SIGNS OF COAST ROAD

Why is the Southern Pacific in such a hurry to complete the road from Eugene to Coos Bay? All accounts agree that the work on the Willamette Pacific will be really rushed this year; that thousands of men will be employed, and that the road will be completed as soon as is practically possible. So far as the layman can understand, there is no great cause for such a rush appearing on the surface. The project of a road to Coos Bay has been allowed to sozzle along for quite a number of years by the S. P., without any serious attempt to really get in and build it, until last year. The theory that the sudden activity when the Willamette Pacific was actually started was caused by the fear that some other road would build first to the best harbor on the Oregon coast had much to recommend it; but we have looked in vain for tangible evidence that such a fear, if it existed, was well grounded. It would seem that if any of the great railroad systems had their plans made for such an invasion of S. P. territory the fact would have been shown by this time in some way that would make it beyond dispute. But nothing of the kind has occurred. No one seems able to state as a positive fact that any railroad or the Southern Pacific ever heard of Coos Bay.

Why, then, is the S. P. pushing construction on a road to which, until last year, so little attention was paid? There is one theory that might account for this, and that is that the time has come when the road so long talked of, the coast road to San Francisco, is to be built. As is well known, this road was surveyed from Coos Bay to Humboldt immediately after the survey was run from Eugene to the Bay. At present, the S. P. is giving out no intimation of an intention to build south from Coos Bay at any time in the near future, but all accounts indicate that the road coming from the south to Eureka will be pushed to completion this year. That leaves only the gap of a couple of hundred miles between Coos Bay and Eureka to be built to connect up the coast route. It seems altogether likely that the completion of the line to the Bay will be immediately followed, or perhaps preceded, by active work on this gap. That would account for the evident hurry of the S. P. to finish the Willamette Pacific, which is hard to account for on any other theory. It would also account for the completion of the road from the south to Eureka, which has been in process of intermittent construction for many years.

It is not necessary to point out that this means much more for Coos County than does the construction of the road to Eugene alone. Once placed this section on the line of a through road, and its settlement and development will be accelerated in a way of which we now can only dream.

S. O. Company Loses

By the decision of the Supreme Court of the state, in the Douglas county case, the Southern Oregon Co., loses in its contention that its land cannot be sold for taxes while a suit for the annulment of the grant through which it holds title is pending in the U. S. courts. This ought to release some of the money which the company has handed over to Coos county with the proviso that it should be held until the question of the title shall be finally settled. It is understood that such deposits have heretofore been made to avoid the imposition of the penalties for delinquency, though why the company should be favored in any such manner has not been explained. If the money was not actually paid to the county in liquidation of the taxes, it is hard to see why the penalties should not be enforced, as they would be against the ordinary citizen. The Southern Oregon Company certainly has no favors coming from Coos county.

Doesn't Like Tax Law

Editor Coquille Herald:
It is possible that there are others beside myself who would like to know to whom we are indebted for our new tax paying law. The inclosed letter from the office of the Secretary of State tells the story. These men have proved their capacity, or rather their incapacity, as law makers. It will be a good plan when they lob up again to put on the lid. What the rest of the legislators were doing when the bill came up for a vote probably no one knows. I imagine that they must have been sleeping, caused from lack of thinking. All the old tax paying law needed was the repeal of the three per cent rebate. This celebrated committee was all Republican.

Died at Advanced Age

The following clipping from an Eastern paper is published at the request of Mrs. J. P. Goodman. The deceased lady was her sister, and Mrs. Goodman's many old friends here will be interested in reading what is said.

ERNST—Died, at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 14, 1914, at the family residence, two miles north of Farmingdale, following a lingering illness, Sarah Jane Ernst, aged 83 years.

The funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the residence, Rev. W. C. Shaffer of Pleasant Plains officiating. Interment will be made in Farmingdale cemetery.

Mrs. Ernst died on her birthday anniversary. She was born in Kentucky Feb. 14, 1831, moving to this state with her family when a child. She married James Short of Sauganum county in 1852. Mr. Short died in 1856. To this union two daughters were born. Decedent married Frank Ernst in 1860, the latter dying March 21, 1898.

When quite young Mrs. Ernst joined the Methodist church. She resided in the home where she died continuously for sixty years prior to her death. Decedent is survived by three sons—J. A. Ernst, Bates, Ill.; Rev. A. F. Ernst, Grand Island, Neb., and W. E. Ernst, Farmingdale; five daughters—Mrs. S. B. Harrison, Winfield, Iowa; Miss Willia Short, at home; Mrs. W. R. Morris, Pleasant Plains; Miss Jennie Ernst, at home, and Mrs. W. H. Eckel, Custer, Ill. Mrs. Ernst is also survived by two brothers—O. M. Ross, Oshkosh, Wis., and W. S. Ross, Heyworth, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Mary E. Goodman, Coquille, Ore., and seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Open Confession

Two of the editorial brethren of this part of Oregon have just made open confession to being stung. If we would all be equally frank we could hold quite an experience meeting. The editor of the Harbor tells of being caught by John Manning's fake "road article," which was really a boost for John Manning for governor, but says he won't do it again. The editor of the Port Orford Tribune owns up to being grafted out of a few dollars by one Wm. Guernsey, who passed through this section in the guise of a famous writer. In this connection, the editor of this paper had a unique experience last week. He advanced the price of a night's lodging and meals to a young man who said he was a printer and would come in the morning and do some composition. He showed up in the morning and worked faithfully all the forenoon.

Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Snyder are today celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. They reside with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Johnson, who live on a farm about a mile and a half south of this city. At ten o'clock this forenoon a special boat met the friends from here and took them to the Johnson home, where at noon a splendid dinner was served. A large number of guests partook of the feast of good things and joined in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Snyder and making the occasion one of genuine rejoicing.

Many beautiful gifts of gold, silver, cut glass and china were left as reminders of the happy occasion.

Pretty Wedding

A very pretty wedding, but necessarily quiet on account of the Lenten season, was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Sperry, at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening, March 14th, when their daughter, Miss Lucia Sperry, became the bride of Mr. William W. Stratton. The ceremony took place in the arch between the parlors, which were beautifully decorated with ferns, cymethins, daffodils, narcissus and lilyacs. The Right Reverend William Horsfall, of Bandon, officiated, using the full Episcopal service. The bridal couple knelt on white satin cushions, and were attended by Miss Clara Sherwood and Mr. H. O. Anderson. The bride was attired in a tailored suit and carried a large sheaf of narcissus tied with streamers of maline.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the assembled friends showered congratulations upon the happy couple, after which delicious refreshments were served. The bride and groom then went to their new home, just east of the Tuttle House.

Only the very intimate friends of the bride were the guests, Mrs. Norris Jensen being the only one from out of town.

Many elegant gifts of cut glass, china and silverware were received. The bride is one of the most popular and talented young ladies of this city. The groom has not resided here long but has already made many warm friends.

M. W. A. Entertain

A large number of Royal Neighbors and invited guests gathered at the M. W. A. hall on Front Street last Saturday evening and were royally entertained by the Modern Woodmen with an old time basket social. Parlor games, recitations and musical numbers were the order of the hour and were enjoyed by all. The best of order and decorum prevailed. Many beautiful baskets embracing a wide variety of design were brought by the fair guests.

Neighbor W. A. Darling acted as auctioneer and as the baskets were disposed of one by one the bidding waxed fast and furious—one young man being separated from $9.50 before being allowed to secure the basket of his choice. Prizes for the prettiest baskets, emblematic of the order, were given. The first prize, a handsome emblematic pillow top, was awarded to Miss Vera Kelley, while the second prize, a Modern Woodmen pennant was awarded to Mrs. W. A. Darling.

When the last basket had been sold Neighbor Thomas returned thanks for the food after which all found their partners and proceeded to enjoy themselves to their capacity. After supper the games were continued until midnight when they were dispersed by Officer Plyler, who took exception to their singing and who upheld the strong arm of the law so effectually that the party broke up and repaired to their homes, acclaiming the entertainment an unqualified success and vowing to meet again at the next event, which will be held in the next few days.

Epworth League Social

Last Saturday evening the Epworth League of the Methodist South church were entertained at the home of Miss Naomi Knowlton. The monthly business meeting was first held, the remainder of the time being spent in social intercourse. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. There were about twenty young people present and all thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

CALIFORNIA'S ROAD BUILDING

already after a use of less than a year, but this was on the condemned portions before referred to, while I inspected other portions that have been in use nearly a year and from a close inspection, seem to be just as good as when applied when the road was constructed.

Portions of the Highway have been subjected to the most severe climatic conditions that have occurred in California in half a century, being twice inundated by flood waters during the present winter, and as far as one can see, appear to be in the same condition as before, with the exception that in some places the earth shoulders have been washed away, leaving the edges of the concrete exposed and unsupported.

The Commission have established a laboratory for testing all material that go to make the road, and any material that does not come up to their standard is rejected.

In conclusion I wish to say that I took great pains to enquire into all the elements of construction, and spared myself no expense in examining different portions of the road, and my judgment is that we would make no mistake in adopting a similar type of construction for our own roads, as I think that the knowledge gained in California by actual experience in the most modern methods of road construction should be of great benefit to us or any other community.

The Highway Engineer in charge is acknowledged to be one of the best highway engineers in the world and in this great undertaking I think the state is to be congratulated upon its acquisition of such a man.

Respectfully submitted,

A. N. GOULD
County Surveyor, Coos Co., Oregon

wife for the first time since their marriage eighteen years ago. It may be a delicate suggestion, but the people who have seen the Vice President's beautiful and charming wife can easily understand how it would be a pleasure to carry out Mr. Marshall's practice of avoiding divorce with such an incentive. However even the Vice President might balk if his case was like that of some of the other distinguished men of the nation—no names, please! this being another case of where correspondent Jones has said enough.

SENATE FAVORABLE TO SUFFRAGE

A number of test votes have been taken in the Senate regarding woman suffrage. While it has not been ascertained that that body contains the two-thirds majority necessary to commit it to the proposition to submit the constitutional amendment to the states yet it is nevertheless clear that the Senators are ready to take hold of the question and dispose of it without resorting to the numerous subterfuges by which the resolution in the House has been shoved aside. The women who have been in Washington in great numbers asking action by Congress urge that inasmuch as nine states now have equal suffrage, that the question be finally determined by all the people at the polls.

A Real Nerve and Body-Building Medicine

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run-down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains through the blood into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and tonic, is equal to anything else. If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. You, convalescents, old people, run-down and all others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing.
