An Error.

In last week's issue of this paper there was an error made in the display ad. of O. Wilson & Co. The first line of the ad. read "Closed Out," when it should have read "Crowded Out." This enterprising firm has no intention whatever of closing out their business here, and the mistake was wholly the fault of the printer. They are now stationed in their new place of business in the Woodman building, where they will be pleased to meet all their old as well as new customers. They are continually adding to their already large stock and it is their intention to carry as large and good a stock of goods as any like firm in this part of the state. In addition to this they will carry in their old place of business on Main street a large and complete stock of groceries, feed, etc. Give the firm a call and you will be treated right.

Mrs. Stone's Body Found.

The body of Mrs. Stone, the aged North Bend woman, who mysteriously disappeared several weeks ago, was found near the old cemetery near Empire this morning by Mr. Coleman of North Bend, who headed one of the parties that renewed the search yesterday when the basket and clothing belonging to the missing lady were discovered.

The body was badly decomposed. It was lying in a dried up pool near the old cemetery and about ten rods distant from the point where the basket was found yesterday.

Death was evidently due to exposure.—Coos Bay Times.
