To Get China Pheasants

Deputy Game Warden Baker was in town Saturday, on his way from Myrtle Point to Marshfield. He was on a flying trip to Coos, expecting to return to Bandon Sunday on his way back to Curry county, having a hunch that there was something there worth watching.

He was getting in touch with the rod and gun clubs of the county with a view to co-operation in getting some China pheasants for introduction here. Mr. Baker is confident that they would do well here, and they are a fine game bird. Touching the fear that some farmers might have, that the birds would be destructive to garden sass, Mr. Baker says that the crews of two pheasants killed in the Willamette valley were opened, and one was found to contain about three ounces of garden peas and the other contained 212 cut worms. He thinks that most any farmer would be glad to give three ounces of garden peas for 212 dead cut worms.

Coquille is Twice Victor In Last Sunday's Games

	P	W	L	Pct.
Bandon	2	2	0	1000
Coquille	3	2	1	667
North Bend	3	2	1	666
Myrtle Point	2	0	2	000
Marshfield	2	0	2	000

Coquille captured the double-header Sunday on the local grounds by taking both Myrtle Point and Marshfield into camp. The game between the Myrtle nutters and the locals was too one sided to be interesting and the home team won 10 to 0.

Collier hit the visitors at his mercy at all stages of the game and allowed them but two measly hits and sent 14 of them back to the water bucket.

The home team hit Herman hard and fielded the ball in faultless style and showed a lot of class in their all around play and team work.

Myrtle Point needs a battery and should waste no time signing up some good men. A good battery and a fast third baseman would make them a formidable bunch, but they will have to get busy or be out of the running.

Coquille has no such a snap with the clam-diggers, who have certainly strengthened their team by the addition of Perkins, a fast catcher, and Marshall, a second baseman, and both are good men. Perkins, in particular, showed a lot of class as a back stop and is a demon with the stick.

Collier pitched both games for the home team and on account of the lack of practice was not in the best of condition for such a trying ordeal, and in consequence was bit rather hard in a couple of innings but always tightened up at the right time to stave off defeat.

The game was hard fought and quite a bit of wrangling indulged in, in which both sides were to blame. In the sixth inning Perkins hit a ball into the ditch in right field for a two bagger and raced clear home on the drive but was ordered back to second by Empire Blower and after much jabber returned but not by the way of the bases and was touched out for not observing this rule, which is as old as the game, but not often enforced as very few of the players ever read rules.

Marshfield thought they were robbed and refused to play and there was nothing else to do but forfeit to Coquille 9 to 0.

What Marshfield should have done if they thought the umpire erred was to finish the game under protest and let President Kern settle the question.

The management of the locals should do something toward keeping the rooters back in the future for they certainly interfered with the game last Sunday.

SPARKS FROM THE DIAMOND

Harry Oerding connected for a couple of safe swats off Freeman and his work in the field shows much promise.

Mike, the "Swede," played a brilliant game at the difficult corner and he swings a dangerous club.

Bertercy caught a heady game and handled Collier's shoots in a masterly fashion.

Young Briggs pulled down a hard chance that went over the bag and that looked like a hit, and in doing so cut off a score.

"Sharkey" Perkins stick work was easily the feature of the game. Must be a "Bull Moose" from the heavy club he swings.

Marshall at second for the visitors played a nice game and also connected for a two bagger.

It certainly is good to see a fearless official as Umpire Blower proved to be. He called Tuttle out at second for interference on the part of a coacher and again when Lorenz jumped over a ball that Burke was trying to field, he very promptly sat the runner down and in the face of a rabid crowd at that. Each decision cost Coquille a run.

Freeman tripped Oerding as he was rounding third and caused him to be tagged out at the plate but the ump allowed the run to score. Such an official should be backed up by the league president.

Perkins tried to pull off a smooth one when he touched out a runner with a ball not in play but was detected. Have to watch that boy.

Nick Lorenz showed some head work when he held the ball and allowed Perkins to go home on a two base hit into the ditch and then had him touched out for not retracing his steps. That is the stuff that wins games.

Capt. Strain covers a world of ground in the short patch and has a beautiful peg to first.

Freeman, who wore a Yale uniform, pitched for the visitors and showed up fairly well. He has a nice slow ball but failed to control it.

H well walked a couple of times as usual. He has a fine eye and the twirlers have to cut the plate for him. He has hardly struck his stride yet, but when he does, look out.

Sam Tuttle slammed the ball on the nose and grabbed a torrid liner that was labeled two bases.

Jas. Collier deserves a lot of credit for the sterling performance on the mound in Sunday's games. To jump out and pitch two games this early in the season is a remarkable feat and the home fans should be proud of his record.

The locals picked up a good man in Morgan. Bill plays the keystone position in great form and is a good man behind the willow besides.

Bandon is now in first place, while Coquille and North Bend are tied for second. Marshfield and Myrtle Point have not won a game but will yet be heard from especially the former who seem to have a strong team.

O'Connor had a tryout at first and impressed the fans by his stick work.

We hope some one with authority will keep the spectators back from the side lines. Such work may cost a game.

Receiver for Kinney

(North Bend Harbor)

A circular letter from Judge Harris of Eugene, has been received by all attorneys interested in the Kinney affairs advising them of his plans regarding the appointment of a receiver.

Judge Harris states that he has decided to appoint V. F. Watters of North Bend, receiver, and requests that every thing be in readiness at the opening of court in Coquille, June 4th, when the appointment will be formally made.

Mr. Watters is a new man in North Bend, is identified with the Davenport company, and has built up a fine reputation among the business interests. Before coming here he was mayor of Corvallis and county judge of that county for several terms.

Auto-Tobogganing

W. L. Laird performed some fancy stunts with his auto at Myrtle Point last Thursday. In backing around near R. C. Dement's residence, his reverse gear refused to let go, and the auto backed across the road and started down the hill. By the time he could throw out the clutch and put on the emergency brake the machine was on the slip pery grass and kept right on going, not even pausing at a fence that stood in the way. Mrs. Laird and two children, Mrs. Cleaves and two children were in the auto. Mr. Laird told them to jump, then commenced pitching children out with one hand while he kept the machine straight with the other. When he reached the bottom of the hill, where the auto stopped against a log, he says he could see women and children scattered all along the way. Fortunately, no one was hurt and the machine was uninjured, the fence being the only sufferer.

Baccalaureate Sermon

The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Coquille High school was delivered by Rev. C. H. Cleaves at the M. E. Church South last Sunday evening. The church was well filled with an interested audience who were presented with a strong address by Coquille's youngest pastor. The music consisted of an anthem by the choir, a solo by Mrs. Tyrrel and a duet by Messrs. McCurdy and Leslie.

Declamatory Contest

The Annual Declamatory Contest of the Coquille schools, which was held at the Masonic Opera house last Thursday evening, was fully up to the standard set last year. The medal offered to the fifth and sixth grades was won by Josephine Peoples, her selection being "When Malindy Sings." Ben Hersey was awarded the seventh and eighth grade medal. His rendering of "The Deathbed of Benedict Arnold" showed considerable talent in public speaking. The high school medal was won by Julian Leslie, whose rendition of "The Bay Orator of Zopata City" was excellent. All the declamations were well rendered and each speaker showed the results of careful training. The musical part of the program was furnished by Earl Leslie and Raymond Burns.

Plot for Moving Picture

Started by the unexpected arrival of three policemen, two burglars in Paris dropped a heavy sack containing loot and bolted. Two of the policemen pursued them, but the third was a bit wiser and earned promotion by effecting a clever capture. Anticipating that the burglars would elude his colleagues Police-man Andre stayed behind, and emptying the sack got inside. The fugitives had no difficulty in evaluating their pursuers and returned for their booty, whereupon Andre fired through the sack just as they were trying to lift it, and the amazed burglars quickly surrendered.

Real Romance and Tragedy

(The Times)

Coquille, Or., May 29.—Judge Coke has just granted a divorce decree in one of the most unusual divorce cases that has probably ever been presented in the Circuit Court in this district. The decree was granted to J. F. Wendling, of Bandon, on the grounds of desertion.

Wendling is a young man, and from a prominent family, being a nephew of G. X. Wendling, the big lumberman of Weed, Cal., who is well known in this section. He is connected with the Estabrook interests at Bandon.

The principal evidence in the case was a letter written by the missing wife nearly two years ago and which was the first intimation that Wendling had that his home was to be broken up. The letter was penned in the tenderest form, told of her deep and continued attachment for Wendling and the pang that its writing caused. However, she said that when she married Wendling she thought that she had been legally divorced from her first husband but had just discovered that she was not and consequently she could not stay with him longer. She requested him not to try to find her and not to write to her.

It was all a sudden and strange mystery to Wendling. He wrote several times to places where he thought she might have gone and communicated with relatives, but has been unable to find her. He said that she had always been a kind and loving wife and had she personally explained the predicament to him, he would have tried to straighten out the strange marital mixup and carry out his marriage contract.

However, after trying in vain for nearly two years to locate her, he gave up, and decided to get a divorce, freeing her and freeing himself. Wendling recently came to Bandon, but his wife was never there, the strange story being enacted before coming to the coast.
