J. C. Kendall, the Marshfield attorney, was in town yesterday, going home on the afternoon train.

Weather observer Wren reports that the rainfall here for 1913 was 47.75 inches, against 55.05 inches for 1912.

The loggers above tidewater want more rain, as the water has not been high enough to make a clean-up of the logs.

Four thousand feet of pictures every night at the Scenic.

The printing of the county court proceedings, notices etc. for this year has been awarded to the Record and Times, of Marshfield.

T. A. Walker has lost his awe of his new Ford auto to such an extent that he has it out for service again in spite of the bad weather.

The vaudeville act at the Scenic last night, by Jane Elwin, the lady cartoonist, was something new here and well worth seeing. It will be repeated tonight.

Lyons & Jones have the Red D Loggers Shoes; caked, $8.50, without calks, $8.00.

P. D. Chamberlain, who worked this county last year for the L. C. Smith typewriter and who was arrested recently on a charge of bigamy, has been released, the Portland grand jury finding "not a true bill."

There will be a meeting of the members of the Library Association next Friday evening at the library room in the city hall for the purpose of electing a new board and reorganizing.

No additional widows' pensions were allowed at the meeting of the county court, and that allowed heretofore to Mrs. Dal Morse, of Bandon, was discontinued, the lady having obtained a government position.

C. C. Chabo writes to the Herald from Gillette, Wyo., that they are having a fine open winter there and that they have not had enough snow to run the sleighs, something unusual. Autos are still handling traffic with good success.

Lyons & Jones have the shelled Pecans, Almonds and Peanuts; try them.

Mrs. Rachel Willard, a resident of the Coquille valley since 1869, died at her home in Bandon Thursday morning at the age of 87 years. The funeral was held Friday in this city, where with her husband, the late Thomas Willard, she lived for many years.

William Dahl, who has been employed in the Coquille logging camp, hanged himself to the bed post with a leather strap at Marshfield last week, while recovering from a drinking bout, and when his attendant returned after a few minutes' absence life was extinct.

Mrs. W. H. Schroeder, who has been quite seriously ill, is reported this afternoon as being about the same, with little if any improvement.

In the high school debates held at Marshfield and North Bend Thursday night, the Marshfield teams carried off the honors at both places. The Coquille was drawn on for judges, A. T. Morrison of this city and S. D. Palford and W. T. Dement, of Myrtle Point, acting at Marshfield; J. J. Stanley, W. C. Chase and H. O. Robinson at North Bend.

The county court this morning finished the work of appointing judges and clerks of election, also the road supervisors for the different districts of the county. Few changes were made, and the protest from Fairview against the reappointment of Stout was not considered sufficient cause to refuse him another term.

N. T. Trumbull, who is here from his home in Minnesota, visiting relatives across the river, says that while he was at the family woodpile a few days ago he heard a gun fired across the river, and the charge of shot found lodgement in the pile of wood which lay between him and the shooter. It would please him fully as well if hunters would look before they shoot.

V. C. Gorst, of Marshfield, has taken the engine and propeller from the Gorst & King hydroplane which was wrecked at Toledo some time ago, and has rigged them on a boat, making 36 miles an hour on his trial trip on the bay. He expects to get 60 miles an hour out of the craft when he gets the steering gear to working better.

Try to be at least as forgiving toward other people as you are toward yourself.

All For Good Roads

"A Marshfield paper says: Voters have begun registering for the new year at Justice Penneck's office and at the Chamber of Commerce, and during the first day there was not a single person who missed signing the petitions calling for an election on the bond issue for good roads in Coos county. The indications are that the election will be called by an overwhelming majority.

The Evening Record has this: J. B. Robertson, a well-known rancher of the Templeton district and a foremost booster for good roads in Coos county, was in the city yesterday and while here talked with the Record. Mr. Robertson said that while the last agreement among the good roads advocates does not meet with the endorsement of everyone in his portion of the county, still it is the best that has so far been advanced and will undoubtedly be accepted by a goodly majority, if the voters get a chance to pass upon it.

Circuit Court

The trial of Hillis Short, accused by Game Warden Thomas of shooting ducks unlawfully on Tenmile lakes, was postponed until April 23.

The grand jury has again been called into action to dispose of a number of criminal cases which have recently bobbed up. Among those now in jail or bound over to await action are Mrs. Lottie Cappius, of Marshfield, charged with attempting to kill Elmer Perkins; Fred Smith, a logger charged with a statutory offense on the person of an eight-year girl at Bandon; Miss Ruby Simpson, of Bandon, charged with the theft of a diamond ring; Miller, suspected of complicity in the Myrtle Point bank robbery; Charles Spencer, charged with forgery.

H. Vaughan, alias Smith, etc., was found guilty of horse stealing. He was convicted on the charge of stealing a team from the Lib Haynes estate near Eckley and selling them to J. Hakanson of the North Bend stables.

The case of Rexford Starr against Conlogue Brothers, on which the jury disagreed in December, was again tried Saturday, and a verdict was found for the defendants. Starr lost a leg in the Conlogue camp and was suing for damages.

The case of Crouch vs. Bestol was on trial this morning.

A report from the grand jury is expected tomorrow.

Had His Troubles

C. S. Hall, of the Grand, had troubles of his own last night, when the Edison projecting machine went on a strike, and it was necessary to run all the pictures on the new Powers machine. This made a few minutes' wait between the reels, which probably annoyed Mr. Hall more than it did the audience. Having the two machines in operation, he intends by switching from one to the other to have one reel follow another without any wait between, as was done Saturday night, and he wishes through the Herald to express to the people his regrets that, owing to the disabling of one machine, this could not be done last evening.

Lumber Prospects Good

D. D. Pierce, of the C. M. & M. Co., tells the Herald that the prospects in the lumber market have been brightening, and that he now anticipates an excellent year. The improvements inaugurated in the local mill last year have now been completed and the capacity of the plant has been raised to 50,000 a day. These changes were quite extensive and included the putting in of new foundations wherever needed and the addition of many labor-saving appliances and much new machinery. The resaw recently installed is proving a most satisfactory piece of equipment, not only adding to the output of the mill, but making for economy and the elimination of waste. Any lumber cut off-dimension on the big saw can now be slipped through the resaw and brought to the exact requirements. While the company makes a specialty of attending to the local trade first, it ships the surplus to the outside, and the prospects in the shipping trade are very encouraging.

New Bonding Petitions

The Good Roads advocates are again getting active, in preparation for rolling up of a petition that shall leave no doubt in the minds of Coos county what a chance to vote on the bonding proposition. Now that the new registration has commenced it is possible to get signatures about whose legality there can be no question, and it is proposed to make sure that all those appearing on the petitions shall be found to be properly registered. To this end, registration officers and petition circulators will to quite an extent travel in pairs, and where a voter is found who is not registered he will be entered on the registration blank in his right precinct before he signs the petition. President Morrison delivered the blanks at North Bend and Marshfield last Thursday, and a supply has also been sent to Tenmile. No trouble is anticipated in getting the requisite number of signatures.

Up Two Stumps.

Little Johnny was in the habit of wanting more victuals put upon his plate than he could eat. His papa decided to break him of the habit. One day as Johnny insisted upon being served until his plate was well filled his papa said, "Johnny, if I give you this you will have to eat every bit of it or I will punish you." Johnny promised that he would, and bravely did the little fellow try to do so, but in vain. It was too much for him. He would try again and again and then look sorrowfully at his papa. Finally, laying down his fork, he said: "Papa, if you was me which would you rather do, get a licking or bust?"

That Tax Penalty

Replying to an inquiry from Oregon City, Attorney General Crawford has written as follows:

Replying to your letter of December 31, inquiring as to whether, if one-half of the tax on any person's estate is paid on or before April 1, they are required to pay a penalty on the last half, providing the last half is paid prior to September 1 of that year, I beg to state that such is not the intention of the statute, allowing one-half of the tax to be carried over until September 1; the royalty would not begin on this half until September 1.

Coal Trade Increasing

That Coos county is coming into her own as a coal producing and distributing section is now assured. J. K. Smith of the Riverton mines who has been in the city the last couple of days informs a representative of the Recorder that his company has contracts to deliver several thousand tons of coal to Portland from the Riverton mines and they also have large contracts to deliver coal to Prince Rupert, but could not get any transportation to that northern country at this time of the year.

The Mexican coal market is also open to this place, and as soon as the troubles down there are settled the Coos County Colliers have contracts for many thousand tons of coal in Mexico.

Mr. Smith is very sanguine over

Good Buy in improved Farm

22. Seven miles from Coquille one of the best farm propositions that have been offered. Not a clay loam but a silt soil of about 125 acres. Very nearly all under plow; fine location; a south and southeast exposure; well drained; fine flowing springs; 60 or more cattle, horses, all kinds of implements, houses and barns. Can grow vegetables, oats, barley, corn and clover. Close to railroad, county road by place. Dairy and pork will make you an extensive bank account. This farm is class A. No. 1, and will bear thorough investigation. Will represent an investment of approximately $30,000. Can arrange good terms
