THE UNION EVANGELISTIC SERVICES BEGIN SUNDAY

The Taylor Evangelistic company will begin a series of Union Meetings at the skating rink, beginning Sunday. The company consists of the following persons. Geo. W. Taylor of Los Angeles, Evangelist. Prof. Clarence E. Lane, his assistant and musical director. Paul B. Taylor, Soloist. Mrs. Taylor, Cornetist and leader in personal work. Mr. Taylor has proved himself an unusually successful evangelist and the churches feel themselves fortunate in having secured him.

The largest chorus of voices ever heard in Coquille will sing in these meetings.

The skating rink will make a fine place to hold the meetings, and the building will be comfortably heated and seated with chairs and church pews. A large attendance is confidently expected.

An Umbrella Mystery

The paragraph about the lost umbrella is hoary with age, but here is a glimpse of the other side of the shield. One day last week the editor of this paper went to the post office for his mail, got it and returned straight to the office, calling nowhere either going or coming. Then he unhooked the umbrella from his left elbow to stand it in its usual place in the corner by the door, when he was much surprised to find the corner already occupied by his own property. A second look at the umbershoot in his hand showed that it was an entire stranger that he never saw before in his life. Where he acquired it is still an unsolved mystery. We would be glad to have the owner, if there be one, call and get it—but we loaned it to E. A. Folsom during one of Sunday's showers, and haven't seen it since.

Comic Opera Saturday

On Saturday evening next, at Masonic hall, the comic opera, "The New Minister," will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Geo. Leach for the benefit of the Southern Methodist church. There are fifty people in the cast, and rehearsals have been in progress for more than two months. The opera is full of fun from start to finish. Mr. Geo. Leach, an oldtime favorite in Coquille, being the "big scream." There is good singing, good comedy and good music. The following are among those participating in the play: Geo. Leach, Frank G. Leslie, C. E. McCurdy, Melvin Kern, Earl Leslie, Perry Lawrence, Aaron Wilson, M. O. Hawkins, Miss Myrtle Lund, Miss Beulah Price, Mrs. Frank G. Leslie, Mrs. Kate Watson, Mrs. J. S. Lawrence. Reserved Seat Tickets on Sale at Fuhrman's Drug Store.

Commercial Club Meets

The Commercial Club held a well attended meeting last Tuesday evening and several matters of importance were discussed. Secretary Lew Cates proffered his resignation, made necessary by his coming departure, and Prof. Howard was appointed to fill the vacancy for the present. Secretary Cates reported $157.50 in the treasury, and at his request a committee, consisting of C. A. Howard, L. J. Cary and A. J. Sherwood, was appointed to audit the books. James Watson made a nice talk in appreciation of Mr. Cates' services to the club and to the community, for which services he had declined all compensation, and his remarks were enthusiastically concurred in by all those present. Mr. Watson suggested that as a mark of appreciation and esteem the club tender Mr. Cates a banquet before his departure, and the suggestion was adopted, the chair appointing Messrs. Watson, Sherwood, Cary, Morrison and Lamb as a committee on arrangements.

Action was taken looking to the repair of the large sign at Marshfield which was erected last summer by this city, Bandon and Myrtle Point, and was wrecked by a high wind in the fall.

The secretary was instructed to correspond with the proper officials of the Breakwater and the local railroad in an endeavor to eliminate the delay in the receipt here of freight from Portland.

Among the speakers were H. W. Young, the new proprietor of the Sentinel, J. C. Smith, of the state Agricultural College, and Mayor Morrison, the latter urging everyone to register and sign the good roads petition.

Bar Dredge Arrives

After five years of waiting from the time the appropriation for her construction was made, the bar dredge Col. P. S. Michie arrived at Coos Bay last Wednesday and was received with much noisy welcome by the optimistic citizens of that part of the county, some of whom hope that her work may have some effect in deepening the channel on their bar. On Saturday she went down and sucked up a load of sand which she took to sea and dumped, but it is not intended to work regularly on the bar during bad weather.

Curry Pioneer Passes Away

Mrs. Caroline Forty died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bentz, at Bunker Hill, at the age of 86. She was the widow of George Forty, who died a number of years ago. They formerly lived at Port Orford, where two sons, George and Charles still reside. She had been making her home on Coos Bay for about ten years.

School Notes

Do not fail to hear Dr. Hodge of Oregon University at the court house Thursday evening at 7:30. The lecture will be over in time for the Commercial Club banquet.

Various members of the public speaking class have appeared before the high school assembly during the past few days. Verna Phillips and Ben Hersey have both given readings. On last Thursday morning a pantomime was given representing a scene in a dentist's office. Perry Lawrence represented the dentist, George Oerding, the man with a toothache, Mary Fuisonne, the little girl with a bad tooth, and Naomi Knowlton, the little girl's mother. The selection was exceedingly well given and was highly appreciated.

Professor Pitman, who is doing extensive work for the Oregon state Normal, will deliver a lecture in Coquille on Wednesday evening, Feb. 4. The place of the meeting will be published later. In addition to the evening lecture, Mr. Pitman will address the high school students in the morning and the teachers in the afternoon. All teachers from surrounding districts as well as others interested are cordially invited to the address to teachers which will be given at the school house at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Examinations began yesterday. The first semester closes next Friday.

Basket Ball

The Coquille High School basketball team made a trip to Myrtle Point last Friday night and defeated the High School team there by a score of 25 to 19. Coquille took the lead from the beginning and although Myrtle Point put forth lots of energy and some good playing they were unable to turn the score. The basket shooting done by Miller, center for Myrtle Point, was a feature of the game. Out of eleven foul baskets tried at by him nine were made and some of his field goals were of the sensational kind.

The local boy were not used to a hall as large as the one in which they were playing (and let us say here that Myrtle Point now has an excellent hall) and at first were somewhat at a loss to locate the basket. Leslie played in hard luck as to making baskets but played a fine guarding game. Kern is coming to the front as a forward and played a good game. Oerding showed up with all of his former style, while the way Miller and Watson guarded their men left nothing to be desired.

The points were made as follows: For Myrtle Point in the first half, Miller made one field goal and five foul and Dement one field goal. In the second half Miller made two field and four foul goals and Reckliff one field goal. For Coquille in the first half Leslie made one field goal, Kern two and Oerding two field and two foul. In the second Leslie two field goals; Kern two and Oerding one and three fouls.

"Bucky" Mast accompanied the team in capacity of referee in place of Walter Oerding, and did himself credit considering it was his first game.

A double header will be played here next Friday evening when Bandon comes up to play the local High School and Riverton will meet the Firemen. The former will be the first league contest which the people of Coquille have had an opportunity to witness.

At Norway Saturday evening the Riverton High School boys took the Norway Athletic club down to defeat on their own floor by a score of 18 to 7, in a fast rough game. This makes three consecutive wins for the Riverton High boys, as they had won from Bandon, 24 to 10, at Bandon, and had beaten Norway 14 to 19 on the home floor. The Riverton High was unfortunate in not being included in the league, but will eventually secure some open dates. The boys are young to play athletic clubs, but they are willing to play any team anywhere. They look forward to their game with the Fireman at Coquille Friday evening as another easy victory.

Skin Grafting Operation

(Western World)
A very delicate skin grafting operation was performed at Emergency hospital yesterday when Dr. Mann, assisted by Drs. Leep and Gale, transplanted eight square inches of cuticle from Oscar Farris and Miss Wilma McLeod onto the face of Joseph Doyle, the 18-months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Doyle of Bills creek, who two weeks ago last Monday fell onto a hot stove, severely injuring himself. The little lad had been terribly burned on the right side and his right hand will be disfigured for life. His face on the right side was so badly burned that his eye was drawn out of position. The operation yesterday was performed in the hope of removing the condition and preventing permanent disfigurement.

Ko-Keel Klub Meets

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Ko Keel Klub was held Monday evening at the club rooms.

The by-law banishing intoxicating liquors in every shape and form from the club rooms was unanimously adopted. There was not a single dissenting vote.

There were a number of new applications for membership. Those who had been posted a sufficient length of time and who were voted on and elected were John W. Miller, Harry Oerding, Perry Lawrence and Walter Oerding. The party of the 17th inst was such a marked success, it was decided to give another on the evening of Feb. 14th, St. Valentines day, and the committee having this in charge are Fay Jones, Robt. Watson, John Paulson, Hall Lewis and Dr. Endicott which assures an enjoyable time.

"Another Landmark Gone"

The Marshfield dailies contain accounts of the blowing up of one of the old wrecks on the mudflats opposite that town, and an astonishing variety of information as to the identity of the wreck was gleaned from the "old residents." The bones of two steamers rested on the flats, though one collection had nearly disappeared beneath the surface. One wreck was that of the stern-wheel bay steamer Messenger, which should be remembered by all the old settlers. She used to ply between Empire City, then the county seat, and Utter City, then a flourishing village at the head of steamboat navigation on Isthmus slough, where she made connections with the Isthmus Transit railroad and handled the traffic from this side. She was one of the first good passenger boats on the Bay, being preceded by the Coos, a small side-wheeler. One night she took fire while lying at the Dean & Co. dock and was cut loose, drifting across the channel to the mudflats, where she burned to the water's edge. She left her remains about opposite the present Beaver Hill coal bunker.

The other wreck was that of the tug Escort, which was built at Marshfield by John Howlett and which towed vessels on the bay and over the bar for many years under command of Captain James Magee, probably the best bar-tug man on the coast. J. F. Dunham, after closing his sawmill near Coaledo, was engineer on the Escort in the early eighties. The old Escort was built on wonderfully graceful lines and she was one of the prettiest craft that ever navigated the water. To see her coming up the bay under full speed was an artistic treat. She also "handled well," and the writer has many times seen Captain Magee lay her alongside and parallel with the dock, so close that the deck-hand could step ashore, but not touching the wharf until the line was out. Through niggardliness of the owners, her boilers came to be in a chronic state of weakness and finally they blew up one day opposite the Marshfield water front, and she was deposited on the flats opposite town, quite a distance north of the Messenger wreck. Later the hull was burned to the water's edge. Now the timbers have to be removed, as the channel is to be widened by dredging.

The Brownville glove factory will be moved to Albany.

The blockaded roads caused a two days delay in the delivery of a barn, used only as a shelter to stock, which he intended to move to a more suitable location last fall, but decided to wait until spring.

Last Saturday morning it was moved without any effort on his part, and now instead of occupying 35 feet square of ground it covers an area of about five acres. It certainly spread itself.
