INSURGENTS IN BIG MAJORITY

They Gain Thirty-Nine Nominations
While Assembly Wins but 12, Five Unopposed.

We give below an excerpt from the report of the Portland Evening Telegram of the late primary election in Multnomah county, which is as follows:

Of 47 nominations made in Republican primaries Saturday, the anti-assembly insurgent forces captured 32 and the assembly men 12. There is one nomination in doubt. Of 39 nominations where there was a contest the anti-assembly men secured 31. Of the 12 nominations obtained by the assembly candidates, five had no opposition, the assembly winning only seven contests. One anti-assembly candidate had no opposition. On the state ticket there were 16 nominations made, of which the assembly secured seven, but only four of these were saved in contests. The anti-assembly won six state nominations in contest. Two justices of the supreme court, T. A. McBride and F. A. Moore, while endorsed by the assembly, are not considered as assembly nominees, inasmuch as they were originally nominated in the lawyers' convention and were supported by anti-assembly voters. Therefore they are not listed as either the assembly or anti-assembly winners in the foregoing figures. The nomination of labor commissioner is in doubt.

In the county ticket the anti-assembly men secured 25 of the 31 nominations, whereas, of the six nominees of the county assembly ticket two have no opposition. The anti-assembly candidates for county judge was not opposed. On both state and county tickets the assembly people won eight contests, carrying four in the state and four in the county, out of a total of 39 contests.

These results are considered as a convincing resentment of the assemblies held by one faction of the Republican party in Oregon, at least in Multnomah county, which contains one-fourth of the registered Republican votes of the state. It is also considered that the anti-assembly element, the insurgents, is state wide, for only state nominations were obtained by the assembly men in contests, and in one of these, the Governorship, the insurgents were split by three candidates.

Oregon's Congressional nominations went to a stand-pat Republican in the first district, and to an insurgent in the second district. The assemblymen nominated Jay Bowerman, as the opposition failed to concentrate.

Multnomah's delegation for the legislature will be solidly insurgent, every nominee having subscribed to Statement No. 1.

Jay Bowerman was saved by the presence of three opponents, Dimmick, Hofer and Abraham. The vote given Abraham or Hofer would have nominated Dimmick.

Wade-Murphy Wedded.

C. R. Wade and Miss Margaret Murphy, both of Bandon, were married on the evening of Sept. 28 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James Cowan in this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Springer of North Bend. The couple left for Pendleton, where they will visit Mr. Wade's relatives, and on their return will reside at Bandon. The bride was a school teacher at Bandon and Mr. Wade also resides there. He is one of the leading attorneys of the place and is well known throughout the county. —Coos Bay Times.

You are not experimenting on yourself when you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold as that preparation has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. It is equally valuable for adults and children and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drugs. Sold by all dealers.

From Coos Bay.

In response to your request for an item of news shall mingle facts and opinions concerning one of the railroad situations concerning which little has been said, and probably few of your readers have thought, and by reading between lines, opinions may be formed.

Fact No. 1. The stockholders of the Southern Oregon Co. now have a chance to dispose of their interests to Elijah Smith at $15.00 per share.

Fact No. 2. Honorable William W. Crapo, of New Bedford, Massachusetts, one of the biggest owners in that company, has sold his holdings to Mr. Smith. Mr. Crapo is past eighty years of age, was a congressman and also a senator from the Bay State, and at one time expected to be elected governor of Massachusetts, while his father was once governor of Michigan.

This gentleman visited Coos Bay about twenty years ago, and was glad to meet the citizens, and from the questions he asked, I am sure he was not idle while on the Bay. This man of large affairs is the most important I have talked to, and we were, each and all, as interested as the acquaintances of my recent journey we would be a happier people. Circumstances, for want of a better word, to give an opinion on railroad matters, cause me to diverge a little. Come with me to Long Beach, California, into a restaurant, that on Sunday you would have to wait for, perhaps an hour to get a table, or a seat at one. The people conducting this up-to-date place were formerly in the employment of Col. Hamilton in Wichita, Kansas, and when their employer sold the hotel, he asked the Santa Fe people where he could go to find a good pioneer location out west. The answer was, "Go to Coos Bay." Various changes have taken place in fifteen years with the same railroad, and a sad one to Col. Hamilton, which prevented him from going into business, but I did get him to visit the Bay about six years ago, and some at North Bend and Marshfield will remember as a gentleman who enjoyed a good time.

Reader, take your map and trace the Santa Fe railroad to the Pacific coast, and if you find timber on the line of travel, it is in the form of building material, cut ready for use and likely unloaded from the cars of another line, possibly being from ships in San Francisco Bay.

The first in California furnishes about the sum total of the freight carried east, hence, the desire of this road to reach Coos Bay for direct connection with the timber, as the forest are not apparently moving southward.

Why do people write to the department of agriculture, or other departments of the United States for statistics about Coos county? Something doing somewhere to cause this. Another question. Please, tell me, are we all too busy to give the information? This is about the only place in the country without a crop reporter. Oh, poor Coos. How patriotic we are. Could not each school district contribute monthly the desired information to some central point from which it would be faithfully reported to the proper Department. The suggestion is thrown by me toward the county superintendent of schools.

I will tell you a true deer story with dates and names thereto: Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Pugh are taking outing at El Cero, on Haynes Inlet, a branch of Coos Bay. On September 21st about 10 a. m. a buck deer come into view about one hundred yards distant. We all watched the deer and then Mr. Pugh advanced toward the animal walking erect as if to meet a friend, (without any firearms.) The deer looked with apparent indifference and the dignity of freedom, a scene for the camera which we neglected to use. The deer, gentle reader, knows an honest man, and not to be outdone in courtesy and as if to apologize or explain his presence there, advanced more than half way toward Mr. Pugh, and after courtesies and the mutual salutations, still with natural dignity was in turn saluted by each, he started slowly for the timber. The merchant followed with an apple. With looks of innocence and many bows and shakes of the head, the apple was accepted, for which he forfeited his liberty, and he is now in the chicken corral at Ed Cero. We know that truth is sometimes stranger than fiction, but I can hear the bell on that deer's neck. Some family pet had strolled away. May all your family pets be as fortunate as this one is the wish of your subscriber.

CAPON SALGIFY.

Don't trifle with a cold is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

Our City Schools.

1. The enrolment, to date in the City schools, is 292. Thirty-nine of these are the High School.

2. There is earnest preparation being made for the Frey Oratorical Contest, to be held here in December, by three of the High School students. They all happen to be in the Class although students in the grammar grades are eligible to enter the Contest.

Miss Iva Howey, Miss Belle Thrift and Mr. Melvin Kern are the only ones, thus far who have expressed their intention of entering.

3. Grades six and seven have organized Literary Societies in their rooms and will probably have programs every two weeks on Friday afternoon.

4. Reverend Adams of the local Presbyterian Church gave a very enthusiastic and interesting talk at the Opening Exercises of the High School on Friday morning. His subject was "The Lure of the West" and it was presented in a way that appealed to patriotism and reason alike.

5. The students as well as the teachers are doing things to enhance the attractiveness of the different class rooms. Ferns and maple branches have been placed about the rooms, the borders of the blackboards have been decorated and attention is being given to the window curtains. —Coquille Oregon.

Got Their "Wigs" Mixed.

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 28.—In the darkness of their Pullman berth—the ill-fated lower 7 again—two young women who boarded a North Bank train at Spokane last night carelessly exchanged their surplus hair-ornament, which, because one is a decided blonde and the other a pronounced brunette, caused unlimited amusement among other passengers, provoked an outburst of laughter from a local street car conductor, brought forth smiles from persons whom they passed on the street and created confusion, bordering upon riot, to the girls themselves, when they glanced into a convenient mirror at the St. Elmo Hotel this morning.

Both women were well dressed and either would have attracted more than passing attention because of her striking beauty, alone. They hastily retired to their room, following the discovery of their predicament, and did not appear again until late this evening, when their tresses, from all outward appearance were of natural growth.

The girls afterward admitted that they were weary when they retired to their berth yesterday evening and that the porter did not call them until the train was due, within 30 minutes, to arrive at Vancouver. In their haste to dress, they explained, they accidentally made the exchange that proved so disastrous to their personal appearance.

James L Sampson Dead.

James Levi Sampson passed away at his home in this city Wednesday, September 28, 1910, at the age of 70 years, 5 months and 25 days leaving to mourn his departure his wife and three sons and three daughters, all grown. The deceased was born in Jefferson county, New York, but has lived in different states as he came Westward, arriving in Coos county in 1906, where he has since resided and formed many new friends.

A Sprained Ankle

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may, in most cases, be effected in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation; try it for a sprain or a bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute of Portland, Ore., operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.
