OREGON NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK

Transpiring in Oregon Boiled Down to Least Number of Lines and Yet Make the Subject Understood

Newberg is soon to have a city hall to cost $15,000.

The poultry show at Salem Jan.
 14 to 18, is the next big event in poultry interest.

T. A. Samuels, the potato king of Wasco county, is reported to have raised about 30,000 sacks of potatoes this year.

E. Elvey, a farmer near Merrill, has a black Tartarian cherry tree 54 inches in circumference which is loaded with fruit every year.

The unsurveyed lands in Malheur county will soon be opened to settlement, government surveyors to begin on the work immediately.

Four courses in vegetable growing are to be given in the short course at the Oregon Agricultural college which opens its four weeks' session January 6.

Secretary of State B. W. Olcott was married Dec. 25, to Miss Lena Hutton, a sister of Mrs. Oswald West.
 The ceremony was performed at the home of Governor West in Salem.

Oregon now stands fourth among the states in its lumber cut, and will probably advance to third place next year. Of the total amount of timber in the United States, this state has one-fifth.

Gov. West has drafted a bill providing that prison guards shall go after convicts instead of having them brought by sheriffs. This will effect a saving of about 50 per cent to the state.

Steps are being taken toward the incorporation of Edenbower, the postoffice of which is located about one mile north of Roseburg. The territory to be included in the new city contains about 600 people and property of the assessable value of perhaps half a million dollars.

Blue prints of plans for the construction of various farm buildings such as barns, silos and houses, will soon be furnished to the farmers of the state by the farm mechanics department of the Oregon Agricultural college upon request.
 This is a new departure in the service of the college to the state.

Albany was an especially favored section of our beautiful state. On Christmas day forty pounds of honey were taken from a bee tree in Chautauqua park, within the city limits. Ripe raspberries were picked in the garden of Henry McElmurray on Christmas day, and the Albany college was the recipient of a Christmas check for $10,000 from a friend of the institution in New York.

Senator Bourne has received a letter from General Bixby, head of the engineers in the war department, giving the Willamette Pacific railroad permission to build a bridge across Coos Bay under the following conditions: The bridge to be 12 feet above high water and the draw open except when trains are crossing, or 24 feet above high water and the draw open only when necessary. The railroad company is to maintain tugs, if necessary, to help ships through the draw.

COL. C. H. HOLDEN DIES AT FLORENCE

The following from the Florence West will be of interest to Herald readers as it eulogizes a brother of E. G. D. Holden, who too has passed to that land "from whose bourne no traveler returns." Like our former townsman it will be seen that the subject of this sketch was one who had rendered valuable service to his country and fellow man:

Col. C. H. Holden, one of the best known residents of this section died at his home in Glenada, Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 24, after an illness of about three weeks.

Charles H. Holden was born in New Hampshire, April 18, 1832.
 When two months old his parents emigrated to Michigan where they settled on a farm in Kent county.

Here the subject of our sketch grew to manhood, assisting his father in his labors and getting such training as was afforded by the common schools. At the age of nineteen he entered Plainfield Academy, and afterwards graduating from Knox college with the degree of A. B. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1857.

The next year he was elected district attorney and held that office until the breaking out of the Civil War. At the beginning of the war he raised a company, of which he became first lieutenant, afterwards being promoted for meritorious service till he reached the rank of lieutenant colonel, and taking part in many hard battles of the great struggle.

After peace was restored Col. Holden took up his residence in Washington, D. C., remaining there till 1879. For ten years of this time he held a position in the treasury department and was the last president of the last city council of the national capital.

In 1879 he returned to Michigan where he practiced law for twelve years. He then came to the Pacific coast, arriving in Florence in 1894, and afterwards making his residence in Glenada.

After coming to this section Col.
 Holden engaged in buying and selling timber lands from which he acquired a comfortable fortune. He was a member of Florence Masonic lodge, the Grand Army of the Republic, Knights of Pythias and Independent Order of Foresters.

Besides his aged partner in life, who has been in feeble health for many years, he leaves several nephews who reside in Michigan.
