BEAUTIFUL COQUILLE VALLEY

Offers Best Opportunities in the West for the Energetic Man—Hospitable People—Good Soil—Best Climate—Greatest Resources

J. D. Tharp of Gardiner has been in the city during the past week looking over this section with a view of investing in the productive soil of the Coquille valley and making it his permanent home. Mr. Tharp recently sold seven hundred and sixty acres of land to the Southern Pacific railway company near Gardiner for right-of-way and other purposes. Work on the line in the neighborhood of the Umquga is not progressing agreeable to Mr. Tharp's liking, but he hopes the primary grade school boy will see the road in operation before the long life of the lad shall cause his hair to turn gray.

The editor of the Herald firmly believes the line will be completed and trains will be conveying passengers over the beautiful, scenic route along the shores of the Pacific to the exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

When the road is completed every section of Coos county will be immeasurably benefited and the Coquille valley will feel the impetus of trade through the magic touch of the steel rail and the locomotive more than any other locality.

Why are people making observations with an idea of locating here if they do not look forward to the near advent of the railroad.

Owners of property should sell a portion of their holdings at a reasonable figure, and show every courtesy, and give every encouragement possible to the manufacturer, merchant, farmer and laborer.

Let us extend the glad hand of welcome to the multitude of honest ambitious men of the east, and elsewhere, who are struggling to make "both ends meet" through the stormy, blizzard blasts of winter and the destructive electric storms and cyclones of summer.

The soil of the Coquille valley as now cultivated produces comparatively enough to supply sustenance sufficient for an infant in the cradle. Yet it is enough for the needs of our people and some to spare.

It is but just to humanity that we privilege our fellows to reap from the untouched virgin land lying dormant for centuries.

Valuable timber of many kinds are in our vast forests awaiting to be converted into usefulness, coal in inexhaustible quantities reposes in the hills, precious minerals abound on the ocean shores and the bounteous hand of Providence has been lavish in bestowing every need for the benefit of man.

Let our hospitality to the newcomer be as genial and temperate at all times as is our climate, and joy and prosperity will abide with us.

Teachers' Examination For State Papers

Notice is hereby given that the regular semi-annual examination of all applicants for state papers will be held in the court house in Coquille, beginning at nine o'clock a. m., December 17, 1912, and continuing three days.

W. H. BUNCH,
County Superintendent.
Coquille, Oregon, Nov. 29, 1912.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diphtheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly lessen the danger of contracting these diseases. This remedy is famous for its cure of colds. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with implicit confidence. Sold by all druggists.

CIRCUIT COURT DOINGS GRAND JURY REPORT

The circuit court convened in this city last Monday agreeable to adjournment from the last regular session. Judge Coke on the bench.

The nuptial knot being disagreeable to several parties, suit for divorce finds a place upon the docket too frequently to place society on the pinnacle of perfection. These troubles were continued and will be taken up for adjudication at a later date.

John Giltney was indicted on the charge of burglary, his operations in that role taking place at Bandon. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

Hazel Cameron, Josie Davis and Josie Hoyt contributed a fine of $100 and costs each for conducting disreputable resorts.

Tirsie Doe pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy and was given the choice of paying a fine of $50 and costs or serving a term in jail at a low salary. The latter proposition appealed more favorably to the unfortunate.

The grand jury in considering the case of Joe Coach, charged with killing a man on the streets of Bandon in a drunken melee, did not render a true bill and the defendant was discharged.

Equity cases, carrying upon the well kept Judge's docket trials of mankind in various degrees, monetary and otherwise were, in many instances, postponed.

The regular term of circuit court begins next Monday when a grand jury will be chosen from the regular panel.

Prospects are that criminal cases will be few.

It is probable the attendance of District Attorney Brown will not be required at the coming term of court, his able deputy, L. A. Liljeqvist, being fully competent to take charge of all legal matters on the docket assigned to that officer.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY

To the Honorable Circuit Court of Coos county:

We, the grand jury of Coos county, Oregon, convened at the regular September, 1912, term of the circuit court of said county, do respectfully submit our final account.

We have diligently inquired into the commission of all crimes that have been brought to our attention and have disposed of them according to our best judgment upon the law and the evidence.

We have inquired into the conduct of the County Surveyor's office and County Clerk's business and conduct in reference to the laying out, establishing and opening county roads, and find that the same have been loosely conducted without reference to sound business principles and without making and keeping detailed records of costs, disbursements and expenditures and without keeping proper vouchers and receipts; that bills have been approved and paid without the proper details having been presented so that the same can be readily checked up, examined and the truth or falsity of the same accurately determined.

We recommend that proper and suitable action be taken by the county court so as to install and maintain a suitable, efficient, explicit and detailed statement of all costs and expenses incurred in the matter of county roads and other public business and that an up-to-date business system be employed in all county affairs.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they "hang on." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. No harmful drugs. Fuhrman's Pharmacy.

Curry County Cullings

Curry County Commercial Club was recently organized with a membership of twenty-four for a starter. W. H. Meredith is secretary of the club.

A class of twenty at Gold Beach are waiting the arrival of instruments when a brass band will be organized. A Mr. Knorr will teach the would-be musicians how to toot their horns.

The old court house at Gold Beach has been removed and remodeled and presents a creditable appearance. The building will be used as a furniture store.

Harry Larsen was drowned in Port Orford Lake on Friday last by the overturning of a boat in rough water. A brother and a Mr. Robbins was with him and succeeded in saving themselves. The body of the unfortunate man was found the following morning and taken to Bandon where it was embalmed and sent to Troutdale, the former home of the deceased, for burial.

Following the success of the cooperative cheese factory at Langlois, the dairymen on Sixes river will build and equip one at the bridge in the spring. It is claimed that dairymen make more money and make it easier, in cheese than can be made in butter. C. W. Zumwalt, who will be a stockholder in the Sixes factory, recently completed a large barn and is otherwise fixing up his fine farm so that his sons can engage in the dairy business in the spring.—Tribune.

The editor of the Port Orford Tribune, one day prior to the last issue of his paper, left the paste pot, shears, the office towel and other valuable accessories of the printing craft for a visit to northern Curry county. Freedom from the effluvia arising from "dead matter" invigorated with the balmy breezes blowing over the big billows from the orient, Bro. Hardy T. Stewart was filled with an inspiration to write interestingly—as is usual—of the scenes and incidents of our neighboring section. He says Langlois is growing steadily, her business houses are thriving, with the exception of the two saloons which closed down last week as a result of the county going dry, and the future looks bright for this trading center of the rich agricultural lands of Northern Curry. Several residences have just been completed and several more will go up as soon as spring opens. Messrs. Bowman and Sorensen are putting in an additional water system that will give the town an ample supply of excellent water and leave a surplus for fire protection. The feed for man and beast at Langlois is as good as to be had along the coast. At Lakeport there are still some 75 people, but many of them are talking of leaving in the near future as the outlook at that place is discouraging. Rumors spring up, but never materialize, that some new company is about to take hold of the proposition and build the canal, etc., but the people have lived on this kind of substance about as long as they can. Practically all the business houses are closed, and there is nothing going on to support a town. Denmark is prospering—Jas. S. Capps is doing a good mercantile business, and the cooperative cheese factory there is proving a big success. Nine farmers with 18 cows own the factory. They manufacture the cheese at a cost of 1 1/2 cents per pound, and put out an article that commands the highest market price.

Fairview Man Caught By Wildcat Traps

J. A. Deadmond, the Fairview wildcat exterminator, placed his traps in position one day last week to capture some of the unwelcome marauders of the farm yard. Not long after Mr. Deadmond visited his field of trapping operations, only to find his traps missing. It did not take him a great while to arrive at the conclusion that a two-footed miscreant had appropriated the traps and it was with but little difficulty that this accustomed viewer of changed obstacles of the forest traced the trail and caught the taker of his traps. It is unusual for a man to be caught by a wildcat trap and as the law places no bounty on the pelt of such "animals" Mr. Deadmond received no extra reward for his vigilance. His traps will not be interfered with by pests of this kind in the future, if the effective lecture given is of avail.

A local sportsman whose virtues are regarded above par by his associates, gives Oliver Wendell Holmes credit for the following: "To brag a little, to show well, to crow gently—if in luck—to pay up, to own up and shut up if beaten, are the virtues of a sporting man."

VOLUMINOUS VEGETABLES GROWN NEAR COQUILLE

The real estate office of C. E. Niles has been converted into a wonder show of mammoth vegetables, that demonstrate the possibilities of our soil. The vegetables were grown upon what is called "upland" and no unusual attention or fertilizer was applied to produce the giants of the vegetable kingdom.

B. H. Haskins donated two carrots raised by him one of which measured nearly two feet around near the top and weighed exactly eight pounds.

George Lester contributed a bunch of succulent celery over four feet in height.

W. S. Graham raised several cucumbers called the "Long Green," a Japanese variety that measured eighteen inches in length and maintained a diameter throughout of between three and four inches.

Mr. Niles has a pumpkin on display that weighs nearly one hundred pounds. He intends to send it to a brother in Oklahoma in order that he may feast on pumpkin pie during the year 1913, and wonder at the productive soil of the west as he puts the pumpkin under his vest.

Corn, onions, potatoes and other farm products of marvelous growth are amazement thrillers to all strangers who view them.

Routine Business In The City Council

At the regular meeting of the city council Monday evening all were present excepting Councilman Leach.

In the matter of the proposal to hang a string of lights across the street at the corner of B and Second streets and also at the corner of B and First streets, it was resolved that the city would pay for the electric current for the lights if the property owners would have them installed.

Ordinances numbered 78, 79 and 80 were passed under suspension of the rules. These enactments declare the assessments against the property benefited by the improvement of Noshier street in North addition, Williams avenue and Smith avenue in Academy addition, respectively, and the usual resolution was passed placing them in effect.

The mayor appointed the recorder, city engineer and Councilman Lyons as a committee to make an appraisal of city property.

A $6,000 school building is soon to be erected at Aurora.

Assessment figures for 1912 in Malheur county total $9,658,230 as compared with $9,512,105, an increase of $146,125.

At a candy carnival given by the Astoria high school for the benefit of the high school foot ball team, forty-five dollars were realized.

The Wells Fargo express company pays Oregon taxes in the sum $26,455.30. Only three states in the union receive a greater tax from the company.

Bend has the distinction of being the first town in the state to have a woman serve as juror. Mrs. C. H. Cokett-of that place has been appointed forewoman of the jury.

Mrs. L. H. Bath, Klamath Falls, has been appointed deputy game warden in the Link river district. She is the first woman to receive such an appointment in this state.

E. G. Krebs near Middleton raised a radish of the Japan variety which weighed seven pounds and measured thirty-one inches in length and ten inches in diameter.

Four men have been arrested in various parts of the state, within the past ten days, by deputy game wardens for deer killing. Chas. McNeil and Raymond Murphy of Linn county, John Towers of Lane county and C. A. Buckbee of Lake county.

Governor West is in receipt of a letter from Postmaster-General Hitchcock advising him that if he will select a 50-mile stretch of road entirely covered by postal routes, and will give assurance that the sum of $20,000 will be expended on its improvement, the Postmaster-General's office is authorized to expend $10,000 on the road. This piece of road may be selected in any part of the state.

Pelts of one cinnamon bear, that weighed fully 600 pounds when slain; 78 coyotes, 9 bobcats and 15 badgers were trapped on the Little Malheur river by Robert Lansing, ("Coyote Bob") a veteran trapper and hunter of eastern Oregon. They represent Lansing's bag for the last sixty days in that portion of Malheur county. After collecting the usual bounties at the county clerk's office, he disposed of the hides to a local fur buyer for the additional sum of $250.

The State Bee-keepers' Association of Oregon is preparing a bill to present to the Legislature providing for the appointment of a state bee inspector, in order to check the advance of the dread disease, "foul brood" which has wiped out the industry in some sections of the country. In California this disease has destroyed entire apiaries of 500 or more colonies. Oregon is afflicted in some districts and it is necessary to provide for its control before it becomes a menace to the bee industry of the state.
