Funeral of a Pioneer.

The funeral of William W. Hayes took place at the Masonic cemetery in this city June 30th, when was laid to his last rest one of the best known pioneers of this part of the state. A large throng of his friends gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom they had learned to love and respect. Rev. S. B. Hollenbeck, whom he had intimately known for thirty years, preached the funeral sermon. The deceased was 83 years of age last February.

Mr. Hayes, with his good wife by his side, experienced all the vicissitudes, hardships and dangers which befel the pioneer who crossed the plains by team fifty years ago. He was a successful trader with the Indians, while altercations were not always avoidable, and he knew more of their traits, traditions and language than most men who came among them in earlier days.

W. W. Hayes was born in Ohio, February, 27, 1826. In 1844 he moved with his parents to Indiana, where he was united in marriage to Miss Martha Huntington in 1847.

In 1852 he left Indiana for Oregon, crossing the plains with an ox team, being accompanied by his wife and three children. One child, Sarah, died on the plains. He first settled at Monticello, Wash., where he engaged in the mercantile business.

In 1868, he, with his family moved to Oakland, Douglas county, Oregon, where he continued in the same occupation for six years, then moving to Coos county, Oregon, still following the mercantile business at Coquille City, Oregon.

He served three terms as treasurer of Coos county at the expiration of which he lived a retired life. His loving and faithful wife preceded him in death three years, having died July 21, 1906, and since that time he has lived with his children. He leaves five children to mourn his death. They are:

Mrs. Amanda J. Snyder of Marshfield, Mrs. Maria L. Sterling of Silverton, Mr. James S. Hayes of Myrtle Point, Mr. Everett E. Hayes of North Bend and Mrs. Mary W. Jenkins of Bellingham, Wash. One daughter, Mrs. Cynthia A. Hunt, died June 1, 1907, at Springfield, Oregon.

He united with the Christian church when a young man, and lived a Christian life ever since, being a firm believer in God and a strong advocate of the cause of temperance.

War in South America.

Valparaiso, Chili, July 12.—It is believed here that war between Peru and Bolivia is imminent because of the disorders at Papaz, following the decision handed down by Argentina in the boundary dispute between the two countries. The Chilean admiralty said today that Chili will remain neutral, but she is preparing to send warships for the protection of Chilean interests.

PANSIES AND POSIES EVERYWHERE AT A-Y-P. EXPOSITION.

In the foreground of the picture is shown the bank which slopes up from Geyser Basin at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, Seattle. Upon it have been planted 200,000 tufted pansy plants, and close up to the ballustrades high-growing plants of bright blossom.

Above Geyser Basin can be seen the banks of the Cascades, and around these are growing 100,000 rose bushes, so selected that there will be a rotation of blooms throughout the Exposition.

More Railroad News.

The following clipping from the Journal (Black Hills, S. D.) speaks for itself:

"Mr. Haines, who was formerly the locating engineer of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co., in Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, has made a proposition to the Coos Bay, Oregon & Idaho Railway Co., which was recently organized by the people of Coos Bay, to survey and build a steam railroad between Coos Bay and some point at or near Roseburg, Oregon, to have the road completed and in operation in two years from May 15, 1910. The condition exacted by Mr. Haines is that the local company furnish the money to make the survey and right of way, but he agrees that this is to be repaid to the persons advancing it when those whom he represents take the road over and commences its construction. The people of Coos Bay have accepted the proposition and the banks of Marshfield and North Bend, as well as many of the business men and property owners, have furnished the means to comply with the conditions as to the survey and right of way.

"Mr. Haines and a crew of men, most of whom have worked under him on the Northwestern system in the Black Hills in Wyoming for many years, are already in the field and the work of making the survey is being pushed rapidly. Mr. Haines' backers are unknown, but from his previous connection, it is believed a powerful combination is interested in opening up Central Oregon."

Instantly Killed.

Thomas W. Wilson, who came to this section from Canada, was instantly killed at the camp of Emmett Pierce, eight miles above Allegany, on Coos river, on Friday afternoon, of which the Coos Bay Times gives the following account of the accident:

Last evening Wilson quit work a few minutes before 6 o'clock and started to walk down the skidway, the long chute through which the heavy logs are shot to the water. He evidently presumed that all the logs had been sent down for the afternoon. However, just before 6 o'clock, another log came down and it was decided to kick it down the skidway. As it is customary, the engineer blew the whistle as the signal that a log was coming down the skidway.

Wilson was quite aways down when he heard the whistle. He stopped on the elevated chute and looked around. Ralph Noel was on the roadway near the chute and called to Wilson to get off as a log was coming. Wilson was apparently dazed and was slow to get off, but finally started to get over on the side and climb down.

Just then the log came down at a terrific clip. When near Wilson it struck something and turned, bounding out of the regular channel and striking him with awful force.

He was killed instantly, his head and body being badly crushed.
