The Model Grocery

S. M. Nosler & Co.

Now is the time to subscribe. All cold weather drinks will be found at Folsom's Confectionery.

Money talks at the Herald office, and it says, "10,000 votes on the dollar."

Earl Wily arrived home Tuesday to spend the holiday vacation with his parents at Fairview.

Miss Mable Hanson, teacher in the high school, left Friday for Seattle, to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. W. Leneve was the lucky person to pick the diamond ring in W. H. Schroeder's prize drawing.

The monthly social meeting of the high school seniors was held at the home of Ray Burns last Tuesday evening.

Take your subscriptions for all papers and periodicals to Folsom's Confectionery, and save expense, trouble and risk.

Don't forget the hour of closing of the piano contest—5 p. m. Thursday. Get in your votes.

The Elder was delayed 4 hours on her last trip down the Columbia by ice jams. Farther up the Columbia, river boats have had to tie up until the ice breaks.

Miss Lula Johns left for her home at Glendale on Tuesday after a stay of over a year in this City. She made many friends while here who will be glad to see her return.

You never saw Christmas Goods so well displayed in Coquille before. Come to the Racket Store and see.

Misses Letta Mast and Gretchen Sherwood returned from the U. of O. last Friday to spend the Holidays with their parents in this city.

The Anderson-Drane piano contest will close at 5 p. m. sharp Thursday, Dec. 24th. Get your votes in before that hour or they can not be counted.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl and little son are visiting Mrs. Carl's parents Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Ellengren at Parkersburg at the present time and are thinking some of locating in our town again.

At the try-out held last Friday for the county high school debates, Horace Rabkopf, Mary Fusonne, Ben Hersey and Merton Tyrrel were selected as the team for Coquille High, with George Aker as alternate.

Pay in that subscription before 5 o'clock Thursday and help your favorite candidate to the tune of 10,000 votes on the dollar.

Sojourners in our midst are warned against jumping to the conclusion that the town is going broke, from the fact that every other store is holding a special sale. It is only a sort of epidemic that struck in with the advent of Monte J. Wax.

Compare the two-color posters printed at the Sentinel office for the Lyons & Jones and Fuhman sales, with those printed in Portland for another sale—and you will wonder why any merchant should "send away" for his printing.

Lumbermen of the Pacific Northwest have been asked to bid on railroad ties for the Orient aggregating 9,000,000 feet, and with orders for the same material coming from Europe, it is expected the millmen of this territory will be right in line for their share of the anticipated good times.

Ten Thousand votes on the dollar on all money paid in on subscriptions to the Herald, new or old, until the close of the contest.

MERELY MENTIONED

Ice Cream at Folsom's Confectionery.

Come and look at the display of Toys and Christmas Goods at the Racket Store.

You never saw Christmas Goods so well displayed in Coquille before.

Miss Bessie Hammond is spending the Holidays in Portland.

Only three more days to see that Christmas display at the Racket Store.

Miss Pearl Axtel came over from North Bend yesterday to visit friends.

Miss Beulah Price went to Bandon yesterday for a short visit with relatives.

Miss Olive Norris, of Fairview, has been visiting Coquille friends for a few days.

If you have not visited True's Racket Store you have not seen the best display of Toys and Christmas Goods in town.

Now is the time to pay up your back subscription and help your favorite candidate win a piano.

Miss Eva Schroeder is visiting her sister, Mrs. Levi Snyder, in Portland, during the Holidays.

The juryman was excused Saturday by Judge Coke, with instructions to show up again on January 4th.

I am in the market for Chatham Bark, Butchers' and Farmers' Hides, Wool, Pelts and Furs.

Geo. T. Moulton

"Patronize home people," says the merchant, and then some of him has his posters printed in Portland when he holds a "sale."

Only one marriage license were issued by the county clerk in the past week, the happy couple being Francis Ross and Marie L. Neal-eight.

A card received by J. S. Lawrence this morning from Mrs. Ben Lawrence said that it had been snowing for three days in Indiana, and it was 9 degrees below zero.

Frank Burkholder, who attended the annual meeting of the state organization of the Farmers' Union held at The Dalles, was honored by election to the position of vice president of that body.

The arrival of Santa Claus and his wife, last Saturday, when they came by invitation of Monte J. Wax, to establish their headquarters at the Fuhman stores, was a great occasion for young and old and drew a large crowd of eager and amused spectators.

Council Meeting

The city council met last night, paid a few bills and acted on some other matters.

An ordinance was passed changing the plan of the Beach street bridge in Elliott's addition, so as to provide for a foundation of piling instead of timbers resting on concrete blocks, as called for in the original specifications.

An appropriation of $300 was made for the Coos and Curry exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. A warrant on the general fund for $50 was ordered drawn in favor of Wm. Grimes, at the present time, and $25 per month hereafter until the total amount is drawn.

Simpson Case

The wide difference between the testimony given by the two Simpson girls and Mrs. Mary Forstner in the municipal court of Bandon and the circuit court here caused the grand jury to return indictments against all three, charging them with perjury. Mrs. Ruby Nosler, nee Simpson, and Mrs. Forstner were arraigned Friday and they pleaded not guilty. They are now under bond.

Lolita Simpson was placed in charge of her father, M. A. Simpson. Her case was turned over to the juvenile court and is being heard by Judge Hall in the circuit court room today.

The details of the unsavory mess are not for publication in the Herald.

The last stories told by the girls, if believed, would place Attorney Geo. T. Treadgold in a bad light, as they now charge him with trying to induce them to testify falsely against the Coaches. In fact, the fight seems to be between Treadgold and the Coaches, with the latter scoring recently by aid of the testimony of proved and self accused perjurers. In any case, it seems clear that the moral atmosphere of the city by the sea would not be the worse for a cleansing, and it is to be hoped that something of the kind will ensue.

Later—At the conclusion of the hearing in the case of Lolita Simpson, Judge Hall's findings were that she had been associating with persons of immoral character and that she was guilty of perjury, and that she remain under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.

Woman's Study Club

Last Monday afternoon, the regular meeting of the Woman's Study Club was held in the city library. The membership is increasing fast. On this occasion Mrs. Mary Springer, Mrs. Kate Watson and Miss Harriet Sweet were taken in. A paper on "The General History of the Aztecs" was read by Mrs. W. J. Longston. After this came one by Mrs. R. B. Rogers on "The Ruins of Mexico." The third paper was by Mrs. S. V. Epperson on "The Religion of the Aztecs." Considerable discussion followed each paper. The club will next have papers on "The Social and Home Life of the Aztecs," "The Aztec Cycle and Calendar," and "The Hieroglyphic Records of the Aztecs." The interesting lesson in Domestic Science, conducted by Mrs. H. W. Young, will be reviewed at the coming meeting, December 28, and there will also be a review of the preceding lessons. By the by—I presume you know that the class has sent to Washington, D. C. for stacks of farmers' bulletins, on meat, milk, fish, eggs, fruit, and goodness knows what all. It has leaked out that one of the members made a mistake in regard to the number of one of the bulletins, and that instead of "Beans, Peas, and Other Legumes as Food," she received "The Principal Insects Affecting the Tobacco Plant." Inasmuch as it is an understood thing that the bulletins are not to be wasted, she is wondering if it is her bounden duty to plant a patch of tobacco.

Large Tie Orders

(Tribune)

The railroad tie cutting industry has grown to considerable proportions in Coos and northern Curry during the past year. Tie camps have been established along the Coquille river until now there are several hundred men employed in this work. At Port Orford E. J. Loney has a crew of from 30 to 35 men at work in the woods, and several haulers expect to keep their teams going all winter. This force of men will be added to until there will probably be 50 at work in the near future. The teamsters only expect to make "feed" during the winter months, but the cutters average $2.50 to $3.50 per day. With the lumber market demoralized and work scarce in other lines, the tie cutting industry is a big help to this section of the coast.

The Torment of Cold.

I think heaven that I know what it is to be cold, to be cold from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, to be cold from the cuticle in to the heart, and from the heart to the soul. I think heaven for it, because, knowing this, I have a new revelation of the possibility of suffering, and I am able to find a paradise in a common wood fire.

Knowing this, I declare to you there is not a more pathetic sight in the world than a poor man who is thoroughly cold from week to week. It is the refinement of torture.

It does not gnaw like hunger, which presently becomes a sort of insanity and relieves itself. It is a dead, unblent, icy torment. I used to see men in the army whose silent endurance of cold brought more tears to my eyes than all the hunger and all the wounds.—Sidney Lanier.

A Candidate's Revenge.

French electors occasionally have some home truths thrown at them by candidates who fail to secure enough votes. At one general election M. Albert Normand, a chemist and druggist, who was a candidate for deputy from Montagne, received only six votes and issued an address thanking "the six electors who showed their confidence in me. They are the only voters in the constituency, and I beg to assure them of my esteem. As for the others, I hereby give them notice that my future attempts to obtain credit for my establishment will be relentlessly refused. During the last nine years they have robbed me of about 3,000 francs in bad debts, which I have taken no steps to recover. Yet when an opportunity is afforded of showing their appreciation of my leniency I meet with the basest ingratitude."

Carlyle and London's Noises.

No one has ever inveighed against the noises of London, with such picturesque emphasis as Thomas Carlyle. When Augustus Hare met him for the first time at a dinner given by Lady Marian Alford most of Carlyle's conversation ran upon the sufferings attached to a London residence. "That which the world torments me in most," he moaned, "is the awful confusion of noise. It is the devil's own infernal din all the blessed day long, confounding God's works and his creatures—a truly awful hell-like combination, and worst of all is a railway whistle, like the screech of 10,000 cats and every cat of them as big as a cathedral." Against this din Carlyle spent the last forty-seven years of his life in London without any compulsion to live there.

HOME MANNERS.

The old saying that people never know one another until they dwell under the same roof is a true one, for nothing so severely tests the disposition as constant intercourse and the wear and tear of everyday life. Hence it is more important to strive to be agreeable at home than to acquire manners that will make us brilliant and popular in our circle of associates, though the two are not at all incomparable.

The Sorrowful Christmas

(Ben H. Lampman, Gold Hill News)

Nicholas, saint of the children, drummed on the frosted pane; he heard the play of the snow sprites over the northern plain, he heard the hoofs of his reindeer crunch on the crusted snow—and he answered Mistress Nicholas, "Yea, it is time to go." Wild as a dove stamped the arctic wind rushed by, the lonely wolf of the barrens lifted a lonely cry. "Wife, will you see to my mittens, and darn me well the thumb?—I dread me this one Christmas more than all that shall come. Yea, but I dread this Christmas; I'll go with my old heart sad, for I carry the strangest playthings that ever a youngster had. The coat that the good bear gave me, brush it and trim it new—I must ride with Christmas as ever I used to do." The swirl of the sifted snow sand slashed at the frosted pane, and the saint of little children turned to his toys again.

Nicholas, patron of Christmas, has laden his pack with gifts; he hears the play of the snow sprites piling the northern drifts, he hears the clink of harness where his reindeer paw the snow—and he answers Mistress Nicholas, "Yea, it is time to go." Keen as a slashing sabre the arctic wind makes strife; he girds the belt of walrus and bids farewell to his wife. "Bind me this scarf the tighter—loosen the hood a mite—I ride to the south with Christmas, and I travel overnight. Yea, overlit with trinkets, and dolls and pretty toys, but I carry the broken sword blade—that is the Belgian boy's I carry the khaki tunic—stained—with the bayonet thrust; mayhap the lass in England will think that stain but rust. France, and the Rhine, and Russia. . . ."—He sets his loot to the sleigh, and the saint of little children drives with Curistmas Dav.

The Piano Contest

The last week of the Drane-Anderson piano contest is bringing out some great scores, and the leaders are doing their best to increase their chances of winning the pianos offered. One of the country candidates has been receiving much help from a whole-hearted farmer friend who has made his money work in connection with Drane's enamel ware offer.

The largest score last week was made by Miss Beulah Price, who took the set of spoons offered by Mr. Drane.

Following is Saturday night's count:
