my Drug Store fixed me up all right

Whenever you get all "banged" up, remember, we keep bandages, liniment, salves, and everything necessary to put you right. We especially warn everybody to be sure that all dressings be antiseptic to prevent dangerous, death-bringing blood-poisoning. "Any old thing" won't do to dress your wounds. Get antiseptic dressings from us. Always have them in the house.

Jesse Haskins tells the Herald that he traveled on the "slow train from Arkenaw" the other day, being three hours coming from Myrtle Point, part of the time being consumed in picking up coal for fuel along the track, and further delay being caused by a cow who persisted in going ahead and getting across the road.

DROUTH BEGINS TOMORROW

Council Receives Wet Petition Showing Hopeless Minority

The city council last night presented a working model of a body of men who were trying to do their duty as they understood it.

Coquille will be "dry" tomorrow. That is the final word. The wet element failed to muster enough support to overcome the long lead of the dries, and when the opposing petitions had been carefully reviewed of their padding the dries had a majority of 144 names asking the council not to grant liquor licenses, as against the request of the wets that licenses be granted until the November election.

The council was called to order a few minutes after 8 o'clock, about 100 visitors being present, including quite a number of ladies. The mayor announced that the meeting was for the purpose of considering a petition presented by the saloon men, and the matter was taken up at once. The new petition was handed in by Chas. Baxter, who stated that it contained 401 names. The gist of the petition was a request that licenses be granted until the November election. A supplementary petition from the dries was handed in by H. O. Anderson.

The council then went into committee on the whole and retired to the recorder's office to check up the names. By suggestion of the mayor, each side was allowed one representative in the room, and John Lenseve was named by the wets and H. O. Anderson by the dries. It was after 10 o'clock when the work of checking up was completed. There were about 60 names which appeared on both petitions, and these were allowed to stand and offset each other. Then, after the elimination from both petitions of all names which in the opinion of the council had no right to be there, the dries were found to have a majority of 144. In arriving at these figures, all names to which the wets objected were stricken from the dry petition, while those taken from the other were eliminated without protest from the wets. Fifteen names were taken from the old dry petition and eight from the new, while 52 were stricken from the wets. This left 451 dry and 357 wet, leaving the council in no doubt as to the preponderance of sentiment. The grand total of 818 signatures accepted seems still too large, as Recorder Lawrence expressed the opinion that there are not over 750 legal voters in the town.

After the result was arrived at, the council went into regular session and a resolution that no liquor licenses be granted was passed unanimously.

The council had only five members at this meeting as the vacancy caused by the resignation of Geo. Leach has not been filled.

Wigwam Burned

Another fire visited Bandon in the early hours of Sunday morning, when the "Wigwam" was destroyed. The Wigwam was a wooden building situated some distance from the business part of town and near the beach, and contained a dance hall and refreshment and confectionery stand. It was owned by L. Lewis, whose residence was also in the building. A dance had been held there Saturday night, and it is supposed that the fire started from the kitchen. The loss is about $2000, on which $1500 insurance was carried.

Fire at Salmon Mountain Mine

Orville Dodge, who was here yesterday, informed the Herald that he has just received news by phone of a fire at the Salmon mountain mine which destroyed the old cook house, blacksmith shop and store room, together with quite a lot of supplies, quicksilver, copper plates etc. Mr. Dodge had received few particulars, as the message came from the C. A. Smith Biglow ranch, three miles from the mine, but his impression was that three men were at the mine, Sam McAdams, Forest Clark and McNair. The fire is supposed to have started from a defective flue. The officers of the Salmon Mountain Mining Co. are C. C. Carter, president; Orville Dodge secretary and manager; E. A. Dodge, treasurer. Mr. Dodge says that there are new buildings at the mine that will enable them to carry on the work with little interruption, and they do not propose to be stopped.

Circuit Court

Judge Coke yesterday revoked the parole of Jack Marsden, and Marsden will now have to serve out his term in the penitentiary, which runs from one to ten years. He was under a sentence from having been convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon, but had been paroled during good behavior and under stringent orders of the court to refrain from intoxicating liquors. This order he had disobeyed, and some time ago he tanked up and indulged in some deadly threats, with the result that he was locked up to await the action of the court.

The jury in the case against Dan Brovine and Jack Dempsey, charged with rioting at Henryville returned a verdict of acquittal Friday afternoon, after being out half an hour.

The application of Lola Belieu to have her marriage with B. E. Belieu annulled, on the ground that it took place within six months of the granting of a divorce to the defendant, was denied. The counter application by the defendant for a divorce was also denied. This was a somewhat unsavory mess, according to the testimony. The two were married in Vancouver, and the husband solicited the wife to have illicit relations with other men for hire, to which she consented on infrequent occasions. Judge Coke took the view that neither was entitled to relief from the irksome marriage ties.

Judge Coke yesterday imposed a sentence of five to 40 years imprisonment on Grove H. Miller, who was convicted last week of complicity in the Myrtle Point bank robbery.

Judge Coke was yesterday hearing the case of Breuer against Myrtle Point. It seems that Breuer was charged with disorderly conduct, under a city ordinance, the validity of which ordinance is questioned. This was a jury case, but inasmuch as the question involved was one of law, both sides stipulated to try it before the judge.

The case of Savage against Cates is to come up next on demurrer, and it is expected that a referee will be appointed to take testimony.
