He is thinking of leaving this city in the very near future but hasn't decided just where he will go. By his cheerful and accommodating ways he has made many friends here who will very much regret seeing him leave. His position at the pharmacy will be taken by Chas. Harlocker.

New Marble Works

James Hogan, recently from Alaska, is preparing to open up a marble works in Coquille. He has secured a location on Front street west of the laundry, where he will build a large shed to shelter his stock. He will handle all Eastern marble and granite, and a large stock will arrive in about ten days. The stock will be received in finished form, ready for lettering, and patrons can see exactly what they are buying. Designs to please the most fastidious, and prices to suit any pocket book. Any one intending to buy anything in this line would do well to wait until they see this stock, and place their orders at home. Responsible parties can make satisfactory arrangements for terms of payment.
