Killed on River Craft.

Ernest Cutlip, a well-known Coos bay young man, was killed in an accident on the steamer Oshkosh on the Columbia river yesterday.

No particulars were given in the message and up to a late hour today the father and relatives had been unable to obtain any detailed information.

Mr. Cutlip left here on the Oshkosh about three weeks ago, going as assistant engineer on the craft which had just been completed here for the Columbia river and Tillamook run.

He was born and raised near the bay and for several years had been running his father's gasoline boat and working on other crafts around the bay.

The deceased was twenty-one years old last April. Besides his father, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Louis Wirth, Mrs. John Krick and Miss Minnie Cutlip, all residents of the bay.

The body will be shipped here for burial.—Coos Bay Times.

Mr. Cutlip was a grandson of our townsmen, B. H. Haskin.

Fortunately future explorers will have cartoons of the North Pole by which to recognize it.

Twenty more boxes of skins from Africa marked "T. R." and not the hide of a single trust in the lot.

The Eskimo name for Peary is Pe-uk, which must be all right, as it sounds so much like peanut.

It is rumored that the "To Let" sign will soon be displayed from the front door of the King's palace at Athens.

If China starts a lottery system, it may be very hard to tell whether a ticket calls for a prize or last week's laundry.

Dr. Cook is a democrat, so he is not apt to have the North Pole postmastership thrust upon him as an administration reward of merit.

As if the prospect of settlement were not already remote enough, it is hinted that Messrs. Peary and Cook may carry their dispute to the courts.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 5.—Tatem Parsons, the first engineer of the famous locomotive "John Bull" now in the National Museum at Washington, died here yesterday. He was 90 years old.

DROWNING AT MYRTLE POINT

Binger Hermann, Jr., Loses His Life in an Attempt at Crossing the South Fork.

Word has reached us of the sad drowning of Binger Hermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hermann, who live a few miles above Myrtle Point on the South Fork, which we understand occurred while he was attempting to cross that stream at the Hartley ford on horseback.

There was no witness to the accident, but his horse which succeeded in gaining the shore was found near by, and his hat also was found drifting onto the bank not far from the ford, which are mute witnesses to the tragic death of the young man.

It was Sunday night, or rather, Monday morning about 1 o'clock when he was drowned, but it was not learned until that evening he was missing, and a number of men are now searching for the remains.

The deceased was a native son of Coos county, 26 years, 7 months and 7 days old at the time of his death, and was unmarried. His parents and several brothers and sisters are left to mourn his sad and untimely taking off.

Good Cough Medicine for Children and Grown Folks too.

"We could hardly do without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Mrs. Flora Despain of Bloyd, Ky.

"I found it to be so good for croup and have used it for years. I can heartily recommend it for coughs, colds and croup in children and grown folks, too."

The above shows the implicit confidence that many mothers place in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a confidence based on many years' experience in the use of it.

No one need hesitate to use this remedy, for it contains no chloroform, opium or other narcotics and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult.

John Preuss Dead.

On Friday J. M. Blake telephoned from San Francisco to the bay that John Preuss, the well-known Marshfield druggist, had passed away.

Mr. Preuss had been in declining health for several years, and while his passing was no surprise, it was a great shock to his numerous friends throughout the county, endeared to him through his sterling worth as a business man and neighbor.

The deceased was born in Germany, and came to America when young. He came west, arriving at Coos bay in 1883, since when he worked for others for a time, but eventually acquired a business of his own.

Mr. Preuss was twice married, the first wife being a daughter of the late C. H. Merchant, she passing over in 1894, and the latter, Miss Agnes Gibbs, who survives him, as well as three children by his first marriage, and his aged mother who lives in Marshfield and three brothers and one sister.

The body will be brought to the bay for interment which will probably take place the latter part of the week.

New Blacksmith Shop.

William Cox and son, Lester, who recently moved up to this place from near Port Orford, have opened the blacksmith shop in the W. C. Rose building on Second street and are now ready for business.

The junior Mr. Cox is the mechanic of the firm and is well known on the upper river, having worked at Myrtle Point where he gained a reputation as a horseshoer in particular, and also that of an around workman who spares no pains to please his customers.

Mr. Cox will be assisted by H. H. Grinnold, a late arrival from Cornelius, a valley town near Portland, who is a good mechanic, having worked at that trade for many years.

Wagon and all farm work will receive prompt attention.

M. E. Church, South.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Solace for Weary Reapers." At night the subject will be "Zacchaeus." Special music at both services of the day.

You are always welcome here.

A Talk on Drug Store Purchases.

PROBABLY there is no class of merchandise on which you must depend so much on the integrity and business honor of a store as when buying Drug Store Goods. Few of us have the opportunity to become competent judges of the real value of the majority of things sold in a Drug Store and misrepresentation is easy, and, alas—not infrequent. Here you buy with a comforting assurance that the goods are just what the label says. We do business on strictly business principles which will certainly appeal to you.
