The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Roy Lawhorn came over from Marshfield this morning to do some sign painting, but found all the painters' apparatus in town already at work, and returned on the noon train.

On September 22, Virginia voted for statewide prohibition by a majority of almost two to one. Incomplete returns give the drys a majority of 32,825 out of a vote of 121,763.

The town was practically deserted Friday afternoon, as nearly everybody went to the fair. The mayor had declared a half holiday, and apparently the only industrial plants in operation were those of the two newspapers and the laundry.

The burglary case against Jim Ross, from Bandon, went to the jury just before noon, and the case against Mrs. O'Donnell, accused of violating the liquor laws at Empire, was to go to trial after dinner, in the circuit court.

Mrs. William Candlin has received word of the marriage of Miss Bertha Francis Conlogue to W. T. McKenna, which took place at Pleasant Mount, Penn., on Sept. 2. It will be remembered that Miss Conlogue was one of the teachers here last year. She was engaged again for this year, but sent in her resignation shortly before school opened.

M. Kerrigan, who has been advertising his place near town for sale has withdrawn his ad and concluded not to press the sale at present. He has a fine place and is doing a profitable berry business, but is getting old and wishes to retire. So the property is still for sale and offers a good opportunity to any one desiring to engage in intensive farming.

The farmer is the directing head and operating hand of his business. He combines, directs and carries all responsibilities.

The farmer cannot be helped until he organizes and the government cannot help the farmer except through organization.

To Discuss Amendments

On the suggestion of several citizens, Mayor Morrison has called a meeting for Friday night at the city hall, to discuss some of the amendments that are to be voted on at the coming election, and it is intended to go over the first six on the ballot at this meeting. All should turn out and familiarize themselves with the questions they are to vote on.

A Boost for Coos

The Pacific Builder and Engineer, published in Seattle, has an article in the current number which gives a brief outline of the current improvements and activities of Coos Bay towns and Coos county. There are over two pages of condensed mention of the different industrial and building activities under way throughout the county, including port improvements, road and street work etc. There are several half-tone cuts, one of which is entitled, "Eandon, Coquille Point, Oregon," which would seem to be a combination of the names of the three Coquille towns, though the cut itself shows the Bandon water front. The article truthfully says: "The local condition of business is favorable and money circulation normal, because of steady output of products and a good payroll." The article is the leading one of the September issue, and is a nice boost for the county, showing, as it does, the many improvements actually under way or recently accomplished.

One Every Minute

The man with the carpet bug is not the only one who falls for the green goods game in this neck of the woods. That's a cinch. For instance certain smooth individuals have been working this county with a new stunt calculated to catch the business man. It is represented that a movement is on foot to place a special federal tax on department store business. The traveling bunco man is circulating petitions to congress to pass such legislation. Incidentally—oh quite incidentally—he is collecting three bucks from each of those who are friendly to such legislation. If their friendliness does not go to the extent of putting up the three dollars he doesn't want their signatures on the petition. It is said that the same "movement" was represented here last year, but if it has yet been heard of at Washington the news has not trickled into the newspapers. However, it seems to be profitable for somebody.

On the Alcoholic Warpath

Bullets were flying at Myrtle Point Wednesday night, but fortunately the shooter's aim was poor and the shootees escaped unscathed. It seems that a merchant of that city loaded up with more than enough "dry town" bug juice and made trouble at the fair grounds. He was taken home by the night watchman and deputy, and then he got his gun and started out for the scalps of those two officers. On meeting he took three shots at them, all of which came uncomfortably close to the target, before he was subdued by the liberal use of their clubs.

Change at Postoffice

Mrs. N. Plyler, who has been filling the office of assistant postmaster here for about four years, has resigned her position, tomorrow being her last day in the office. She will then join Mr. Plyler at Roseburg. On leaving here some time ago at the end of his service as night officer, Mr. Plyler went to the valley town and hung out his shingle as a chiropractor, and it is said that he is doing a profitable business. J. H. Rabkoph, late of Marshfield, is being initiated into the mysteries of the assistant postmastership.

Children Make Good Exhibit

The exhibits sent by the school children of the county to the Coos and Curry County Fair, which was held at Myrtle Point last week, certainly showed that the younger generation are not neglecting to learn those things which are essential to a proper knowledge of farming or the keeping of a home. The jellies, canned goods and needlework would have done credit to an accomplished housekeeper, while the fruits, vegetables and handiwork, sent in by boys and girls alike, might well have been regarded with envy by many of the parents of the youthful exhibitors.

The Coquille schools made a good showing both as to the number of exhibits which were sent and the premiums which were awarded them, and it is to be hoped that they will keep up the good work which they have begun and do even better another year than they have in the past.

Joint Debate on Prohibition

The Taxpayers and Wage Earners' League sends the Herald an item to the effect that a joint debate on the amendment to the state constitution, providing for statewide prohibition, will take place in this city October 1.

The speakers are the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, of Topeka, Kansas, National Secretary of the Methodist Church Temperance Society, and formerly well known as a Portland minister; and Col. E. Hofer, a lifelong Oregon public man, who has a wide reputation as an orator and champion debater. These men debated this same question before large audiences in 1910, and are widely known throughout Oregon as able and fearless representatives of their respective sides.

Coos Bay Band Makes a Hit

The Coos Bay band is making a tour of the interior and the following word comes from Portland: On Saturday of last week the Coos Bay band, of forty pieces, was entertained by the Portland Commercial Club. During their stay they entertained Portland at a public concert thus bringing Coos Bay prominently to the front and offering some of the finest music heard in the city for many months.

Piano Contest

Mrs. P. P. Leatherwood took the prize of a china berry set at Drane's last week, for the greatest score during the week. Katherine Terrie's friends put in enough votes at Anderson's to secure the prize for her there, while she is lying disabled from her recent serious accident.

Quite a number of the candidates made substantial gains, as will be seen by new score given below.

One of the warmest weekly struggles of the contest will undoubtedly come to a focus next Saturday, as the prize this week is a valuable set of table silver ware, one of the best weekly prizes of the contest. There are some very live candidates in the field and they are doing some effective rustling.

Some of the candidates are still asleep to the advantages offered by the Herald as a medium of securing votes. To these we would like to point out that every prize winner in the Drane contest, so far, has been a rustler for the Herald and has secured thousands of votes by turning in subscriptions to this paper. Our offer is exceedingly liberal—1000 votes on the dollar for old subscriptions, and 2000 votes on the dollar for new ones. As an illustration, one candidate in the Drane contest has received a boost of 6000 votes from a friend who sent in his back dues. There are still a good many accounts that are in arrears and that can be secured by simply calling on the parties, and the candidate who ignores this help is not taking advantage of her opportunities.

With the clubbing offer we are making, of four magazines and the Herald one year for $1.75, the securing of new subscriptions is merely a matter of going after them, and each one gives the candidate 3500 votes. Isn't that worth thinking about?
