Temptingly Low Prices

Lorenz' Annual Sale are an event in merchandising in this valley. Our determination is to carry no dead or out-of-date stock from year to year, but to make an annual clean-up of broken lines and all goods which are not of the always-staple lines and patterns. To this end we make prices that will move the goods and keep our stock bright, new and attractive. It is our purpose to now eclipse all previous money-saving opportunities, many goods in the stock being priced at actual cost. It will pay economical buyers to make purchases now for advance use. Everything in the house except contract goods, have been greatly reduced in price for the balance of January, for cash only.

SAN FRANCISCO OR PORT-LAND--WHICH?

An effort is being made to induce the merchants of this river to guarantee sufficient freight to pay a steamer of the Brooklyn's class to go on the regular run between this port and Portland. This means that trade amounting to some thousands of tons a month of assorted merchandise must be switched from San Francisco to Portland. If any one among the Herald's readers can give good reason why this should be done, we will be glad to publish his analysis of the situation. To one who has watched the course of events in this section for the past 38 years it seems that every consideration, both of sentiment and business policy, would dictate a continuance of close trade relations with the city which has always taken our products, from which the capital has come for the development of our resources, and in which our merchants and buyers have always received treatment of a liberality and courtesy, which call, if not for gratitude, at least for appreciation. Until C. A. Smith came into this country practically every enterprise requiring outside capital found its backing in San Francisco. The one notable exception is the Southern Oregon Company, which was an Eastern enterprise and which has done as much to hold this country back as any one human influence. But never a dollar of Portland money has gone into the development of a Coos county resource; never a shipload of Coos county products has found a market in Portland. Even the transportation facilities by which Portland has already drawn more profit from Coos county trade than she has ever entitled to have been furnished by San Francisco or Southern Pacific capital. The enterprises on this river today which require outside backing draw their strength from San Francisco. It isn't a bad policy for an individual or a community to stand in with those who stand in with them. If Portland wants a share of the trade pickings on this river, let her subsidize a transportation line, if necessary, and compete for it.

City Council

The city council met last evening with a full attendance excepting Councilman Pierce.

The matter of establishing a public hitching rack for the convenience of the country trade was up for discussion, and the plan proposed was to place it at the junction of First street (Elliott's addition) and Hall street, where a similar rack was once maintained, planking the north side of the street from the present planking. The fact was reported to the council that George Robinson, who owns the two lots on the corner would object to the rack being placed there, and the street committee was instructed to confer with Mr. Robinson on the project.

The matter of the cinders from the mill was also discussed, but no action was taken, the council being strongly averse to doing anything to embarrass the mill company, which is expected to take some steps to abate the nuisance as soon as practicable.

The appointment of P. M. Hall-

Lewis to his old place as city engineer was submitted by Mayor Morrison to the council and was confirmed.

Ordinance No. 107 was passed, authorizing the city to issue city improvement bonds in the sum of $6434.15 for unpaid assessments for the improvement of First street in Elliott's and Motley's addition.

Myrtle Point Pointers

John Broadbent resigned his position at the Sugar Loaf Creamery and took the last steamer from Bandon to San Francisco where he will remain for a while.

We are sorry to say Mrs. Herman Luckner is very sick and on Monday the 19th was removed to North Bend where she will undergo a surgical operation at the Mercy Hospital.

The basket ball game between Myrtle Point and Bandon on Friday the 16th at the new hall erected where the dancing pavilion was, by R. C. Dement, was won by the M. P. team, they coming out two points ahead. A fair crowd was in attendance notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather.

During the hard wind of last week four large panes of glass were blown from the new school house windows.

Jas. Lewellen, who recently returned from a trip north, took his departure for Los Angeles on the last south bound steamer.

C. H. Southmayd is improving slowly.

OBSERVER

CURRY COUNTY CULLINGS

(From the Port Orford Tribune)
Miss Ruby Carey, of Coos county, has been visiting friends and relatives in Port Orford during the past week.

Editor H. T. Stewart and family expect to return from their visit to Southern California on or before the first of February, which will be a great relief to the editor pro tem as well as to the readers of the Tribune.

The County Court last week granted the petition for a change in the road from Knapp's Barn up Gold Run gulch, thence to or near the cemetery, and thence to connect with the present road at a point near the top of the Hubbard's creek hill.

Steve Merrill has the lumber on the ground and is preparing to build a cheese factory at Enchre Creek, on what is known as the D. L. Moore place, and hopes to have it ready for the beginning of the dairy season. He expects to have the milk from about 100 cows to begin with.

Fishtrap and Vicinity

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pinkston and two children, Eunice and Lena, have been visiting friends and relatives at Bandon for the past week. They report the weather as being extremely bad while there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robison have been staying at Mr. Pinkston's place during the latter's visit at Bandon.

Nile Miller had the misfortune to sprain his ankle very badly, while he and James Hammock were on their way over to Bear Creek, last Thursday.

Miss Violet Royer of Myrtle Point is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hammock, of Upper Fishtrap. (Better look out Cassie.)

Mrs. F. M. Miller, or Aunt Serilda, as nearly everyone calls her, has been quite sick for several days suffering with neuralgia around the heart. She is improving, however, being able to be around again.

Cleghorn place, has given up his job and came up Saturday intending to remain on the place. Mrs. Larue is expected home in about two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Larue are now grandparents, as a little daughter was born to Mrs. Herbert Saffell (their daughter) of near Los Angeles, during Mrs. Larue's visit there.

School on Upper Fishtrap is drawing to a close, only a few more weeks remaining. John Finel is teacher, having taught a six months term.

Alva Taylor, who has been sick with lagrippe, is still very weak, suffering from a bad cough, but is getting better, however.

Mrs. Tex. Robison has been visiting her son George and family remaining with them several days of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rock Robison, who recently came here, have been visiting in the home of Marion Clinton for several days. After considerable delay they have received their household goods, which were shipped here from Portland. They will live in the Frank Fish house for awhile, possibly during the remainder of the winter.

Miss Ethel Taylor is home again for a week or so, as Mrs. Jenkins, in whose home she is employed, is visiting on the lower river.

Misses Belva Pingston and Hazel Radabaugh visited over Sunday at their homes on Fishtrap.

The Ladies' Aid of this place held their last meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Fish.

The Farmers' Union met at the school house last Saturday, but as there was no ice cream and cake in evidence, the turnout was not all that could be expected. What is the matter, are the men "broke," or just getting tired of seeing their wives make pigs of themselves. Which is it?

I wonder if the Earceest, tender glances of a certain young man of this community is not balm for a broken heart?
