M. A. Simpson, editor of the Bandon Surf, was doing business in town yesterday. Mr. Simpson is not quite satisfied to accept his defeat for the Republican nomination for representative, as he does not consider that he had a fair test before the primaries. While he has not yet decided on such a course, he contemplates coming out as independent candidate for the office.

City Council

The city council held a long session last evening, and a pleasing variety of business was transacted, but those who expected fireworks were disappointed.

Perhaps the matter of greatest public interest was the presentation of a petition carrying 445 signatures, asking that no more liquor licenses be granted. Many of the backers of this petition were present, for whom H. O. Anderson acted as spokesman. Those who heard Mr. Anderson's talk speak of it with the highest admiration, as a short, clear, sensible and conservative presentation of the matter, free from offensiveness toward those of a different opinion. The petition was placed on file.

Previous to this, several petitions for the renewal of liquor licenses which expire July 1st had been presented to the council. The mayor asked why these came up at this time and Chas. Baxter stated that it had been customary to present them at the last meeting of the old council. The mayor replied that he did not understand it that way, and no action was taken.

The matter of license or no license will probably be threshed out at the regular meeting on the 15th of this month.

The last actions of the old council included the payment of the monthly bills, and the payment to Dr. Hoag of $92 as the balance of a bill of $132, a portion of which was paid some months ago.

The old council then adjourned, and the new one got down to business, the only change being the retirement of Councilman Laird, whose place was taken by Councilman Kime. D. D. Pierce was elected chairman of the new council.

The following committees were appointed:
Fire; Leach, Lyons, Kime.
Ordinance; Pierce, Lyons, Sanford.

Light; Kime, Leach, Skeels.
Water; Skeels, Sanford, Kime.
Streets; Lyons, Leach, Pierce.
Finance; Sanford, Pierce, Skeels.
New Officers appointed: Marshal, A. P. Miller; night marshal, Oscar Wickham; engineer, P. M. Hall-Lewis; water supt., S. V. Epperson; health officer, R. B. Hoag.

The salary of the recorder was raised from $75 to $100 per month and of the water superintendent from $65 to $70 per month. On this resolution, the vote stood: ayes, Pierce, Leach, Lyons; noes, Sanford, Skeels, Kime; the mayor cast the deciding affirmative vote.

The salary of the fire chief was placed at $5 a month, and it was ordered that chief Oerding be paid back salary at that rate.

It was resolved to improve First street easterly from the present paving to the west line of Hill street; also a part of the intersection of O and Front street; not already provided for.

The city engineer reported the probable cost of repairing the defective retaining wall on the south line of Second street between B and C streets at $73 10.

A communication was received from H. Sengsta-ken, acting for Mrs. Adice McDonald, accepting $150, offered by the city for the relinquishment of all claims on the flatiron piece at C street that has been in litigation.

Jacobson Pleased

J. N. Jacobson paid the first bill for his recently installed electric power at his dairy, yesterday. The object of this item is not to herald to the world the fact that Jacobson paid a bill, but the point is that he was agreeably surprised that it was no larger for something over a month of service. He now has two milkers in regular operation and is highly pleased with the results, both with the milking machines and with the superiority of the electric power over gasoline.

Mathematics for Summer

Correspondence courses in mathematics at the state university, in which 150 students enrolled this year and which are free to all residents of the state, are not to be suspended during the summer vacation, a demand existing for all-year work. The courses correspond closely to those given at the university itself, with the addition of the high school subjects of elementary algebra and geometry.

Declamatory Contest

The declamatory contest held in the Masonic hall Thursday evening was a very successful entertainment. The young performers all acquitted themselves in a very creditable way, especially the three prize winners. The medals were awarded, in the first division to Mildred Corbit; in the second to Marvel Skeels; and in the third to Doris Peoples. The fourth grade girls gave much pleasure with their costume plantation song.

Barton Case Reversed

The Supreme Court last week handed down its decision in the appeal of J. S. Barton, reversing the judgment of the circuit court and granting a new trial. The grounds on which this decision is rendered are given, briefly, as follows: That District Attorney Brown, in addressing the jury, repeatedly went outside the record, against the caution of the court; and that the court failed to give instructions asked for by the defense, cautioning the jury against allowing prejudice or sentiment to influence them against the defendant. Touching this latter point, the Court quotes in full the famous petition, and it is now clear that that petition has furnished the strongest ammunition in the lockers of the attorneys for the defense. The first reports coming in were presented in such a way as to place the blame of the improper address to the jury on Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist, but this was merely a case of newspaper stupidity, as no fault is found in any part of the prosecution for which Mr. Liljeqvist, then deputy, was responsible. It has been stated that Mr. Liljeqvist would ask for a rehearing, but in his absence today verification could not be secured.

The Summer Schedule

The summer mail schedule went into effect yesterday and for the next three months the Eastern mail will depart at 4:15 a. m. and is supposed to arrive at 10 p. m. Bandon mail departs at 7 a. m. and arrives at 6 p. m. The summer schedule is well calculated to keep the post office force from becoming too much addicted to this here sleeping habit.

Roy School Standardized

Superintendent Baker visited the Roy school, about one and one-half miles up the river, Friday and sized up its rating, finding it entitled to be classed as B Standard. This is the fourth B Standard school in the county, there being also two A Standard. A school rally and memorial service was held Friday at the school house and an address was delivered by Supt. Baker.

J. J. Lamb Returns

Looking a little the worse for wear but with the same genial smile, J. J. Lamb arrived Saturday after an absence of over seven months. His itinerary ran something like this: Leaving here Oct. 16th, he went to San Diego, where he visited his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Byers until March 18th, when he left for his old home in Jonesboro, Ark. There he visited relatives for five weeks, and took the time to have a severe attack of ch. lora morbus that came uncomfortably near to preventing his return to Oregon, and reduced his weight by 20 pounds. Leaving there the latter part of April he visited relatives in Oklahoma until May 25, when he started on his return journey and reached Roseburg in a little over four days. His ride over the central portion of the Middle fork route in a "dead end" wagon was simply a fearful nightmare. Mr. Lamb is glad to get home and everybody is glad to see him.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day was observed Saturday with the usual exercises. After a literary program in the hall, of which the main feature was an address far above the average, delivered by County School Superintendent Baker, a procession was formed headed by the band, followed by the old soldiers in automobiles, school children, Woman's Relief Corps and citizens. At the cemetery the usual exercises were held and the graves were decorated.

Killed in Explosion

The Evening Record states that by the explosion of the boiler in the Fred Meitzel sawmill on North Lake, in the Tenmile district, Friday, Isaac Freeland and a man named Shaw employed at the mill, were both killed instantly, and their bodies blown into the lake. Several other men who were working about the mill escaped miraculously. Jack Nowlen, who was at the saw, was among them. The sawmill is badly wrecked and will require much time to repair.

The mill which was erected 8 years ago and had a capacity of about 10,000 feet a day, was sawing lumber for the railroad work in the vicinity of Lakeside.

Goes to Willamette Valley

W. S. Eachus, who recently sold out his farm a few miles from town, departed yesterday with his family. They will drive out to some point in the Willamette valley, where Mr. Eachus hopes to find a location to suit him. He has no fault to find with the Coquille valley except that his health here has not been entirely satisfactory. In reply to the Herald man's prophecy that he would be back, he said that he would not make any rash statements to the contrary.
