OUT FOR ANOTHER CRAFT

If any member of the Oregon delegation supports the Ship Subsidy graft, now on its way in the house at Washington, he will misrepresent the sentiment of his state. If the subsidy scheme were submitted to a vote of the people of this state it would be beaten to death. If any Oregon member were to make his campaign for election strictly on his advocacy of the measure he would be defeated by an avalanche of ballots. It is a scheme for which the common people of the country have absolutely no use, and which they would indignantly repudiate if they had an opportunity to do so. It is a scheme to open the national treasury to another graft, a graft that as soon as the opening wedge has entered, will increase, as all grafts do, into enormous proportions. It is the payment of public dollars to rich ship owners as a further means of making their business pay. The sums the federal government is asked to contribute on this folly would better be applied on the wagon roads of the country, in which enterprise every man, woman and child in the nation would be benefited. If the federal government has a right to contribute for ships it has as good a right to improve the roads, and in promoting the roads the benefits would go, not to the few rich, but to the many poor and rich alike.

But it is said the subsidy graft has a good chance of passage. That it will do so is likely, for it is the habit of representative bodies to misrepresent the wishes of the great body of the people, and to distribute the favors to the few. The few powerful set their trained lobbyists to work on representative bodies all the way from city councils to the congress of the United States, and they seem always to get results.

They secure legislation, for instance like the heavy duty for the sugar trust, and how little that legislation was deserved is seen in the $18,000,000 to $30,000,000 stolen from the government by this same beneficiary through short weights at the ports of entry. For the purpose of piling up dollars in the coffers of this rascally corporation, congress, and a body representing the people, raising the cost of sugar in every dining table in the land. If the same body, now passes the subsidy graft, no one need be surprised, but in the mean time it will be interesting to watch the votes of Oregon members on the bill.—Oregon Journal.

M. E. Church South.

The condition of the church is good in every department, and attendance at preaching services is excellent. Next Sunday the pastor will preach at both services, and special music will be rendered. Everybody invited. Remember, we make the night service short and cheery. Spend your Sunday evenings with us.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The $9 hog arrived today of the Union Stock Yards here, and his coming marked an epoch in high prices. With the exception of a short period in 1882 when swine sold at $9.35 per hundredweight, the $9 hog has not been seen here since the Civil War. Continued intense cold impeding transportation, and apparent hesitation of producers to market their hogs are the chief causes of the abnormal advance.

See the play at the Heazlet tomorrow night.

BILLY SCHROEDER, COQUILLE, ORE

In Memoriam.

Died.—At the home of his mother, near Bridge, of typhoid fever, Charlie Floyd Williams, on January 6, 1909. Charlie was born August 16, 1894, and was 15 years, 4 months and 22 days old at the time of his death.

Excepting four years spent in Curry county, he has lived at the home of his birth. He was industrious, upright and honest, loved and respected by all who knew him.

On December 21, 1909, just 16 days before he departed this life, his father, Luther Williams, was called to proceed him to the great beyond. Just when the home was already darkened, when the dear mother so needed her boy, God called him home. We know not why, but God in his wisdom knows why he needed him in the other world.

When we reach the river of death and all around us seems darkness, Charlie's may be the one outstretched to grasp our poor trembling hands and guide our stumbling, faltering feet through the golden gate, where all is joy, peace and love. No parting there.

In the home so desolate, where it seems all hearts are crushed with sadness, little Arthur, age 10 years, and Lewis, age 6, are battling with the same dreaded disease, typhoid. —A FRIEND.

A Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, as directed, a cure may as a rule be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days. Sold by R. S. Knowlton.
