The issue before us consists of ten pages teeming with advertisements, and a marked improvement is noticeable that should be pleasing to the patrons, and prove remunerative to the proprietor. Success to you, brother.

A. J. Marsh was in Coquille Monday and Tuesday last in the interest of his nomination on the republican ticket for joint representative from Coos and Curry counties. His announcement appears elsewhere in the Herald. Mr. Marsh has been a resident of Port Orford for twentysix years, ten of which he was assessor of Curry county, which is evidence of his popularity in his home county. While in the city Mr. Marsh visited with his fatherin-law, John Kronenberg.

He was elected a member of the twentyfourth legislative assembly of Oregon and there met Mr. Rackliff and Mr. Chase, who were then representatives, and Judge Coke, senator, from this district.
