Great Show

It the opening night of the Manion-Claman show was an indication all records will be broken during their eight-days' engagement. The scenic wouldn't begin to hold the people, who clamored around the door as thick as bees. Those who got in and saw the show say it was first-class—out of sight—fine.

Upon his retirement the county is entirely out of debt and there is over $100,000 cash in the county treasury. This in itself is a record probably unparalleled in the history of any other county in the state."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 15 drops to a tea-spoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Farmers' Picnic

The farmers' annual picnic, held in this city last Thursday, did not bring so large a crowd as was expected, probably on account of the farmers being busy harvesting their crops, but an interesting program was carried out and a fine time was enjoyed by those who participated. The exercises were held at the picnic grounds, and the meeting was presided over by Hon. W. C. Chase. The principal speakers were Dr. Wythycombe, of the State Agricultural College, and President Swift, of the State Farmers' Union. Both gentlemen made very interesting and instructive addresses, and it is to be regretted that more farmers were not present to hear them. After a bounteous picnic dinner, Mayor Morrison, our local good roads enthusiast, outlined the project now being advocated by the Coos County Good Roads association and made a good talk for its adoption. These annual reunions of the farmers are always very pleasant affairs for all who are fortunate enough to attend.

Road Official Sealer

D. L. Rood, of Marshfield, has been appointed official sealer of Coos county under the new Oregon law, which created the position for the purpose of having all scales and measuring baskets and cups examined by either measure or weight. His salary was fixed at $300 per year, it being understood that the job would probably only require a couple of months in the year. He is supposed to examine all the scales, large as well as small. Whether his examination of measuring cups will also include liquor glasses is a problem, as the law says that all measures used in the sale of commodities shall be examined. The idea of the law is to prevent short weights and measures.

Big Socialist Gathering

The Socialist picnic held in Simpson park, North Bend, Sunday, is reported to have been a big success. About 1800 people were in attendance during the day, and the oration delivered by J. B. Osborne, the blind speaker who is here tonight, had an audience of 1000. About 70 people went over from this vicinity, and a large crowd would have undoubtedly come from Bandon had the transportation facilities been such as to enable them to make the trip and return the same day.

Sunday's Games

Myrtle Point went down before Coquille Sunday by a score of 3 to 1, and Bandon cleaned her up to the tune of 11 to 3. The game with Coquille was interesting throughout, but Bandon took a lead early in the second game that practically decided it. Ording pitched for our boys, taking the place of Collier, who is said to have signed up with Marshfield for the rest of the season. The game between Marshfield and North Bend was a victory for the former, 8 to 3, Collier pitching for Marshfield.

Meeting at Bandon

The Good Roads meeting held at Bandon last Friday evening is reported to have been encouragingly large and enthusiastic. Many were present from up the river, but Coos Bay was not heavily represented. The meeting endorsed the understanding already arrived at, that the first funds available should be expended on the road from Myrtle Point to the Douglas county line. It was decided to ask the county court to call an election some time in November. Another meeting will be called for next week.

Governor Johnson Says Wilson is Vacillating

Declaration that the national administration has not come up to expectations and criticism of its policies, were voiced by Governor Hiram Johnson at a banquet in Los Angeles celebrating the first anniversary of the Progressive party.

"We have a foreign policy that is weak and vacillating; one word from Roosevelt is worth an army under Wilson," the governor declared after expressing his general opinion of the administration.

Johnson paid his respects to Attorney-General McReynolds and the president, declaring that what he called the recent whitewashing of the former differed in no essential from the "Whitewashing of Secretary Ballinger by President Taft." For Secretary Bryan the govern-nor admitted a pronounced regard but intimated that Bryan possibly has forgotten the proverb that advises five things to be remembered when one speaks—of whom you speak, to whom you speak and when and how and where. He added that he hopes never again to see the United States in the person of its secretary of state journeying across the continent "to lobby against legislation in the state of California."

The governor expressed satisfaction with the Progressive party and predicted its future greatness.

Sec. Daniels Talks

Upon returning to Washington from his western trip, Secretary Daniels made complete denial of any intention to keep half of the battleship fleet in Pacific waters. He declared, however, that if the Panama canal is ready for use in 1915 he will send the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific side before the formal opening of the 1915 fair, and will then bring it back to the Atlantic. He announced that big plans are under way for additional drydocks and naval stations on the Pacific coast.

Evening Scene

By Walt Mason.

The western sky is tinged with rose, the day is ended now; and wearily the farmer goes to milk the milky cow. The cow has anger in her eyes, and life to her seems stale, for all day long she's swatted flies with her brisk rosy tail. The farmer takes his milking stool and sits down by her side. "So, boss! So, boss!" we hear him drool, "dog-dog your brindled hide! So, boss! So, boss! I'll take a rail, or use a pitchfork's prongs, if you don't keep your doggone tail where your derped tail belongs! So, bossy, so—so and repeat! Be still, you peaky fool! You want to use your big splay feet to knock me off this stool! You've knocked the bucket half a block, and still your tail you switch! Just wait until I get a rock—I'll show you what is which!" The dusk has deepened into night, the zephyrs whisper low; the stars present a wondrous sight, a million worlds aglow. And still through dingle and through date the farmer trails his cow, and soaks her with a cedar rail upon her bulging brow. And he, though kindly and humane, can only cheer him on, for we've milked cows—and know the strain,—at eventide and dawn.
