First Street Compromise

The First street muddle is again in a fair way for settlement. The council commenced advertising the property for sale, as the first step in the legal battle which seemed unavoidable. Yesterday a conference was held between the parties interested and it became apparent that no one was really banking for a lawsuit. At a three cornered power held at H. O. Anderson's store, W. H. Lyons represented the council, Contractor Ellingson himself, and the property owners were there with a committee composed of J. E. Paulson, Nick Johnson and Z. C. Strang. Concessions were made all around, and a new basis of settlement was worked out, briefly as follows: The property owners put up $3275, including $2315 which is conceded to be coming to them; the city comes to the center with $1275; Mr. Ellingson chips in a matter of $1750 toward the estimated cost of the work and finishes the street with a coating of concrete to average four inches in thickness, being thicker in the center and thinner at the edges. The council will meet this evening to consider this proposition, and it is to be hoped that permanent peace will be restored.

The Ladies of the M. E. Church South will have a window sale of home cooked food, at Lyons & Jones store next Saturday morning, April 3rd.

A movement is afoot to organize a base ball team here. Dr. V. L. Hamilton and Harry Oerding are agitating the movement. There are several recruits out to practice every now and then. There is good material right here in this place for a first class team. With a very little practice and if all the boys would turn out and try for the team, there is no doubt at all but that Coquille could furnish a pennant winner. It is recognized throughout the county as always having turned out the best home talent on the diamond in years past, and in recent years it has always shown its superiority over the other teams of the county.

Dr. Hamilton says that they are going to have a team and a good one. Anyone wishing to try out for the team can consult the doctor and he will be given a chance to qualify. Harry Oerding has already received a letter from Chehalis, Washington, asking if there is any show for a good pitcher and an outfielder to get on the team here this summer.

It is thought, though, that Coquille will be able to put out a winning team without any outside players. So now if the fans want a team they should boost and boost good and hard, and if they do, the chances are that they will witness some fast games between this place and the neighboring towns, this summer.

The new Odd Fellows' building in which the post office is located has been decorated with a handsome bronze plate set of the corner of the building at a convenient height to be seen and read. It bears the following legend in raised letters: I. O. O. F.; Coquille Lodge No. 53; Myron H. Hersey, George T. Moulton, James Watson, Trustees; P. M. Hall-Lewis, architect; Harry Clousner builder; 1914. All of these parties have reason to be proud to have their names permanently attached to the handsome and substantial building.

A. L. Pearson, who was mentioned last week as contemplating opening a business college here, has received so much encouragement that he commenced registering students yesterday. He has been given the use of the mayor's office in the city hall, and may be found there by those interested. Miss Madge Yoakam will act as his assistant.

Home-Made Drain Tile

A. O. Hooton, of Bidge, called at the Herald office yesterday, carrying on his arm as a bracelet a specimen of six-inch cement drain pipe, the product of a machine which he and Claude Nosler recently purchased. Mr. Hooton was quite enthusiastic about the saving that could be effected by the farmers by making their own pipe. He says that the machine cost $50; that a hundred-pound sack of cement makes 50 feet of six-inch tile, or 90 feet of four-inch, and that he and Mr. Nosler had made about 250 feet in a day and could make much more with experience. The expense would depend somewhat on the cost of obtaining the sand, but ordinarily the cost of the pipe, including the labor at $2.50 a day would not exceed 4 1/2 cents an inch for the six-inch size, as against 6 1/2 cents at the factory, to which must be added the expense of getting it home. Another feature is that the labor cost is not an actual expense, for the work can be done in rainy weather or at times when nothing else could be done. Mr. Hooton says that any land in this section needs draining, but that many farmers have been held back by the expense. In this he is corroborated by Agriculturist Smith, in whose office the piece of tile was left, where it can be seen by any one interested.
