out a two bagger, which was followed by a single by Cowan in the eighth, Marshfield would have failed to score.

Sunday's game was a contest of eleven innings, being prolonged by errors, etc. Hull did good pitching for North Bend, having held Marshfield down to five hits and getting fourteen strike outs. In the ninth the score stood five to three, when McDonald landed a two bagger, bringing in two runners. All in all, Marshfield's playing was full of errors, which caused the fans to feel pretty badly disgusted with the showing they made in these two games.

In the game played at Myrtle Point last Saturday between the Myrtle Point and North Bend teams, the former were the victors by a score of 4 to 6.

At Sumner last Saturday, Fairview defeated Eastside by a score of 22 to 2.

The game played here last Sunday between Coquille and Myrtle Point was a good one in every respect and was won by Coquille by a score of 6 to 2. The following is the lineup and summary of the game:

Of Interest to Farmers and Mechanics

Farmers and mechanics frequently meet with slight accidents and injuries which cause them much annoyance and loss of time. A cut or bruise may be cured in about one third the time usually required by applying Chamberlain's Liniment as soon as the injury is received. This liniment is also valuable for sprains, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. There is no danger of blood poisoning resulting from an injury when Chamberlain's Liniment is applied before the parts become inflamed and swollen. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.
