LATE "WAR" NEWS FROM DISPATCHES

Washington, March 18.—Most remarkable confirmation of the hostile attitude of Japan toward the United States came today from J. DeSavornin Lohmann, a citizen of Holland, who has arrived in Washington, direct from Japan. The following is Lohmann's startling statement:

"Since my arrival in this country I have been surprised at the indifference of the American people toward the attitude of Japan. I mingled with all classes of people in the different cities of the Japanese empire and everywhere I went it was the main topic of conversation that Japan hates America and Americans. They do not conceal this hatred. They are possessed of a supreme confidence that they can crush this nation."

"Japanese army officers and army officers of foreign nations stationed in Japan are of one opinion, that in war with the United States, Japan would win. The Japanese have their eyes first on the Philippines then on Guam, Samoa and Hawaii. Why? Because the Japanese are incensed that this country should have placed a ban on Japanese immigration. That there is going to be trouble, the people of the Asiatic countries fully believe."

Washington, March 21.—The administration is apparently marking time until the result of Minister Limantour's mission to Mexico City shall become known.

It was learned today that Limantour carried official messages to President Diaz from the Taft administration.

On account of the absence of several members the cabinet meeting set for today was postponed to tomorrow. It was asserted that no need for hasty action by the cabinet existed and that the president personally did not fear international complications from the Japanese angle.

The war department announces today that hereafter it would publish all orders to troops participating in military maneuvers.

JAPANESE ARE LEAVING THE PUGET SOUND COUNTRY

Tacoma, March 21.—Japanese in large numbers are leaving Tacoma and vicinity for some point along the south Pacific coast, according to local national guard officers. Forty Japanese left Lacey last week in a body, embarking from Seattle on a steamer for San Francisco, whence militia officers say, they planned to sail for some point on the west coast of Mexico.

Dozens of the foreigners are said to be quitting their employment in saw mills and lumber camps and taking their departure for the south.

TAFT ANNOYED BY STORIES ABOUT WAR WITH JAPAN

Washington, D. C., March 22.—President Taft has been greatly annoyed by persistent reports that Japan had negotiated a secret agreement with Mexico for a coal-station on the Pacific coast and that the United States was menacing Mexico as protest. Denials from the Japanese embassy and from the ambassador himself as to the coal station story as well as denials from the state department here as to any connection of Japan with the maneuvers have failed to stop the reports which the president regards as malicious.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sherwood were passengers for Marshfield on Wednesday for a few days visit. Mrs. Sherwood will visit with her mother, Mrs. Rogers, on Coos river before returning home.

The Herald Adds a Linotype Machine to Its Equipment

The management of the Herald takes pleasure in announcing to the many readers of the paper that we have installed this week a junior linotype, in order to put ourselves in a position to set more, and more seasonable news matter. The cut below is a likeness of the machine.

This week we have been badly handicapped because of not having our engine properly connected to furnish power, but hereafter this trouble will be obviated and the paper issued on time.

The linotype is the greatest invention of the age, and we take pride in being the first weekly paper on the Oregon coast to install a machine of this character. There are two linotype machines on the bay, but of different model. Ours, so far as we know, is the third to be used in the state of Oregon.

The machine is operated by means of a keyboard similar to a typewriter, but the machine is much larger, weighing about 1,200 pounds, and there are several thousand parts, varying in size from castings weighing over a hundred pounds to pieces as small and delicate as parts of a watch. It is automatic throughout, the operator merely operating the keys and the machine doing the justifying, casting the line from melted lead and distributing the molds, or matrices.

The installation of this machine is in line with our policy to give the people of Coquille and Coos county a modern and up-to-date newspaper, and we consider the appreciation of our readers ample recompense in so doing.

Any one interested in fine machinery is invited to come in and inspect the linotype.

STATE MILITIA ORDERED ON WAR FOOTING

Brigadier General William E. Finzer, adjutant general of the Oregon National Guard, yesterday received instructions from Chief-of-Staff Leonard Wood of the war department to recruit the Oregon militia to a war footing. General Finzer began at once preparing to recruit all of the companies of the Oregon guard.

At present there are 38 men to a company. The maximum fixed by the war department is 150 men to a company. General Finzer said last night he would recruit his companies to 108 men each unless special instructions came asking for the maximum enlistment.

The instructions received by General Finzer were mailed from Washington and request, among other matters, a rigid trimming down of staff officers so as to secure only those best fitted to serve in a hard campaign, the formation of a mounted scout corps to consist of one sergeant, three corporals and 17 privates and for a detail of four mounted officials.

Instructions similar to those sent the commander of the Oregon National Guard were mailed to the adjutant general of every state in the Union and were so timed as to arrive in each instance yesterday afternoon. Those received by General Fenzer were mailed from Washington March 14.

ANOTHER FINE RESIDENCE BUILT AT MYRTLE POINT

The beautiful new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ben McMullen is fast nearing completion at Myrtle Point. Peter Cole, the painter, with his crew, is putting on the finishing touches with the brush.

This residence is second to none in the county, both in beauty of design and workmanship. It is certainly a credit to our townsmen.

Remember Prof. Henry's prize piano concert Friday evening.

J. A. Yoakam, Jr., contractor and builder, who designed and built it.

It is of the story and a half bungalow type, with wide projecting cornice, supported by heavy brackets. The long, sloping roof and large, wide front porch give it a homelike appearance.

The masonry work done on the house shows that it was handled by a mason of no mean ability; and all the recommendations of this work belongs to Mr. Sam Guiles of Myrtle Point.

The interior is finished in Oregon fir, which everyone knows who has seen, a piece of the finished product, can't be beat for beauty. The doors and panelling are veneer obtained from the North Bend Manufacturing company.

There are six large rooms and a bath down stairs, and five rooms and a large hall up stairs. The cabinet kitchen contains a cooler, dumb waiter, and numerous drawers, shelves and bins which make it complete in every way. The dining room is paneled to the height of 4 feet 6 inches, with plate rail above, and contains a beautiful serving ledge and china closets. The ceilings are beamed in diamond shape with electric lights so placed to bring out the best effect possible.

The living room and hall are paneled and beamed in the same manner as dining room. The principal features of these two rooms are the fireplace with pressed brick mantel, the arch separating the two rooms, and the stairway.

The den is comfort in itself, with bookcases, a large, comfortable seat, and a corner fireplace.

The bed room and bath room are fitted with a large combination case, which is a work of art in itself. One of the doors in the bed room has a full length bevel plate mirror.

There is also a full concrete basement with hot water heating system and washing apparatus.

This is a strictly modern house and will stand as living monument of skill, ingenuity and thought for the carpenter, mason and painter.

MAN CAUGHT AT OLLALA IS WRONG PARTY

After a strenuous chase from Coquille to Camas valley, Sheriff Gage yesterday found that the stranger there suspected of being the slayer of Barbara Holtzman, the five-year-old Portland girl, was a dishwasher named Bain who was walking from Marshfield to Roseburg. Bain was a tall, lanky chap and bore some resemblance to the description sent out of the Portland slayer. He was walking from Marshfield, where he had recently been employed in the Melrose restaurant on Front street, and is alleged to have acted peculiarly. He slept out in the open and was rather mysterious.

When Sheriff Gage reached him, Bain claimed to have $400 in San Francisco and his identity was established by communication with Marshal Carter.

Marshal Carter and Sheriff Gage are keeping close tab throughout this case as both believe that the man wanted at Portland came here on the Breakwater last week.

As yet, Marshal Carter has been unable to apprehend the strange individual who has been begging from various ones and who is said to closely resemble the description furnished from Portland. Several have reported seeing this individual but have not notified Marshal Carter until an hour or so after he has left their places. If they would notify the Marshal promptly, there would be a chance to make him explain.

In this connection, it is recalled that an individual bearing a strong resemblance to the Portland fiend was thwarted in an effort to perpetrate a similar outrage here a couple of years ago.—Times.

This was the deciding game of the county, for if the C. H. S. had won Mon M. P. H. S. would have been the champion team, but B. H. S. winning she and M. P. H. S. are tied, which tie will be played off at a later date.

The game was a good one, as there were very few fouls and no intentional dirty work played.

COOS BAY ROAD UP TO CHIEF S. P. ENGINEER

C. J. Millis, general manager of the Southern Pacific interests on Coos Bay, returned today from Portland where he has been for a few days since his return from California where he was in conference with Southern Pacific officials and attending to other business matters. He was very reticent regarding the construction of a line to Coos Bay by the Southern Pacific.

"I do not wish to make any statement now as I have no absolutely definite information to give," said Mr. Millis upon being questioned about the railroad. "However, things are looking mighty bright, and all I can say is that reasonable patience on Coos Bay's part will be rewarded in reasonable time. Just when, I can't say."

Mr. Millis said that a Portland newspaper man had telephoned him about the railroad matters and possible Southern Pacific steamship line from Coos Bay to San Francisco and had possibly misunderstood him. Mr. Millis said that he was doing all in his power to advance the Coos Bay's interest and in case the C. A. Smith company could not satisfactorily take care of the Coos Bay-San Francisco traffic, his company might enter that field.

Although Mr. Millis declined to give out a statement at this time, it is known that the Coos Bay project is now up to the chief engineer of the system and board of directors for final action.

It is further understood that the delay in the final action on the matter has been due to a question as to whether the Coos-Bay line should be built via the Drain route or from Eugene via the route surveyed recently to Coos Bay. The latter survey had to be checked up and compared with the Drain route to determine which was the most advisable and this takes time.

It is known that vice-presidents Calvin and O'Brien have both recommended the Coos Bay project for immediate construction but the difference as to the route, as was learned when Vice-president Calvin visited Coos Bay last fall has probably delayed the matter slightly.

Whether the matter can be adjusted so as to start work this season or next will probably be determined soon and it is not unlikely that actual work can be started this year, whatever route is chosen.—Times
