Now is the time to take your New Year resolutions out of storage. Maybe a good resolution the first thing every morning would work better.

One of the most interesting features of the Agoria Goat Association annual meeting, held at Dallas last week, was the Agoria venison banquet at which Governor West gave an address.

President Taft has been the recipient of rather a novel present. It is a back scratcher presented by a man in Michigan who is also the inventor. He can now prepare for his political encounter with T. R.

Evidently the law is lax in the punishment of men who invade the sanctity of the home as the increase of crime of this nature is apparent. Our law makers should take cognizance of conditions and severely punish these beastly perpetrators.

Commissioners for the newly organized Port of Coquille were named January 5 by Governor West as follows: J. N. Gerhart, farmer, Dora, Republican; P. L. Phelan, lumberman, Myrtle Point, Republican; C. E. Huling, hardware dealer, Republican; Dr. M. O. Stenler, Myrtle Point, physician, Democrat; Thomas D. Guerin, hotel man, Myrtle Point, Democrat.

Friday, December 13, 1912, has been set aside by Governor West as "hangman's day" if the proposed initiative measure to abolish capital punishment fails to carry at an election of the people in November. When the case of Frank Garrison, the Coos County murderer, comes before the Governor he has decided that a reprieve will be granted.

According to information received from Washington, D. C., the familiar face of Ben Franklin, that has so long adorned our one cent stamps, is now to be replaced by that of George Washington. This will be quite a come-down for George, who has so long held jobs on stamps of higher denominations, but we trust his sticking qualities will not be impaired by the demotion as he will always be "first in the hearts of his countrymen."

A stingless bee is now to join the procession of the spineless cactus, thornless blackberry, tasteless medicine, painless dentistry, and similar movements which bless the modern world. Now, then, if science shall be able to cultivate an unselfish reformer, an uplifter without an axe to grind, and a politician without an itching graft, the millennium may actually begin to dawn. There is something, however, to be said in favor of the new bee creation upon which the Massachusetts Agricultural College, at Amherst, is at work. Being no longer required to devote his energy to the time-honored stinging activities of his kind, it is guaranteed that as a honey gatherer he will be two or three times as industrious as of old. In some occult way the plan also provides for the keeping of bees as successfully in the city as in the country.

"A full cream piteber on every table in Oregon," the slogan suggested by State Superintendent Alderman at the meeting of dairymen recently held in Portland, is prophetic of the greatest dairy era in the history of this state. That Oregon will soon become famous for her pure milk, her high grade of butter and cheese and for the production and sale of her dairy products is undoubted. It has been suggested that a milk tester be put into every school in the state and that the boys keep a tab on the cows in the neighborhood and on the milk pur-hased, which is the practical way for each pupil to make his own problems and by which he will derive more benefit than if the problems were worked out for him. It has been estimated that 175,000 dairy cows are owned in the state of Oregon and that the annual milk production of these cows will not exceed 400 pounds, or 2,000 quarts. We are constantly hearing of new creamery plants organized in various parts of the state, and as far as our own county is concerned, every indication points to a wonderful future for her in the dairy industry.

A new agricultural station at Medford is reported to be under advisement.

When one is 20 he thinks a man of 40 real old; when he is 60 he thinks a man of 40 real young.

Governor West is contemplating the erection at Astoria of one of the most beautiful homes on the coast.

It is foolish to make the same mistake twice, when there are such infinite varieties to choose from.

Four inches of snow fell in Portland last week, and the Columbia river was frozen over for the first time in a long while.

A Boston girl who was watching farmer milk a cow adjusted her glasses and said "It is all very plain but I don't understand how you turn it off."

Before the day of umbrellas the rain fell on the just and the unjust alike, but in these days the unjust keep it off with the umbrellas they swipe from the just.

Estimates place the apple crop for the Hood River valley next fall at the million dollar mark. 1912 gives promise of being an active year in that valley. Much land is to be cleared and a large amount expended for public and private buildings.

A large gray eagle which measured seven feet from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other, was shot by Robert Banks last Sunday. The shot was at a distance of 350 yards, with a 30-30 rifle.—Banks Herald.

Do not allow your kidney and bladder trouble to develop beyond the reach of medicine. Take Foley's Kidney Pills. They give quick results and stop irregularities with surprising promptness. For sale by C. J. Fuhrman.

Rev. Richeson, formerly pastor of the fashionable Immanuel Baptist church of Cambridge, Massachusetts, confessed his guilt as to having murdered his sweetheart, Avis Linnell, in order to be free to marry an heiress.

Leap Year's February 28 was set aside by the Portland Commercial Club as Greater Portland Day for the purpose of boosting that city. At noon bells will ring, whistles blow, and banners will float from all flag poles and the Greater Portland plan will be exploited.

A young lady, who was submitting a story to a magazine, grew impatient at the delay in receiving a reply, so she wrote to the editor asking for an immediate decision, because, as she said, "I have other irons in the fire. The editor replied by return post, "Dear Madam: I have read your story, and I advise you to put it with the other irons."

There will be no increase in the prices of admission for this stupendous attraction. Prices will remain as usual and reserved seats can now be secured at Fuhrman's Pharmacy. Remember "A Millionaire Tramp," will only appear here one night, Saturday, January 13, 1912, this season, so avail yourself of the opportunity of seeing this comedy treat. Children 25 cents. General admission 35 cents. Reserved seats 50 cents.

The District Lighthouse Inspector was in Bandon last week regarding the removal of the lighthouse there. A petition was circulated some time ago asking that the lighthouse be moved, but the nature of the petition was misunderstood as it was the intention to have it moved across the river near the Lookout. A new petition will now have to be prepared which should come from marine men who are familiar with the situation.

Charles Durham, Lovington, Ill., has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed wetting. "My little boy wet the bed every night clear thro' on the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley's Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two-thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since." For sale by C. J. Fuhrman.

THEY DO SAY

That praise of any kind goes.
That doing nothing is apt to be overdone.

That knowledge may burden as well as stimulate.
That it will be the same old story on the new leaf.

That work cures more maladies than thought.
That some brands of goodness are more unpopular than others.

That probably Adam never forgot his first New Year's Eve.

That leap-year girls are looking anxiously for the coming man.

That curfew will soon be ringing again in the city on the Bay, and

That the youths in that city should make the best of the worst of it.

That occasionally a man is married for his first wife's money.

That girls should always marry on June first and men on April first.

That even a college education does not hurt a sensible young man.

That the "best man" at weddings is not always the winner.

That an evil speaker only wants an opportunity to become an evil-doer.

That when a man hopes for the best and gets it, he wishes he had hoped for something better.

That some men commune with the spirits and use a bartender as the medium.

That girls should remember that good cooks will be the leading ladies in the leap-year drama.

That any fool can please a woman, but it takes a wise man to keep her pleased.

That a man does not appreciate common sense in a woman unless he is married to her.

That after a girl is 35 she is often glad to marry the man she used to make fun of.

That things are seldom what they seem; sometimes a heap better.

That men do not talk about each other so much as women do—because all their time is occupied in talking about themselves.

That the average husband's devotion lasts as long as his wife's devotion.

That riches have wings, but the miser has a little way of his own of clipping them.

That the man who goes through life with uncertain aim will never gain anything worth having.

That if being broke were a crime a lot of us would be unable to avail ourselves of the statute of limitations.

That if roosters as well as chickens would come home to roost it would be a happier world.

That a man is a failure when he is so busy that he has no time for smiles and cheering words.

That it isn't the thought of tying himself to one woman that keeps a man a bachelor, but the thought of disappointing all the others.

Very Serious
It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not irritate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

Mr. G. G. Swan is still hauling cream to Norway for the dairymen on the East Fork, making two trips a week, which is considered an excellent record during the midwinter season.

The ingenious neighbors of a Quincy, Illinois, resident whose house was on fire (the water hydrants being all frozen stiff) formed a snowball brigade and while a score rolled the snow into balls another score pelted the flames until the fire was put out.

It Helps!

Mrs. J. F. Daniels, of Sip, Ky., writes: "I was so sick for 3 or 4 years, I had to hire my work done, most of the time. I had given up hope. When I began to take Cardui, I knew, right away, it was helping me. Now, I am better than ever before in my life, and Cardui did it."
