Visits This Section.

State Labor Commissioner O. P. Hoff, of Salem, arrived in Coos county one day last week and spent several days looking over the various factories and different institutions driven by power plants, and where a considerable number of persons are employed. He informs us that the duty of the factory inspector is becoming more and more of an agreeable one, as the proprietors become acquainted with the law as they should. The justness of the law holding the proprietors of factories responsible for accidents which can be averted by using the proper precautions. Parties who at first protested against these officers visiting their places, now send for them at the slightest changes made in machinery, and get their approval of the arrangements before taking chances of hurting someone at their own risk. These gentlemen make a study of placing machinery in such a way as to reduce the danger of being hurt from it to a minimum, and the proprietors are now becoming glad to shift the responsibility to some one else. That in the main, accidents have been greatly reduced, cannot be denied.

Mill Started Monday.

Aasen Bros., the well known and successful logging firm, who have been doing a good business in this valley for a few years, having leased the mill of the Coquille Mill & Mercantile Co., of this city, steamed it up and started the wheels turning last Monday.

This mill had been idle since January, and the buzzing of the saws and chimes of the whistle are welcome sounds to the residents hereabouts. Though the old mill does not present a very pleasing appearance, the working parts were found to be in fairly good order and soon showed their ability to cut lumber when steam was raised. This will mean employment for upwards of one hundred men, at the mill and in the woods, which is no small item added to the industry of the community, and these young men should receive the hearty support of all in their venture.

The Woman's Study Club.

The first meeting of the club for work, was held with Mrs. Rogers on Saturday, the 23rd, a short program being rendered during the afternoon. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Belloni, November 6th, work having been assigned under the head of the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

Miss Lottie Pope is Dead.

Geo. O. Pope, of Norway, a few days ago received the sad intelligence of the death of his sister, Lottie E. Pope, which occurred at Zortman, Montana, May 6th. The news was delayed on account of a misunderstanding in regard to Mr. Pope's address by the nurse at the hospital where Miss Pope was treated. However, by constant effort, writing and wiring for four months, the nurse succeeded in finding his location, a letter reaching him last week. Too much praise cannot be given C. R. French, for his persistent efforts in thus searching the friend of one who departs this life in a strange land. The cause of death was stated to have been bright's disease.

The many friends of Miss Pope throughout this valley will be sorry to learn of her sad taking away so early in life, and will sincerely sympathize with her relatives in their sad bereavement.

Railroad Crossings.

There seems to be a misunderstanding regarding the rights of parties through whose lands railroads are constructed.

At the last session of the legislature the following statute was enacted:

"Any person who shall intentionally or negligently leave open or unfastened any farm crossing gate, or let down and leave down any bars of any railroad fence shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding ten days in the county jail, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and justices of the peace shall have original jurisdiction hereof."

While it is incumbent upon the railroad company to fence its right of way and place gates at the farm crossings, it will be seen by the foregoing statute, which became a law May 23rd, 1909, that it is the duty of those controlling the land where farm crossings are permitted to keep the gates closed; and to leave them open either "intentionally or negligently" is a misdemeanor under the statute.

Normal Span of Life, 150 Years.

New York, Oct. 22.—The normal span of human life is 150 years, according to a remarkable study by Professor Fisher, of Yale, which has just been published by the National Conservation Commission at Washington. Professor Fisher shows that the length of man's existence is steadily growing, both in this country and Europe, with the progress of science, sanitation and social betterment, and declares that the span of 150 years will not be long impossible of attainment.

The investigations by Metchnikoff are quoted by Professor Fisher, to show that the average normal span should be 150 years. Mammals, generally, he pointed out, live five times their growing period. Man's period of growth is 30 years, and, according to that, he should live for 150 years. The present average duration of life is stated at 38 years. Two cases of persons who lived to great ages are: Drakenberg, a Norwegian, who died at the age of 146 years, and Mrs. Mary L. Wood, of Hillsboro, Or., 119 years old, both of which are authentic.

Geo. McIntosh is Wounded.

George McIntosh, who resides at the McIntosh ranch near the Coos River Creamery, yesterday sustained serious injuries by a shell exploding in a rifle that he was looking over. One arm was badly lacerated and his face and eyes quite severely injured by powder burns.

The accident was an unusual one and is hard to explain. Mr. McIntosh was at Allegany and met an acquaintance who had a new 30-30 Savage. He stopped to examine it and in pumping a shell in to ascertain what kind of action it had, the cartridge evidently caught and fouled, exploding. The trigger could not go down as the magazine was open. The back of the shell struck him on the wrist and tore a bad wound, the powder almost blinding him for a time.

Dr. Mings who attended him does not anticipate any lasting ill-effects from the injury.—Times.

All Convicts Captured.

Salem, Or., Oct. 19.—With the capture Monday afternoon of Mike Nicholich and Albert Murray near Independence, the most thrilling man hunt since the days of Tracy came to an end. The remains of the two most desperate convicts of the five who escaped from the penitentiary guards Friday, Duncan and Carter, lie in the penitentiary morgue as the result of wounds received at the hands of the posses. Nicholich and Ferris occupy cots in the hospital ward, each having received gunshot wounds. Murray occupies a dungeon cell. Murray gave himself up last night just before Nicholich was taken.

Neither Nicholich nor Murray, when captured, put up a fight. No gun was found on them, and each maintains he never had a weapon. Nicholich ran for more than a mile last night, and finally gave himself up, but not until he had been wounded in the shoulder and thigh.

T. B. Lane of this city, who had been at the Bay for some weeks working at the Smith mill, returned Friday to take charge of the head saws in the mill here which started Monday. He tells us of quite an accident which happened at the Smith mill the morning he came away. The crank pin of one of the large one-thousand horsepower engines broke with the usual result. The piston went through the cylinder carrying out the back head, throwing it to the other side of the large engine room. Luckily there was no one in line with the cylinder and no damage was done but the injuries to the engine, which were easily repaired with the well equipped machine shops at the mill. The one side not defected by the break kept on running.

We have both new and second hand in the following lines, dressers, commodes, iron and wood beds, bed springs, mattresses, floor matting, sewing machines, in fact almost everything needed for the house or camp.
