The Coquille Herald

PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY

Entered as second class matter May 8, 1905, at the post office at Coquille, Oregon, under act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

P. C. LEVAR, Lessee.

Devoted to the material and social upbuilding of the Coquille Valley generally and of Coos County generally. Subscription, $1.50 per year in advance.

Phone Main 354.

Reports are very encouraging in the matter of securing a Coos County building at the Panama Pacific fair. The feeling for it is strong all over the county and there is no doubt that the required funds can be raised. The only thing that may have a deterrent effect on the cooperation of the different parts of the county is the unaccountable tendency of some of the papers in this valley to take every opportunity to stir up jealousy, suspicion and general ill-feeling toward the Coos Bay section. This is a thing that ought to be set down on—hard.

Children's Industrial Clubs Organized Here

L. P. Harrington, field worker for the industrial fairs sent out by the state department of education, visited the Coquille school yesterday organizing two clubs among the pupils. The members of the clubs will each work along the line of one of the club projects outlined by the state department and prepare an exhibit for the county fair next fall.

The first of the clubs organized in the Coquille schools included members of the seventh and eighth grades. The officers elected are: President, Leslie Schroeder, Vice, President, Mara Sullivan, Secretary, Elsa Peoples, Treasurer, Irene Kime. The second club is made up of members of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. The officers are, President, Camilla Lorenz, Vice-President, Charles Walker, Secretary, Pauline Chyse, Treasurer, Novis Landreth. Mr. Harrington visited the school garden and expressed himself as greatly pleased with the work being done.

County Superintendent R. E. Baker believes in agricultural and industrial work for boys and girls and with the view to making this practical work efficient he is having boys' and girls' clubs formed in the schools of the county. Work of this kind is state wide and Coos is already getting in line with the other progressive counties of the State by having these clubs formed. The County has appropriated $500 this year to the County School Fair and the boys and girls are going to make a showing this year that may be a surprise to the people of the County.

The State offers ten capital prizes, (ten trips to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco) to the ten boys and girls who win in the ten leading projects, viz:

- 1 Corn Growing.
- 2 Potato Growing.
- 3 Girls' Canning and Preserving.
- 4 Girls' Cooking and Baking.
- 5 Boys' and Girls' Poultry Raising.
- 6 Girls' Sewing.
- 7 Boys' Pig Feeding Contest.
- 8 Boys' and Girls' Gardening Contest.
- 9 Dairy Herd-Record Keeping.
- 10 Manual Arts (Construction of useful or model articles of wood, metal or concrete).

The boys and girls must win at the State Fair in order to secure the prize trip to the exposition. The County offers two free trips to the Salem fair to two club members who win in the project work. These two young people will be taken care of a week at the State Fair. Along with these prize winners should be sent the best possible school exhibit that Coos County can produce.

A club was organized at the Ray School on Monday with the following officers: President, Stephen Epps; Vice-President, Myrtle Newton; Secretary, Fred Winer; Treasurer, Dorothy Newton; Teacher in Ray School, Miss Hazel Mathews.

Three clubs have been formed in the Marshfield schools, three at North Bond and several in country districts.

Yesterday Supt. Baker and Mr. Harrington visited the Myrtle Point schools and two clubs were organized there.

In the work of organization Supt. Baker and Supervisor Golden are being assisted by Industrial State Field Worker L. P. Harrington, who was here last year on the same work, and who remains in Coos County two weeks this time. This work will result in much interest in agriculture on the part of school children.

Oldest Voter a Lady

We believe Southwest Coquille precinct has the oldest female voter in the county. Elizabeth Turner, mother of Mrs. H. W. Dunham, registered recently and gave her age as ninety, and her native state as Ohio.

For Social Hygiene

J. B. C. Oakes, representative and field secretary of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society, was in town last week and on Friday evening met with a local committee at Justice Staaley's offices and arranged a program for next Saturday night, at which time Dr. Calvin S. White, state health officer, will be present and address a meeting of men only at the court house at 8 P. M. The full program of the meeting will be found on the front page of this issue. An endeavor will also be made to have a meeting for women during the afternoon of the same day.

Says It's a Fake

W. G. Cadby, of the Traders' Exchange, Bandon, writes to the Herald to the effect that the ad which has been running in this paper offering "6 Per Cent Loans" is a fake. He incloses a letter which he sent to the parties, which runs as follows:

Bandon, Oregon, April 3, 1914
Commonwealth Loan & Securities Co
Denver, Colo.
Dear Sirs:
Your ad misrepresents your way of doing business. I sent you $200 as a deposit of good faith that I wanted to borrow $200.00 on real estate securities. The later plan sent me from Dallas to deposit $200 per month don't suit me, so you will please return me my $200 or I will be compelled to take it up with the postal department.

Respectfully,
W. G. Cadby.
On the back of the above is the following typewritten notation: "The C. S. L. Co. of Dallas has been taken over by the U. S. Bankruptcy Court and Lloyd B. Smith appointed Trustee and Receiver. You may address your communications to him at 203 Sam Houston Life Bldg., Dallas, Texas."

Mr. Cadby adds that he has reported this to the P. O. Department. The Herald regrets that one of its advertisers should prove to be unreliable. It is impossible to always guard against such things, but if any one who has unsatisfactory dealings in such cases will let us know we will be glad to give the facts.

NOTES ON THE PHOTOPLAYS

Of Interest to Those Who Patronize the Movies

Those old admirers of Florence Lawrence who may have allowed their hearts to wander during her long absence from the pictures had a chance to renew their allegiance last week, when she appeared in "The Spender," a two-reel Victor film. This is the first time she has been seen in the pictures here for considerably over a year, and it was good to see her again. The picture was the best drama of the independent brand that has been here for some time. The story was "different," well conceived and well acted. The support was good, and the actor who played the title role was extremely good in it. But the interest of this fan, at least centered in the leading lady Florence Lawrence is absolute queen of the screen.

Others may touch her, each at some different point, but for all-around perfection Flo has them all beaten to a frazzle. As the "Biograph Girl," some six years ago, she captured the American public and when she went to the independents she left sincere mourners behind her among the patrons of the licensed shows. In the fall of 1912 she retired from the pictures, but after a year of private life the lure of the screen proved too strong for her and she came back last fall, to the Victor company. She has proved that a player can "come back," for she has taken her old place with the public. In spite of the number of talented and charming ladies that have invaded the field the last few years, Florence Lawrence suffered no dimming of her radiance, and her admirers have but to see her once to return to their allegiance.

Several days ago the little three year old girl of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker fell off a high porch and sustained a bad fracture of its collar bone, besides other minor injuries. Doctor Dunlap has been taking care of the child which is reported as doing well.

It was rumored here some time ago that Peterson from Coos Bay would again engage in fishing here; and that parties from Grants Pass with A. Aubrey at the head of the enterprise would pick salmon at the Bagnell ferry; but as yet neither of the parties have made an appearance and all this engaged are selling their fish to the Wedderburn Trading Co.

Keep That Old Hen

A co-operative cheese factory is again being talked of in this vicinity which should meet with the hearty approval of every one. The venture could be launched now with a very nominal cost, as R. L. Macleay has offered room in one end of the cannery for the factory and will supply all necessary power, steam, etc. for the purpose.

(Curry County Leader)
The other day while being assisted through one of the rooms at his home, Mr. Upton suffered a fall, injuring his hip more or less painfully. He thinks the jar of his fall rattled the type in the esser of the Leader office across the way.

The horse belonging to J. R. Foster was drowned last week while attempting to cross Flores Creek. The horse having two sacks of potatoes tied to his back was unable to battle with the swift current which carried him under a pile of drift wood and into deep water, where he drowned.

CURRY COUNTY CULLINGS

(From the Port Orford Tribune)
The Cooley case was postponed from the April term of Circuit Court to the August term.

O. P. Haagenen has come down from Langlois to Sixes river, and is putting the Loman saw mill in shape at the latter place to commence operations about the first of the month.

We regret to say that the prospects of a wharf being built at this place in the near future are not very encouraging, and it is possible that a wire will be put in to handle the shipping.

Chas. Forty, who was severely injured ten days ago by being thrown from a young horse, continues to improve slowly although still confined to his bed and unable to move one of his legs that was injured in his hip joint. The bruise around his groin was so bad that mortification was feared until the last day or two, when danger from it has passed.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

SYNOPSIS
Jennie Brice and her husband, Laddley, quarrel. She disappears from Mrs. Pitman's boarding house during a Pittsburgh flood.

Mrs. Pitman tells Holcombe, an amateur detective, that she believes Laddley has killed Jennie Brice.

CHAPTER III.
I SAT there, with a crowd of children paddling on a raft outside the window, and Molly Maguire, next door, hauling the morning's milk up in a pail fastened to a rope, her doorway too narrow to admit the milkman's boat, and I told him the whole story.

"Humph!" he exclaimed, when I had finished. "It's curious, but you can't prove a murder unless you can produce a body."
"When the river goes down we'll find the body," said I, shivering. "It's in the parlor."
"Then why doesn't he try to get away?"
"He is ready to go now. He only went back when your boat came in."

Mr. Holcombe ran to the door and flung it open, peered into the lover's hall. He was too late. His boat was gone, tub of liver, pile of wooden platters and all!

We hurried to the room the Ladies had occupied. It was empty. From the window, as we looked out, we could see the boat, almost a square away. It had stopped where the street being higher, a doorstep rose above the flood. On the step was sitting a forlorn yellow puppy. As we stared Mr. Laddley stopped the boat, looked back at us, bent over, placed a piece of liver on a platter and reached it over to the dog. Then, rising in the boat, he bowed, with his hat over his heart, in our direction, sat down calmly and rowed around the corner out of sight.

Mr. Holcombe was in a frenzy of rage. He jumped up and down, shaking his fist out of the window after the retreating boat. He ran down the staircase, only to come back and look out the window again. The police boat was not in sight, but the Maguire children had worked their raft around to the street and were under the window. He leaned out and called to them:

"A quarter each, boys," he said, "if you'll take me on that raft to the nearest pavement."
"Money first," said the oldest boy, holding his cap.
But Mr. Holcombe did not wait. He swung over the window sill, holding by his hands, and fell fairly in the center of the raft.
