SHALL COQUILLE HAVE MODERN SCHOOL HOUSE?

COQUILLE, Ore., October 10, 1912.

To the School Electors of Dist. No. 8:

The proposition to issue bonds to the amount of $30,000 for the purchase of a site and the erection of a high school building has been placed before you for consideration on October 26. We have presented this particular proposition to you only after careful consideration of the reasons for, and objections to, its adoption. It appealed to us and we believe it will appeal to you for reasons set forth herein.

The need of another school building in the district will be accepted without discussion. The very fact that for three years the district has been using a rented building is argument enough to settle that point.

The site for the proposed building has many advantages. It is centrally located. The modern idea of throwing the school-house open for public use in various activities, could be more successfully carried out on this site than any other. The school library is at present supposed to be open to the public, but the public will freely use it only when it is easily accessible. With a building located on the library lots, with a well-equipped reading room and library on the ground floor, general use of the reading matter would be assured.

It is proposed to equip the building with a gymnasium to be used by the public under proper supervision, as well as by the school. This would afford a suitable place for the athletic games of the winter season. The gymnasium is so planned that it would be available as an auditorium. In it, public lectures as well as commencement exercises, and other school entertainments could be given. For all these purposes the building would be useless unless so located as to be easy of access to the majority of the people in the community. For such use the proposed site is ideal.

It should be noted too, that the site will cost the district nothing. The $1,000 for which the library association agrees to sell the lots, is to be invested in library equipment to go into the building. The site is, in reality, absolutely free to the district.

The fact that the proposed site is small has been mentioned as a possible objection. After careful consideration, however, we believe this really is no serious objection. The building is to be used for the high school with possibly one or two of the upper grades. The modern high school has regular gymnasium exercises for the students instead of the recess which is given the smaller pupils. A playground would not be made use of by high school students unless it were large enough for a foot ball and baseball field. In order to secure a tract of land large enough for these purposes, it would be necessary to place the school out in the edge of town, too far from the center to be of use for public gatherings or for public use of the library.

If it should seem desirable to secure an athletic field, there would be no objection to having it at some distance from the building. Many high schools and most colleges have their athletic fields several blocks from the buildings.

We present these matters to you in order that you may know the considerations that prompted us in presenting the proposition which is now before you.

We believe it to be the best proposition yet suggested for making a much needed improvement in our schools. Whether or not it is to be accepted is left for you to decide.

Signed:

BOARD OF EDUCATION,
J. H. OERDING, Chn.
R. H. MAST,

Capt. Carl P. Jensen

The San Francisco Examiner in speaking of the death of Carl P. Jensen, the veteran skipper, who died in that city Wednesday, October 2, gives peritonitis as the cause of death. He was fifty-two years of age and a native of Denmark. His wife, Alice, two sons, Frederick and Philip, a daughter, Leona, and a brother, James Jensen, survive him. The Captain was a member of the Masonic order, the Eagles and Master of Mariners.

Have you paid the printer?

Emily Gertrude Ferris

Emily Gertrude Ferris was born in Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 8, 1895, and died at her home near Coquille, October 3, 1912, aged 17 years and 26 days.

The Ferris family came to Coos county in June, 1900, and have since resided here, the last few years near Coquille. They are a very estimable family, loved by all, and are splendid citizens.

Emily was a loving, faithful child, of sweet disposition and greatly admired by all her acquaintances, was quite a home body and much help to her mother, and will be greatly missed from the circles in which she was accustomed to move.

She has suffered from rheumatism for several months and has, at times been in intense pain, yet through it all has been patient and uncomplaining.

She united with the M. E. Church South in Coquille, Easter Sunday, 1904, was a faithful Christian, loved her church and attended whenever she had an opportunity.

The family have lost a jewel, the church a faithful member and the community a noble character. But her influence lives on to bless and gladden others.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. Church South October 5, interment being made in the Masonic Cemetery.

The entire community sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

The Colportage Crusier

Coos county bids fair to be in the lead for unique features first and always. If she cannot have a railroad to run chapel cars on, she will have a chapel crusier which will run on her many waterways, which are her highways.

The chapel colportage crusier "Life Line," which is being built on Coos bay and which will cruise into the Coquille river, will be a credit to our public institutions and will no doubt serve for a much needed work.

G. L. Hall will be the missionary captain in charge and we hope to give our readers a picture of the crusier sometime, same being about half completed at present. Mr. Hall, who was in our city this week, showed us photos of the construction work of the hull.

The crusier will be under the coast management of the Baptist Publication Society of Philadelphia and will be the first chapel colportage crusier ever built.

Several Coquille people contributed to the construction, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Miller who gave the fog bell, and Mr. Frank Burkholder who contributed a solid myrtle table.

Sheriff Gage at Home

Sheriff Gage returned yesterday morning from Drain where he had been detained a week by being sick from ptomaine poisoning. The sheriff says he does not know the source from whence he was poisoned but it may have been from eating ancient cold storage chicken. Government inspectors are charged with putting their stamp of approval on meats only when in prime condition and do not examine the dealers' premises thoroughly regarding the disposition of meats thereafter. The sheriff suffered four days of torture. His wife was with him during the time and the people with whom he stopped while at Drain were old-time friends and did everything possible to relieve him of his ills.

Eleven different kinds of medicine journeyed through the anatomy of the sheriff and the apothecary shop at Drain was greatly depleted of its stock in consequence.

Mr. Gage is somewhat weak from his experience but his kindly countenance still remains unimpaired from the siege.

Coquille Still Afloat

The old schooner Coquille, built on the Coquille in 1883 and called Coquille, which is the time-honored pronunciation of Coquille, is still afloat and engaged in the coasting trade.

"Music Hath Charms"

Thomas Hazelwood, son of the famous Hazelwood piano manufacturer of New York city has established a music house in John Golden's building on First street. Latest music and musical instruments of all kinds will be carried in stock, a large consignment being now on the way by water "around the Horn" from the great metropolis.

Mr. Hazelwood has traveled extensively over the states during the past two years and says Coquille is the best place found for this vocation. He is sanguine of success. With the judicious use of printers' ink, a thorough knowledge of the business and honorable dealing Mr. Hazelwood hopes to build a profitable trade and one that will prove a valuable adjunct to the industries of our city.

A. L. Wiston arrived in Coquille this morning and has associated himself with Mr. Hazelwood in the capacity of piano tuner. He comes highly recommended.

Peoples on Pavement

George E. Peoples, in a private letter to Bert Folsom, says he made a trip to Tillamook where eighty blocks of streets were being paved with bitulithic. He states it will not compare with the pavements in Coquille and that he saw very few streets as wide as ours. Mr. Peoples gave an outline of paving as constructed on the parking plan, being a six-foot sidewalk with a space of thirteen feet for flowers and shrubbery. This will admit of a forty-foot paved street where streets are one hundred feet in width. This modern plan is being adopted in residence districts of all progressive cities.

A substantial street built upon scientific principles with rock and an outer surface of asphalt will last for years and can be constructed for $2.75 per front foot. To do the work at the price named a contract for at least twenty-five or thirty blocks would be required as expensive machinery would be needed to do the work. Mr. Peoples has apparently gleaned considerable information while away relative to street work and doubtless upon his return will be enabled to profitably enlighten us upon the subject. He is now in Portland.

Brewster Valley

M. O. Hooton has returned from two weeks' labor in Brewster Valley near the Sitkum postoffice. Mr. Hooton says he never saw such fertile soil as that of the Myrtle bottoms in that section, all vegetables and grasses growing luxuriantly. The Southern Pacific company own large tracts of land in that neighborhood, otherwise it would be thickly settled. Those who were fortunate to secure land in Brewster Valley are prosperous and contented. Mr. Hooton's mission to the valley was that of building fireplaces having constructed one each in the homes of J. R. Benham and Perley Crowley, two well to do farmers.

Oil Drillers in Trouble

Funds of the Bear Creek Oil company, near Bandon, are exhausted and the machinery has been attached for wages due the workmen. There is a move on to raise funds to release the machinery and proceed with the work. Many believe that the work stopped on the very verge of success, as the well continually throws off gas and other substances said to be indicative of immediate oil bearing strata. There was some trouble experienced shortly before the work stopped, a drill being lodged in the hole in such a manner as to make it probably impossible to be taken out. If this is not removed it will likely be the cause of abandoning the hole.

To Honor Mrs. Duniway

Members of the Oregon Equal Suffrage League are planning to celebrate the 78th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, October 22, with a suffrage rally at Portland, at which delegates will be present from every county in the state. Mrs. Duniway has many warm friends and admirers in Coos county.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all druggists.
