Motoring to the Poorhouse

Over the hills to the poor house I'm setting a sizzling pace; I've mortgaged the home for an auto, and I'm playing her straight and for place. There are others well up in the running, but I'm holding my own, you bet—I can see the roof of the county farm, and I'm going to get there yet.

Of course, I couldn't afford it—there are very few that can. But the family whined about it and insisted I wasn't a man. If I didn't get six cylinders, a tonneau, some tires and plugs. And go out and speed on the highway with the automobile bugs.

The girls had to hire a "shuffer," a lantern juved son-of-a-gun. And when sunny goes for a joy ride I'm sorry he hasn't one. For whenever he hits a lamp post, or sends the old car in the ditch. I cough up some more spondulix, to fatten the bloated rich.

Whoopee! Clear the way, for I'm coming—just passed by a bunch of my friends.

All bent in the same direction, where the road of the scorcher ends. It's the pace of a drunken sailor at the helm of a rudderless ship—Over the hills to the poorhouse I'm hitting a heluva clip.

Houston (Tex.) Chronicle.

Manager Wilson announces that the great special feature picture, "Quo Vadis," will be on this circuit later. It was expected a couple of weeks ago and was advertised here, but for some reason failed to connect. The date of its exhibition here will be watched for by all those who know what a magnificent work it is. Made by the Italian Cines company in Rome, the scene of the immortal novel, it is undoubtedly the most pretentious feature picture yet produced, running a length of eight reels.

G. M. Anderson, "Broncho Billy," has opened a theater in San Francisco.

PARTISAN AND PATRIOT

(Portland Telegram)
President Wilson sounded a high note at Mobile. He declared a new American doctrine that will command the applause of American patriotism. If we ever engage in war, it must not be a war of conquest. The issue of it must be one of international morality.

Long has it been evident that in the case of our relations with Mexico, war has been the hope of selfish interests. Those interests are not of any single nation, and they care not what befalls so that their advancement is served. Circumstances of quite another character tend toward the war they hope for, and how the President may do justice to these circumstances and avoid the war is the fearfully delicate problem.

At all events, President Wilson has made it clear that so far as the United States is concerned there is to be no belligerent attitude toward Mexico that shall be prompted by the hope of material advantage or territorial acquisition. If offense must come, it will be because international morality demands it.

Grand Jury to Probe

The grand jury has been called to meet tomorrow to investigate the robbery of the safe of the town of Eastside, when over $3000 disappeared, worry over the affair causing the suicide of Mayor Jordan. It is said that the officials have collected sufficient evidence to fix the crime on the guilty party, and that it will be shown that a good part of the money was lost in poker games in Marshfield, some of it also going to the red-light district.

To Revive the Library

Mrs. Fred Belloni and Mrs. L. H. Hazard are making a canvass for new members for the Library Association. Interest in library matters has been somewhat slack for some time, and determined effort will now be made to arouse a little enthusiasm in this matter which would mean so much to the town. The room in the city hall in which the home of the library is to be, has been partly fitted for its reception, some selves and tables having been put in. Some of the books are there now and others are stored elsewhere. Quite a start for a li-

LIB HAINES SHOT TO DEATH

Family Trouble at Eckley Ends in a Killing

News reached here Saturday of a shooting affray at Eckley in which Lib Haines was fatally wounded by his brother-in-law, H. C. Hampton, his death resulting Sunday morning. It seems that there had been bad blood between the two men for some time, and that Haines had made several attacks on his sister, Mrs. Hampton.

Haines was a son of Joseph Haines, an old settler of the Eckley neighborhood. His conduct had been such that he was some time ago examined as to his sanity but was not committed to the asylum. He lived on a ranch adjoining that of Hampton.

On receipt of the news here, deputy Sheriff Clyde Gage started for the scene, but on reaching Myrtle Point he got into communication with the Curry county officials and learned that a deputy of that county was on his way. So he went no farther, as the affair had occurred on the Curry county side of the line.

A Myrtle Point correspondent of the Marshfield Record on Saturday gives the following particulars of the shooting:
Late reports from the Eckley district give the details concerning the fight between H. C. Hampton and Gib Haines, brother-in-laws, in which Haines received fatal injuries from which he died yesterday morning at ten o'clock. Haines was passing the farm where Hampton lived and called Hampton from the barn and commenced to abuse him. Hampton argued with Haines for a time and finally told him he did not care to continue to do so and ordered Haines to get off the place and keep away. Hampton thereupon returned to the barn, and Haines followed him in.

The talk was renewed and Haines suddenly drew a revolver and shot at Hampton, missing him. Hampton, who was armed, then drew his weapon and shot three times, striking Haines in the shoulder and twice in the abdomen. As he fell, fatally wounded, Haines fired twice again at Hampton, but did not strike him. Hampton afterward called the physician at Myrtle Point and when he arrived it was seen there was no hope for Haines living. No arrest had been made when the last information came here, and many believe Hampton will be acquitted when brought to trial.

Library is already on hand, and it is desired to get the room fitted up and the books arranged there, so as to be available for the public. It would not be possible at this time to hire a librarian to be constantly in attendance, but it is thought that arrangement can be made to have a librarian on duty at stated times so that the people can procure and exchange books. By keeping them in locked cases, the room can be kept open at all times, so that the people can procure and exchange the books. A public meeting will be held later, but the date has not yet been fixed. In the mean time, any one who wants to invest in two good lots would do well to look at those belonging to the Library Association, at the corner of Henry and Second street, opposite the court house. These were bought as a site for a library building but the action of the city council in placing a room in the city hall at the disposal of the association has made a building unnecessary, and therefore the lot is on the market. With these sold, quite a sum would be provided for the purchase of books.

Walters Company Here

The Fred A. Walters company of players opened at the Scenic last evening in "The Flower of Arizona," to a fair house, considering the bad weather. The audience was well pleased with the work of the company and especially of Fred A. Walters in a comedy part. An unpleasant feature was the boisterous behavior of a traveling man who was evidently the worse for liquor and wanted to astonish the natives. He was called down by Mr. Walters. The company will be here all the week and will undoubtedly draw good houses. Tonight they present another comedy drama, "A Kentucky Girl." No reserved seats will be sold, and prices have been reduced to a general admission of 25c for adults and 15c for children.

Board Makes New Start

At a meeting of the school board held last Thursday evening, all acts of the board relative to the purchase of the Barrow & Strang tract were rescinded, on motion of H. O. Anderson, the new director. A new start was then made by the adoption of a motion to offer Barrow and Strang $2500 for the land. The evident intention is to follow the method provided by law for the acquisition of the tract, and if an agreement with the owners can not be reached in the matter of price, to take it by condemnation proceedings.

Lawhorn-Baker

Mr. Ratliff H. Lawhorn of McKinley and Miss Beatrice Baker of Lee, were united in wedlock last Tuesday evening, Oct. 28, 1913, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Thos. Barklow of this city.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Lawhorn and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Baker, both families residing on the North Fork, and have many friends in the Myrtle Point Section, who join in best wishes for the bride and congratulations for the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff H. Lawhorn will make their home near McKinley.—Enterprise.

Myrtle Point Pointers

It is with regret I chronicle the death of Miss Helen Fensler, one of Myrtle Point's most charming young ladies, which occurred at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. She had been ill for time and had several doctors in attendance, but on Wednesday last she grew worse so fast Dr. Dix and Culin were called and pronounced the trouble appendicitis. She was immediately removed to the White Cross Hospital and operated on, but too late to save her life.

Bert Davenport and family are week end visitors at Max Dements, near Rural.

Mrs. O. O. Lund and daughter May came up Thursday from Coquille and were guests of Mrs. Wm. Long. Miss May took the stage Friday, to go to Bancroft, where she will teach.

The Halloween social given by the Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church, at Lundy's hall was well attended and a good time enjoyed. The fortune teller proved a seer of no mean ability. About $16 were realized.

Mrs. G. O. Lowe returned from North Bend Friday, as also did Mrs. S. S. Endicott from Bandon.

Ben Shall was taken very sick Saturday morning.

There was a shooting scrape at Eckley this morning, the 1st, between Jim Hayes and Hampton, but no particulars have been reported so far.

Sig Asen brought his little seven year old son to town Saturday to have his arm set which was broken by a fall. Dr. Johnson looked at it with the X-ray and found a piece of bone broken off. Silver wire was used to keep it in place and the child is doing nicely.

CURRY COUNTY CULINGS

(From the Port Orford Tribune)

M. T. Wright has taken the contract to deliver 150,000 feet of cedar logs from the Knap land near the cemetery to the little mill in town.

A. G. Pederson, who has been fishing at Rogue river for the past several months, returned to his home at Port Orford the latter part of last week. He says the run of fish at that place has been light.

There has been a big run of fall salmon in Sixes and Elk rivers. Chauncey and Corney Woodruff who have been fishing the former stream have been doing well but would have done better had they been prepared to handle all the fish they could catch. S. P. Pierce, who is fishing in Elk, has also been handicapped by not having the equipment to take care of the salmon that could be caught.

Steven Merrill has been spending several days in the northern end of the county since our last issue, investigating the cheese business with a view to building a factory at Euchre creek. It is Mr. Merrill's intention to be ready for business when spring opens, and he expects to commence putting up the necessary buildings in the near future. He says that the first season he will handle the milk from 80 to 100 cows. The people in that neighborhood are stocking up with Jerseys, and the outlook for the cheese industry is very promising.

A number of the boys around town have gone out to work on the Sixes mines, where the company is paying $2.50 a day and board.

A Lovely Face—But Ugly Hair

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by ugly hair—face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of. Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness. Its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. Write for a free trial bottle to: F. H. F. Pharmacy, Coquille, Oregon.

Leave your call with Big Ben, he'll call you on the dot at any time you say.

And if you roll over and try "just-one-more-nap," he'll repeat his call 30 seconds later and keep on calling until you're wide awake.

Big Ben stands 7 inches tall—He's heavy, massive, handsome. He's got a great, big dial you can easily read in the dim morning light, a sunny deep toned voice you'll hear distinctly on your sleepiest mornings.

I've placed him in the window. Look at him whenever you go by.

Trollope's Recipe For Novel Writing.
Mr. Trollope wrote immensely and never waited for inspiration. He said the best recipe he knew for novel writing was a patch of cobble's wax on his chair and to take great care he sat on it.—"Leaves From a Life."
