

The Coquille Herald

PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY

Entered as second class matter May 8, 1905, at the post office at Coquille, Oregon, under act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

P. C. LEVAR, Lessee.

Devoted to the material and social upbuilding of the Coquille Valley particularly and of Coos County generally. Subscription, $1.50 per year in advance.

Phone Main 354.

Jackson and Coos counties started at about the same time to vote for the improvement of highways within those counties. Jackson county has progressed and Coos has stood still. Jackson has sold bonds, let the contract for 52 miles of paved road, contractor has begun work and the money to pay him has arrived from the eastern bonding houses. Coos county has done little but pass petitions, to be in turn rejected on account of technicalities. The people are not daunted at this continual failure and are now at this time passing the petitions calling for an election which will be the fourth time the process has been gone over. We are certain the people mean business but somehow there has always been a loop hole and errors have crept in. It is high time we ascertained for a certainty how to proceed and then go slowly. Another failure will set the people back so far there will never be any chance of getting the muddle cleared.—N. B. Harbor.

Last Days of Pompeii

The noisy rumble of this busy workaday world is all forgotten when one visits the manifold beauties of George Kleins photo drama production of "The Last Days of Pompeii"—the spectator seems again, to live in the happy days of that lost city on the shores of the beautiful Bay of Naples. To feel oneself a part and parcel of that chattering throng of pleasure seekers scoffing at the new sect of Christians so earnest and severe in their mein, to revel in the gossip of the happy maidens over the handsome Greek youth Glaucus and his beautiful Athenian sweetheart Ione. One can almost feel the presence of the blind flower girl Nydia, her bosom torn by her hopeless passion for her master whose love for Ione renders him far more blind than the unhappy slave herself. That same spirit of aversion and wonder comes over us when the wise Egyptian priest Arbaces passes, rapt in his profoundity and contempt of his surroundings. And when Ione and Glaucus take their trips in their gayly decorated barge, upon the bay, you can almost imagine you hear the ripple of the waters as they splash against the oars, and so through every minute of this awe-inspiring drama of life, you follow the thread with an almost personal note, until the dormant Vesuvius rouses from its slumber and vents its potent rage in clouds of smoke and fire, pouring showers of molten stone and lava—forever blotting out the records of ages of man's attainment. And when the final curtain falls upon the picture of the beautiful slave girl Nydia floating peacefully upon the bosom of the sea—the spectator files out into the world again dazed by the maddening sounds and feels as though he has awakened from a dream in which he lived and moved more than seventeen centuries ago. Pictures that can do this with a spectator are no ordinary achievement. "The Last Days of Pompeii" will be the attraction at the Scenic on Feb. 21st.

Coquille High Loses

The basket ball situation in Coos county is becoming decidedly interesting. Last Friday the Coquille High went to North Bend and lost by a score of 14 to 10, in what was perhaps the best game of the series so far although quite rough in spots. The North Bend hall was in very poor condition, the lights being dim and the floor surrounded by a fence so low that to get anywhere near it was to be put in immediate danger of being transferred to the spectators' side. This, together with the closeness of the score, makes the Coquille boys confident that they can win from the North Bend boys in the game to be played on the home floor Friday. This would leave these two teams tied for first place and already there is some discussion as to where it would be best to play off the tie. Most of the local boys are in favor of a series of three games; one at North Bend, one here and one on neutral ground.

It is possible that an excursion train will run from Marshfield for the game Friday night and a large crowd and splendid game is expected.

The standings of the teams at present are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
North Bend	4	0
Coquille	3	1
Marshfield	2	2
Myrtle Point	1	4
Bandon	1	4

Interest Deepens

Much progress is being made in the big union revival effort at the skating rink. The attendance is increasing, the interest deepening and many are being persuaded to take steps leading to better lives. The rink was crowded to its full capacity Sunday evening, standing room being at a premium. A total of 144 persons have responded to the call of Christ and the Church.

Evangelist Geo. W. Taylor is preaching some great sermons. He has a unique way of driving the truth home to the hearts of his hearers. The music continues to be a drawing power. Many are finding their way to the hall early and the song services, in charge of Mr. Clarence Lane, are being started a little before the time announced, 7:30. The orchestra is growing, the work of both the big chorus and the Juniors is splendid and the singing generally is spirited and inspiring. Mrs. Taylor's cornet solos and Paul Taylor's vocal offerings are pleasing features of every service.

PAUL D. TAYLOR

Mr. Taylor's famous amusement sermon, "Sowing the Wind," will be delivered tonight. A male quartet composed of Messrs. Frank and Ari Leslie, Earl Willey and Lane will sing.

The subject tomorrow evening will be "How Shall We Escape?" Thursday evening it will be "What Must I Do to Know?" or "The Proof of the Pudding." On Friday night the service will begin earlier than usual, when the theme will be "The Limit of Love."

To The Democratic Voters

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for County Judge of Coos county, Oregon, on the Democratic ticket for the coming primary election. I favor permanent highways and the development of the wonderful wealth of Coos county consistent with economical and judicious expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

J. J. STANLEY,
Coquille, Oregon

Circuit Court

Judge Harris came from Eugene last week and held a short equity session of the circuit court. Some of the Kinney matters being on the program, Judge Coke did not care to pass on them, having been interested in the property.

V. E. Watters are reappointed receiver for the property, it being desired to leave no doubt as to his authority to give a good deed to the property. Fred K. Gettins was appointed guardian for Major Kinney, who is at present in a San Francisco sanitarium.

A divorce was granted to Robert Prewett, from his wife, Mary Prewett.

Myrtle Lodge Celebrates

Myrtle Lodge No. 3, K of P. at the lodge rooms in Marshfield last night celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the order, and entertained a large number of the relatives and friends of the members. An open session of the lodge was held, with a special service arranged for the occasion, and a program of music, songs and recitations, after which a banquet was enjoyed by all. Many members who have belonged to Myrtle Lodge for thirty years or more were present. Among those in attendance from this side were James Watson and P. C. Levar, of this city, and Henry Ploeger and P. L. Phelan, of Myrtle Point.

ONE KILLED. TWO WOUNDED

Victims of Bootleg Whiskey and Miners' Feud

An evening's fighting at Henryville, Sunday, between the coal miners of Beaver Hill and those of the Smith mine culminated in shooting, fatal in the case of John Kelly who died last night at the hospital in North Bend. Bert Wilson and Bert Hill were also wounded and the former is at the North Bend hospital, together with Bert Johnson, who was badly beaten up. It seems that there had been bad blood between the miners of the two camps, and all of the injured men belonged to the Smith faction.

The row started at what is well understood to have been a blind pig, between Johnson and the proprietor, Joe Ferrari, the latter assisted by the Beaver Hill bunch. Johnson was badly beaten up and was taken away by his friends. Later they missed Dell Hennessey, who had joined them afterward, and a bunch of the Smith men started back, thinking he had fallen into the hands of the Beaver Hill forces. As a matter of fact, he had been cut off from his friends and had gone down the railroad toward Marshfield. When the rescue party reached a point within about 50 or 60 yards of the Henryville citadel they were met with a bombardment from a shotgun. Kelly got the most of the charge, several shots penetrating his intestines, Wilson was quite severely wounded, and Hill received only two of the leaden pellets.

Sheriff Gage went down on the morning train, accompanied by Deputy Clyde Gage, and four of the Beaver Hill bunch were rounded up. Ferrari was brought here, and John Galli, Dan Brovine and Jim Dempsey were taken to Marshfield and later brought here. The examination will probably take place as soon as Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist returns from Salem, which will be in a day or two.

Kelly is the man who was tried for a killing at Libby a few years ago but was acquitted on the plea of self-defense.

The passing of Mrs. Chisholm came as a shock to her many friends in this locality. Mrs. Chisholm had been ill for several weeks but was thought to be rapidly improving until the change for the worse came on Wednesday and she passed away about eight o'clock Thursday.

Ruby Esther Chisholm was born July 27, 1892 at Norway, Oregon and was the daughter of Jason and Sarah Randleman. When but a child her parents moved to the Sitka, where they remained until 1910 when Mr. Randleman died. The family then returned to Coquille where Ruby was united in marriage to Earl Chisholm and has resided here ever since. Mrs. Chisholm had a charming personality and a sunny disposition that made her loved by all who knew her. A host of relatives and friends attended the funeral to pay a last tribute to the dead.
