O. A. C. WILL MAKE AN ANALYSIS OF SOIL

Do you know absolutely what the soil of your farm or orchard contains? If not, how do you know except by guesswork, what fertilizer it needs, and what crops will grow best there?

The man who does not know these things is unlikely to make the maximum success of his farming. His only excuse is that he does not know how to find out these things. For this reason the department of agronomy has prepared printed instructions for soil sampling at the Oregon Agricultural college, and any farmer who will send samples, taken according to these directions to Professor H. D. Scudder, soils specialist of the experiment station, will receive a report containing information of vital importance to his farm.

"Take samples from an open field and avoid paths, gopher holes, etc., from which modified and not typical samples are likely to be obtained," says Professor Scudder. "Select an average spot, pull up the plants growing on it, brush aside half decayed vegetable matter and bore or dig a vertical hole to where the soil changes tint, or, if no change is seen, to the depth of cultivation. Get a sample of the soil to this depth from several places in the field, mix well on cloth or coarse paper (avoid jute bagging). Then dry it, put a quart in a clean canvas bag or box and label. This represents the surface soil.

"In the same manner get an average sample of the subsoil, taken below the surface sample to the depth of approximately two feet. Put it in a separate bag and label that also. Dig or bore to a depth of three or four feet, and if hard pan or any other peculiarity in structure is noted, send a properly labeled sample. If solid rock is found, state at what average depth it occurs and send a small sample.

"Send a letter by mail with as complete a history of the field as possible, the name of the nearest town, the probable selling price of the land, the elevation above the nearest river, the direction and grade of slopes. Tell how long it has been cropped and what has been raised on the land, what the yields were and whether fertilizers have been applied. If there are any peculiarities which may have a bearing on the agricultural qualities of the soil they should be mentioned in the letter. The samples should be sent by express, prepaid, to the experiment station soils department."

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault-finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL DAIRY SHOW NOV. 18-23

Portland, Nov. 3 (Special)—The largest showing of dairy cattle ever gathered west of St. Louis may be seen at the Pacific International Dairy Show to be held in Portland November 18-23. Prize stock is being entered from many sections of the United States and many of the leading dairy herds of the country will be represented.

L. S. Tichenor, a well known Guernsey breeder of Oconomowoc, Wis., will bring two carloads of prize cattle. There are probably no better Guernseys anywhere than in the Pacific Northwest, and the Wisconsin man will find sharp competition. D. N. Looner of Independence, Ore., has a fine herd of this breed which he will exhibit.

Utah will send a carload of Jerseys; W. O. Morrow of Independence, D. B. Stump, of Monmouth, Harry West of Scappoose and Thomas Withycombe & Son of Farmington, all Oregon breeders, will furnish plenty of competition for the Jersey section. Wm. Ladd of Portland is considering showing some of his Jerseys, which have a national reputation.

It is not yet known what breeds will be represented in the shipment of cattle from the National Livestock show at Chicago, but it is felt that the northwest will be able to hold its own in any of the strictly dairy classes.

P. A. Frakes of Scappoose, Ore., and O. E. Mills of Perry, Wash., will come to the show with some splendid Holstein animals.

The famous herd of Ayershires, with Peter Pan at their head, owned by J. W. Clise of Seattle will furnish keen competition for fine stock in this class from California, as well as for Ayershires to be shown by A. P. Stockwell of Aberdeen, Wash.

Qualified

Two men were hotly discussing the merits of a book. Finally one of them, himself an author, said to the other: "No, John, you can't appreciate it never having written a book yourself." "No," retorted John, "and I never laid an egg, but I'm a better judge of an omelet than any hen in the state."

OBITUARY

Died, in this city, Friday, November 1, 1912, Mrs. Sylvia (Grandma) Lindley, aged 88 years, 7 months and 13 days.

Mrs. Lindley was born at Chapel Hill, Tennessee, where she grew to womanhood and married.

In 1853 she and her husband moved to Arkansas where they lived for twenty years. In April 1873 Mrs. Lindley moved to Coos county, Coquille being her home a larger portion of the time. Two daughters and a son were born to Mrs. Lindley, one daughter, the wife of J. J. Lamb, of this city, being the only survivor of the family.

Grandma Lindley, as she was familiarly known in Coquille, was a devout Christian having been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South since childhood. She was beloved by all acquaintances both old and young.

The funeral services were held at M. E. Church South Saturday last at 2:30 p. m., Rev. C. H. Cleaves delivering a sermon paying a tribute of honor to her worth and memory.

Wm. L. Cook, who was postmaster at Neihart, Montana, writes: "I recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to all my people and they are never disappointed with it. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds gives best possible results." Fuhrman's Pharmacy.

To Heaven and Return

The curious effect sometime produced in telegrams by want of punctuation, or the omission of a single small word cannot fail to have struck every one. A London doctor had a female relative in the north from whom he had "expectations." She had been ailing for some weeks, when one morning a telegram came asking the doctor's wife to go at once, as she—his aunt—was much worse. His wife accordingly went.

During the evening of the following day the doctor received this disconcerting announcement: "Aunt Matilda went to Heaven at 3:30 returning by 11:30 tomorrow morning."

A New Definition

"Mary," said the teacher, "what is the spinal column?"
"The spinal column," said Mary, "is what my head sits on one end of and I sit on the other."

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all druggists.

Schooner Osprey a Prey to the Waves

The schooner Osprey owned by the Wedderburn Trading company, was wrecked early Friday morning last near the end of the jetty of the Coos Bay bar as she attempted to cross in against a strong ebb tide. Captain Gus Johnson, master, Chester Johnson, engineer, Captain Jacobson, a passenger, Joe Peitsch, deck hand and Ed Hardy, an old resident of Wedderburn known as "Indian Ned," constituted the persons on board, and all perished.

The Marshfield Times chartered the flying machine and sent Jack Guyton to the scene to get the news soon after it happened. The machine passed over the bar twice and could see no indications of the wreckage or bodies.

The Osprey was built in Coquille about five years ago by Mr. Tollefson for the late R. D. Hume, and is valued at about $6,000 and was no doubt insured.

N. A. Leach of the Wedderburn Trading company, Wedderburn, on learning the fate of the Osprey immediately started by team on his way to the scene of the disaster arriving in Coquille Saturday afternoon taking train to Marshfield.

Up to this time the bodies of the unfortunate seamen have not been recovered.

Better a wooden leg than a block head.
