The plan of some of the leading members of the Republican party to establish the assembly plan of conducting the coming campaign, is not meeting with the approval of all the members of the party, but it is expected that all will be adjusted satisfactorily by election time. The intention of the advocates of the assembly plan claim that all they are working for is a thorough understanding and concerted action on the part of their party so as to be assured of their full strength being brought to bear upon each candidate, while some are inclined to think it is drifting back too near like the old convention plan when wing-pullers controlled the choosing of candidates, and are in favor of the new primary election way of choosing candidates.

The city council of Coquille has ordered from Ballard, Washington, 500 feet of conduit pipe to be used in taking in another stream to our water supply. With the improvements being made to our water system it is not probable that any restrictions will be put on the use of water for irrigating yards, so if you don't have nice flowers it will not be for the want of water. There was a little complaint a short time ago about the water being dirty. It is not noticed since the new work is finished on the supply pipes and the reservoirs have been flushed and conditions are greatly improved—in fact, Coquille has a water system that any town might be proud of.

The Thirty-eighth annual reunion of the Pioneer Association of Oregon will take place at Portland on June 22nd. As many as possible of the old Oregon pioneers ought to get together on this occasion and enjoy each others association, as they know the time is drawing near when there will not be a sufficient number remaining to hold a reunion. This one should be made a rousing success.

The sad intelligence of the death by accident of John Morgan, Jr., at Modesto, California, recently has reached us. We are not in possession of the full particulars of the accident, but are informed that a flywheel in a machine shop in which he was working went to pieces and he was struck by a flying piece with fatal results. Mr. Morgan was about 30 years of age and was raised in Coos county, having lived on a farm near Norway, and also at Empire when his father was U. S. Collector of customs at the port of Coos Bay. This is a very sad occurrence, to be deplored by all, as Mr. Morgan was an exemplary young man of sterling qualities.
