SYNOPSIS OF MANY EVENTS

THE NEWS IN TABLOID FORM

Condensed for the Quick Assimilation of Busy Men and Women—General Round-Up of a Wide Scope

The trolley lines in Great Britain carried 3,127,000,000 passengers last year.

The Navy will erect a wireless station at Panama, with a radius of 3000 miles.

With a dash of orange juice into it. The arbitration treaty with Japan has expired.

Many floating logs are reported along the coast and are considered a menace to navigation.

Automobiles may now enter the Yosemite Valley park, but motorcycles are still barred.

The prisoners at the Atlanta, Ga. penitentiary run an extensive poultry plant inside the inclosure.

A machine gun mounted on the rear of a Ford makes a flying battery for a high Chinese official.

Kaiser William is said to have joined the ranks of the teetotalers and to have fallen back on lemonade.

The high record for an aeroplane carrying a passenger is now 13,400 feet, a little over two and one-half miles.

The quantity of natural gas produced from wells in Texas in 1912 was 7,470,373,000 cubic feet, valued at $1,405,077.

The American Locomotive Company has given notice that it will discontinue the manufacture of motor trucks.

The government will use 3,078,000 feet of Oregon fir in the construction of a dry dock at Pearl harbor, Hawaii Islands.

Canal engineers are having trouble in keeping the Panama railroad on top of a bottomless quagmire in the Gatun river valley.

A new $40,000 dam across the outlet of Lake Tahoe is to be constructed at once, with the consent of the United States government.

Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian Antarctic explorer and five companions were rescued from Macquarie island just in time to save their lives.

The latest military use made of the motorcycle is in Austria, where the two-wheeler aids in the quick laying of telephone and telegraph wires.

The production of coal in Kansas in 1912 increased from 6,178,728 short tons, valued at $9,479,572, in 1911, to 6,986,182 tons, valued at $11,324,130.

It is now proposed to greatly increase the size of lifeboats for ocean liners, giving them gasoline power and making them capable of carrying 250 passengers.

The production of coal in Texas in 1912 passed the 2,000,000-ton mark, with a value at the mines of $3,655,744. These figures are record breakers for the State.

The great steamship Imperator caught fire in the provision room while lying at the dock in Hoboken, but the flames were extinguished after considerable damage was done.

The quarrying of granite is one of the big industries of the country. During 1912, according to E. F. Borchard, of the United States Survey, the production in the United States was valued at $20,234,041.

The Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley railroads recently built a bridge a mile long, having a 264 foot draw, in 12 days, to take the place of the bridge over Newark bay, which was burned.

A flight was recently made across the English channel in the new Dunne self-balancing aeroplane, and the aviator claims that the problem of automatic stability has been solved. The new machine is shaped like a letter V and has no tail.

To the Boys and Girls

The earlier school fairs are already being held and at the end of another month most of them will be a matter of history. Every one connected with the work is anxious that that history read satisfactorily. This is about the last opportunity we shall have to call your attention to your exhibits for most of your work has already been done.

Just a few words about exhibiting. As we have often said, the intrinsic value of the prize you are competing for is of little importance compared with the habits of industry you are forming, and the experience you are gaining in learning how to do some practical thing well. If you borrow something to show, or take something to the fair you have not raised or made, you will fail to get the value out of it that you should. Now, do not understand me to say that you should not take anything to the fair that is not entirely the product of your own effort. Some of the fairs, especially those that were arranged for late in the season, do not require you to do all the work. Where this is the case I would urge you to take everything you can, under the rules, that will make a good showing. Take pride in assisting to make your fair a success. But where the rules require that you do all the work yourself, as they do at the state fair, do not try to evade them. We might deceive everyone but ourselves, but a clean conscience is worth everything. If we never do the first little dishonest trick, we will avoid a lot of trouble in this life. This is on the same principle as never taking the first drink to avoid being a drunkard. It is a safe rule.

Do not overlook the county and district prizes at the State fair. It is a fine thing to cultivate local pride and patriotism. Team work aids in developing this spirit, so join with your fellows and do your part to help your district and your county to have the banner exhibits. Co-operation is becoming more essential every day and you can not begin too early in life to practice it.

Wishing you all success, and hoping to meet a great many of you at the Fair, I remain,

Yours for better boys and girls,
N. C. Maris,
Field Worker Industrial Fairs.

Farmer Favors Bond Issue

Chas. J. Furhop of Lakeside was here a few days this week on business. He placed an order with Mr. Wray of Cooston for 23 Angora goats which will be delivered here this fall. Mr. Furhop states that while he would like to see ever possible effort made to improve the roads on his way, that he truly hopes the county bond issue will carry and that the road projected by the Coos County Good Roads be completed at an early date. He believes the benefit to the county will be a benefit to his farm, though he is many miles from the route of the projected road.—North Bend Harbor.

How to Wash Autos

According to Frank W. Cole, head of the Buick Company's painting department, the greatest trouble in keeping up the appearance of a car is that motorists abuse the varnish by not knowing how to remove dirt from the body. If mud forms on the car it should be removed immediately. Mud should be washed off before it dries on.

In the event of the mud becoming dry it should be softened with water by a stream being played upon it but too much force should be avoided. A stream that spurts to a coarse spray is best, and enough time should be spent at the work so that the mud will soak up and drop off of itself. After every bit of mud has been flooded off a chamois cloth should be applied. Motorists should be careful of the soap used in washing, as some brands take off the lustre of high finishes. Soft soap has proved to be the best. The same kind of polish used for pianos and high-class cabinet work is best adapted for use on motor cars.

To Postmasters

The attention of postmasters of small offices is hereby respectfully called to that provision of the postal laws which is given below. The present management of the Herald has been endeavoring to straighten out the subscription list, which is probably in worse shape than that of any other publication in the United States or its insular possession, without any exception whatever. Statements have been sent out to all names on the list. Somewhat to our surprise, quite a number of these letters have come back "returned to writer" with no explanation of the whyfore. This would indicate that the postmaster has never read his book of instructions. Further it would appear that copies of the Herald have been going for an unknown period to parties who have been gone away so long that the memory of the postmaster runneth not to the contrary. There is no excuse for this. The book of instructions which Uncle Sam furnishes to every postoffice is one of the clearest and most easily understood books published in the English language. The instructions are so full and complete and couched in such language that any one who can read can understand them, and there is no excuse for a neglect of duty. The newspaper man has enough to attend to without going through the course of study necessary for him to become a clairvoyant, and if the paper is not delivered he expects the postmaster to notify him of the fact. In this connection, attention is called to the extract from the Act of May 12, 1910, which is printed on the back of Form No. 8578, and which runs as follows:

Hereafter when copies of any publication of the second class, mailed by the publisher at the pound rate or free in the county of publication, are undeliverable at the address thereon, the postmaster at the office of destination shall promptly notify the publisher of the fact, giving the reasons therefor, and copies received five weeks after the mailing of the notice to the publisher, and in no instance until two successive issues thereof have been published, shall, under such regulations as the Postmaster General may prescribe, be separately returned to the publisher thereof charged with postage at the third class rate. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed. (Act of May 12, 1910.)

How 17,000 Gymnasts Appeared On Germany's New Athletic Field

PLEASE imagine 17,000 trained gymnasts, all clothed alike, in action at one time on an immense field. To the strains of music they go through their calisthenic movements with perfect rhythm and practically as one man. Such an inspiring sight was witnessed recently at Leipzig, Germany, when more than 100,000 athletes took part in games and contests there. The picture shows a section of the 17,000 as they appeared on the field. A gigantic stadium was built to seat the spectators, which was four times as large as that at the Olympic games at Stockholm. This stadium is permanent. The Olympic games in 1916 will be held there.

Have You Pride of Ancestry?

Then Read this Extraordinary Imaginative Showing of the Real Line of Descent, by Charlotte Perkins Gilman

I had been taught to revere my ancestors, and did so.

Ours was an Old Family. We had a Genealogical Tree, several Coats of Arms, and a Gallery of Portraits.

There were also Books, Records, Rubbings, and a mass of documentary evidence as to the excellence and dignity of my ancestors.

More immediately I had a grandfather who was an eminent jurist and a grand uncle who was a major-general. Back of that was a great-grandfather who was a leading divine, and one who was a governor. Back of that I could enumerate many great names, signers of the Declaration of Independence, Colonial Governors, and the like; and as soon as we crossed the ocean

Caught at It

The Post Office Department has caught the Republican standpatters in an illegal use of the frank for the distribution of tariff literature. Several years ago the American Protective Tariff League compiled selections from parts of several different standpat speeches. As a part of the Congressional Record this pamphlet was entitled under the law to free transmission through the mails on the frank of some member of Congress. It has been widely circulated by the Protective Tariff League under the frank of Senator Gallinger. There has been included in the pamphlet, however, other material which was not part of the Congressional Record, and which was, therefore, under the law, unfrankable. The Post Office Department has directed the post office at New York, where these pamphlets were being mailed, not to accept any more of them.

Coal on the Siuslaw

(Florence West)
Frank Ferguson has been engaged for some time past at digging a tunnel into the mountain in search of coal. He is now in about 130 feet and is working steadily in hopes of making a good strike. He has already found three veins, two of them being about three feet while in the other the coal is about four feet thick.

Mr. Ferguson is an experienced miner and is very confident there is lots of coal in that vicinity. The place where he is working is close to a railway surver and only a short distance from the end of one of the tunnels on that line.

W. S. Butler has also commenced digging in search of coal on Maple Creek.

New Mortgage Law

The following is an extract from the new mortgage law which goes into effect on Jan. 1 1914: "Any mortgage shall conclusively be presumed to be paid, satisfied and discharged after ten years have elapsed from the date of maturity of the mortgage and after that time no action, suit or proceedings shall be maintained for the foreclosure of same."

A party of 25 business men of Portland accompanied Samuel Hill, the good road expert, and the Multnomah County Commissioners on an automobile tour along the Oregon shore of the Columbia river, for the purpose of mapping out a new route for the Columbia River Scenic Highway to connect Portland with Hood River.
