The non-appearance of George Wittee, a grand juryman, put a quietus on the deliberations of that body the first of the week. A bench wrrrant brought the absent one to his wits and the full quota of the grand jury are now deliberating upon criminal cases.

A meeting of theatrical men took place at the Scenic Theater last Monday and organized under the name of the "Big Four Amusement Company." By this organization a circuit is established whereby better talent can be secured for the several playhouses, as it is the intention to have vaudeville acts in conjunction with photoplays. B. R. Keller, Marshfield; A. J. Hartman, Bandon; W. E. Foote, Coquille and Henry Schroeder, Myrtle Point, constitute the company.

Two young men about seventeen years of age, tull of whiskey, shooting revolvers on Second street Tuesday, a fistic encounter between two men on First street Wednesday and mud slinging by some of the politicians are features transpiring that are not pleasurable to entertain in a civilized community. The saloon man who furnished the intoxicants for the minors, we abhor the most because it was his disregard for our laws that lead to the disreputable acts of the young men. The liquor dealer's license should be revoked, the pugilists reprimanded and the dirty politician be given a rebuke at the polls that will give him ample time to cleanse himself at home in the tub of remorse filled with waters of humiliation, and to dry his body with the "crash" he so justly deserves.
